O'HARE DEATH WARNING TOLD

Finns Fire on Red Planes Crossing Border

SOVIET DEMANDS RAISED; ENVOYS LEAVE MOSCOW

Say Further Parleys Would Be Useless.

BY DONALD DAY.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

HELSINGFORS, Finland, Nov. 13.—Finnish gunners today fired on Russian planes which crossed the border and flew above Finnish territory. They encountered heavy gunfire, but tonight it could not be confirmed whether any of the planes were brought down.

Similar flights by encroaching Russian planes—also met by Finnish gunfire—took place in the early days of soviet-Finnish negotiations which began in Moscow on Oct. 7, but this was the first such incident in three weeks.

[On Nov. 4 Finnish soldiers asserted that four Russian planes scouting on the Finnish side of the border had been shot down in the early weeks of the tension. Official sources admitted some planes had been shot down, but would not state the number.]

Walk Out of Negotiations.

Today's violation of the frontier took place shortly after the announcement that the Finnish delegation had walked out of the Moscow negotiations and would arrive home on Wednesday. It was disclosed that soviet Russia had enlarged its demands on Finland.

The attitude of the soviet government caused great surprise here, and it was believed that the more Russia asks the less she will get from Finland.

The newest soviet demands were for permission to erect fortifications on Stirsuden and other islands in the eastern part of the Gulf of Finland and concessions on three islands off Koivisto, at the mouth of Viipuri [Viborg] bay.

Interpreted as Weakness.

The Finns had offered their greatest resistance to Moscow's demand for a naval base on Hanko [Hango] Island at the mouth of the Gulf of Finland.

Finland's efforts to conciliate Moscow by conceding two-thirds of the original demands [not including those for concessions on Hanko, the Koivisto, and Stirsuden Islands] were interpreted by Russian Dictator Josef Stalin and Premier Vyacheslav Molotov as a sign of weakness on the part of the Finns. Then Moscow increased its demands.

The feeling of disappointment with which the Finns greeted the news of the recall of their delegation from Moscow was quickly changed as a result of pugnacious articles appearing in the soviet press.

Charge Finns Encourage War.

Moscow writers alleged that Finland was encouraging war against Russia by refusing to grant the Reds permission to fortify Hanko, which, they said, would prevent any enemy fleet from entering the gulf during the night to attack Leningrad.

Whether the negotiations would be resumed would depend on what the Finnish delegates reported when they returned home, and on "quite a lot of good will on both sides," Foreign Minister Eljas Erkko said. He said, however, that he "would not consider [today's events] a definite suspension" of the talks.

From Moscow's attitude it is felt here that the good will is lacking and altho the possibility of bolshevism using force is scouted, it still is admitted that Finland's situation has become more unpleasant.

Little nervousness was apparent in Helsingfors over the turn of events. The nation has been preparing for five weeks against a showdown with Russia and approximately one-tenth of the population has been mobilized for the defense services.

Expect Economic Pressure.

MOSCOW, Nov. 13 (AP).—A serious, silent Finnish delegation left Moscow for home tonight. The Finns refused to issue any statement.

In diplomatic quarters the belief was that the Finns would not return to Moscow, and speculation turned to what steps Russia might now take. The majority opinion appeared to be that the soviet would continue merely to mass troops on Finland's borders hoping the economic strain of continuous mobilization would bring the little country to terms in a few weeks.

U-BOATS TO SINK WITH NO NOTICE, NAZIS INDICATE

Avoid Armed Liners, World Is Warned.

BERLIN, Nov. 14, Tuesday (AP).—Berlin newspapers this morning published lists of British and French passenger ships and freighters said to have been armed against submarines.

The general comment was that a German submarine commander would be foolhardy to expose himself to destruction, and the implication was left that henceforth armed merchantmen would be subject to submarine attack without warning.

Listed among the vessels reported armed were the Queen Mary, Aquitania, Mauretania, Georgic, Empress of Russia, De Grasse, and other large liners. Twenty-nine British and five French ships were mentioned.

Held Warning to Travelers.

There was no official comment, but the impression in informed quarters was that Germany was warning the world's travelers and shippers that it would be hazardous to use the vessels listed.

[The Queen Mary is docked in New York harbor, where she has been inactive since the start of the war.]

Prominent display of the lists in the press led to an assumption that major sea activity is in the offing.

Field Marshal Wilhelm Goering's National Zeitung of Essen said armed merchantmen must be regarded as pirate ships.

Responsibility Put on British.

"It is a matter of indifference whether it is a 100 ton ship, with a crew of 10, or a vessel of 80,000 tons," the National Zeitung said. [The tonnage of the Queen Mary is 80,000.]

"If the passengers, including women and children, use these English pirate ships, and something happens to them, they should complain to the travel agency of Churchill & Co."

Winston Churchill is first lord of the British admiralty.

SINK TWO GERMAN SHIPS

LONDON, Nov. 13 (AP).—British warships sank two German merchantmen today, while the royal air force claimed a direct hit on a U-boat and antiaircraft drove off a German air attack on the Shetland islands.

The admiralty announced the German steamers, the Mecklenburg, 5,000 tons, and the Parana, 6,038 tons, were sent to the bottom at undisclosed locations to prevent their becoming menaces to navigation after their crews had abandoned them in a sinking condition. The crews were taken aboard the warships.

Earlier, a Reuter's [British news agency] dispatch from Reykjavik, Iceland, said the Parana had sent out an S O S and reported she was attacked by a British destroyer.

British Ship Sinks.

It was announced that the British merchant vessel Ponzano, 1,346 tons, sank off the southeast coast after an explosion. No lives were lost.

The admiralty stated that four German planes which attacked the Shetlands, 100 miles north of Scapa Flow, off the northern tip of Scotland and 600 miles from Germany, were driven off by antiaircraft fire.

"The bombs dropped did no damage," a communique said.

Windows of Houses Smashed.

However, later reports said that altho no ships were hit the blasts did hit land—the second time German bombs have fallen on British soil in the war—and smashed the windows of farmhouses.

[Altho the Shetland Islands are devoted to agriculture and fishing, the presence of British antiaircraft guns suggested the possibility secret naval bases for small craft may be located in the strategically located group.]

The first time German bombs fell on British soil during the war was in the raid on the naval base at Rosyth in the Firth of Forth, Scotland, on Oct. 16.

British planes also were reported to have engaged a German flying boat over the east coast. The raider's fate was not known, but an official account said one British plane raked the German craft with bullets

Kuhn Blushes When 'Kisses' Note Is Bared

BY WILLIAM FULTON.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

New York, Nov. 13.—Before a smiling jury of business men and a red faced defendant three "love and kisses" telegrams sent to a woman friend by Fritz Kuhn, leader of the German-American bund, were read into the record today at the trial of Kuhn, charged with stealing $5,641.

The messages were addressed to one Mrs. Florence Camp, whose expenses in moving her furniture about the country also allegedly were paid by Kuhn. The messages were offered by Assistant District Attorney Herman J. McCarthy to show what Kuhn did with bund money. The state charges that the bund leader plundered the organization treasury to meet his private and sometimes amorous expenses.

Counsel Concedes Messages.

Kuhn is the national leader of an organization espousing the German cause in America. His organization has been called comparable to the American branch of the communist party, which sponsors the cause of the Russian soviet, and the English Speaking union fostering British interests in this country.

Trial of the bund leader started last week. His defense has been that his supporters gave him carte blanche to use the bund's money as he saw fit. In keeping with this argument, Kuhn's counsel conceded he was the author of the three telegrams.

The first, dated Sept. 12, 1938, was sent to Mrs. Camp in Rodondo Beach, Cal., and read as follows: "Hope to have everything under control tonight. Leaving tomorrow. Great love and kisses.—Fritz."

More Love and Kisses.

The second telegram, dated Oct. 26, 1938, was addressed to Mrs. Camp at the Aberdeen hotel in Oklahoma City. The third was sent Nov. 15, 1938, to Mrs. Camp at a Cleveland address. "Love and kisses" were conveyed in both of these also.

As Prosecutor McCarthy read the messages to the jury with obvious relish, a red flush spread over the features of the grim-faced, burly defendant.

Before the trial session took a romantic turn, McCarthy introduced 79 checks, which are expected to play an important part in the state's case.

One check, for $567.76, was drawn by Kuhn on the bund's account to pay Mrs. Camp's moving costs from Los Angeles, Cal., to New York, the state contends. A second check, in the amount of $151.26, allegedly paid her moving costs from New York to Cleveland.

Testimony on the alleged nonpayment of legal fees was presented next as the state attempted to show, over the objection of defense counsel, that Kuhn had pocketed the bulk of an $11,000 fund raised for the defense of several arrested bund leaders.

POILU WITH A BEARD BEARDS LOVE'S WOES BOLDLY AS HENRY VIII.

PARIS, Nov. 13. — Beards in the manner of Henry VIII. are becoming the fashion in the French army.

In the world war beards were grown because the poilus [poilu means hairy] had no time to shave. In this war it is different: a beard gives a man with time on his hands a job of trimming it to the exact millimeter's length.

A bearded poilu was heard conversing with a friend:

"My girl objected to the beard—said it made me look like Henry VIII."

"Well, what are you going to do—shave?"

"No, I am sticking to Henry the Eighth's example. I have changed my girl."

DEALERS IN COAL TO MAKE BUYERS PAY SALES TAX

The three per cent Illinois sales tax will be added to the price the consumer pays for coal beginning Jan. 1, Benjamin H. Vanderveld, general counsel for the Coal Dealers' Protective committee, said last night.

"The dealers have been paying the sales tax themselves," said Vanderveld. "Now they have reluctantly reached the decision that it will be financially impossible for them to continue to shoulder the burden after the first of the year."

The dealers' committee has a membership of 1,000.

Seek Marker on Real Site of Fort Dearborn

Plans to bring the most historic spot in the city's stirring past into the daily consciousness of Chicagoans were submitted to Mayor Kelly yesterday when a delegation asked appointment of a memorial commission to mark properly the site of old Fort Dearborn.

With the approval of the mayor, it was decided that Ald. James B. Bowler [25th] would introduce a resolution drafted by the Fort Dearborn memorial committee at the next meeting of the city council.

The committee's first proposal is that the Michigan avenue bridge be named [not renamed, they point out] the "Fort Dearborn Bridge." The southern end of the bridge touches the edge of the site occupied by the fort more than a century ago at what is now the juncture of Michigan avenue and Wacker drive.

Plan to Mark Off Pavement.

It is also suggested that the outline of the original fort be marked in colored concrete set into the surrounding pavement.

The markings, similar to those at the site of the Bastille in Paris, would be imposed upon the pavement with as little inconvenience to traffic as possible.

The center of the fort would be marked by a reproduction of the American flag which floated above it Aug. 15, 1812, when the little garrison under command of Capt. John Whistler was massacred by Indians. The pole probably would be located on the first safety island south of the intersection.

Had 15 Stars and 15 Stripes.

The flag to fly over the site would bear the 15 stars and 15 stripes of 1812—the same flag that Francis Scott Key saw over Fort McHenry, and which inspired him to write the national anthem.

It is also suggested that small unnamed points in the vicinity of the fort site be named for members of the massacred garrison.

In the delegation which called on the mayor were E. N. Wentworth Jr., past national commander of the Military Order of the World War; Col. H. A. Musham, historian of Fort Dearborn, and Dr. Stanley W. Clark, Willard R. Matheny, Dr. Harold I. Meyer, and Col. Harold G. Spurling, members of the Society of 1812.

Stabbed Youth Claims He was O'Hare Driver

Los Angeles, Cal., Nov. 14, Tuesday [Special].—A new twist was given to the E. J. O'Hare murder case in Chicago early today with the stabbing of a man who describes himself as O'Hare's former chauffeur and bodyguard. He identified himself as Russell Stoddard.

Stoddard, 21 years old, and frail, and more of the jockey than the bodyguard type in physique, was slashed by an unidentified assailant on a downtown street. He was cut slightly three times on the arm and abdomen. He was given first aid for the wounds, then taken to the county jail where he fell into a fit. Later he was removed to a hospital.

The knife victim told several conflicting stories of his alleged connections with O'Hare. Lieut. Leroy Sanderson said he would be inclined to doubt them, except for one factor—a mysterious letter found in Stoddard's possession.

Letter Warns Stoddard.

This was written on printed stationery of a Cicero night club which is frequented by men identified with horse racing, and signed by the writer. It was mailed to Stoddard after O'Hare's murder. The letter stated in substance:

"Things are getting hot here [presumably in Chicago]. Keep quiet and lay low. Be on the lookout — and carry a gun."

Lieut. Sanderson declined to give out the name of the organization, the stationery of which was used, or the name of the writer. He said Stoddard did not elaborate on the message, except to admit, "I'm hot [wanted], but not for anything serious."

Stoddard told police he worked for O'Hare three days in November, 1938. Later he said he worked for him three months recently. Then he repeated his first story.

NOT KNOWN BY POLICE.

Chicago police this morning said they never heard of Stoddard before. They said that Henry Beckman had been O'Hare's driver for a long time prior to two years ago, and that a colored man named Strand had been his chauffeur since. This, they said, seemed to rule out Stoddard's employment.

Detectives were interested in the warning letter. If authentic, it might mean, one said, that various men connected with O'Hare might be marked for harm or even death.

Lieut. Thomas Kelly of the state's attorney's office said he would telephone Los Angeles authorities after they have had a further chance to examine Stoddard. The lieutenant said the letter should be investigated further. Chief of Detectives John L. Sullivan is to receive a full report from Los Angeles by night letter at 8 a. m.

Romeos Battle Parents: 1 Gets Girl, 1 Is Foiled

Love and parental locksmiths split even in dramas yesterday in Chicago and New York.

In Gotham a fair Juliet was locked in a hospital. A socially prominent Romeo prepared to climb to her balcony on a legal stepladder called a writ.

Here, the curtain was rung down on a romance in which a husband, denied his youthful bride by her parents, finally picked the lock of parental opposition by—of all things, picketing. He won his bride, the parent's blessing, and a promise of a job.

STORMS CASTLE WITH WRIT

New York, Nov. 13 [Special].—George Lowther III., a 20th century Romeo, known as the most eligible bachelor in New York, resorted to the courts instead of the sword today to free his Juliet, Eileen Herrick, from her parents.

His attorney, Eli Johnson, presented to Supreme Court Justice Isidor Wasservogel an affidavit by Lowther stating that Eileen has been imprisoned by her father, Walter Herrick.

The Herricks, as well as the Lowthers, are socially prominent. Eileen was one of last year's better known debutantes.

Justice Wasservogel issued a writ of habeas corpus ordering Herrick

HUNT WRITER OF NOTE BARING CAPONE'S RAGE

Story of Alcatraz Convicts Revealed.

Turn to the back page for photographs of a portion of the letter of warning sent to Edward J. O'Hare, slain race track operator, and of the envelope in which it was delivered.

State's Attorney Courtney last night made public the letter of warning thru which Edward J. O'Hare, the Al Capone syndicate's millionaire front man, learned that Capone was reported to have sworn "to have" O'Hare's life.

Al Capone.

This warning, which was revealed exclusively yesterday by THE CHICAGO TRIBUNE, is believed to have reached O'Hare in October, 1937. Thus for two years before his shotgun assassination last Wednesday O'Hare lived in the knowledge that two convicts released from Alcatraz prison said they had heard Capone rage against him.

Warning Passed On.

These ex-convicts gave their information to a friend of O'Hare, who in turn wrote it to another friend, one who was close to the doomed Capone front man. This second person passed on to O'Hare the part of the letter that contained the convicts' story.

In making the letter public, Courtney described it as one of the most amazing warnings ever turned up in a gangland assassination.

"Gangster killings almost invariably are followed by absolute silence," Courtney said. "No one will talk. There never is a scrap of evidence. There is no coöperation from the underworld; little from any one.

"Altho we don't know who wrote this warning, it stands as one of the most interesting clews ever to come into our hands in a case of this kind."

Seek Author of Letter.

Courtney said efforts are under way among O'Hare's many friends and associates to identify the writer. Records are being searched in an effort to identify the two Alcatraz convicts who heard Capone voice the threats.

The state's attorney made public the letter soon after summoning Municipal Judge Eugene J. Holland for questioning at noon today. Judge Holland has been disclosed as an associate of O'Hare in a south side real estate enterprise. He will be asked about his deals with O'Hare, who was president of Sportsman's park race track.

Courtney also announced he will call John Patton, "boy mayor" of Burnham and another O'Hare associate, for questioning. Patton, who once was Capone's vice overlord in Burnham, Cicero, and Stickney, was the largest stockholder in Sportsman's Park.

Note Tells of Disputes.

The portion of the warning letter which electrified investigators read as follows [punctuation and spelling unchanged]:

"Here is another matter, of importance, I would like for you to take care of at once just recently a couple of fellows were returned to this place from Alcatraz, these fellows are friends of mine, they know my friendship, and connection, with Ohare, and for that reason, they told me of remarks and threats, that Capone, is making, regarding Ohare, seems that Mr. Dago, is disappointed because Ohare, wont stand to be pushed around by his Majesty.

"You know Ohare, and him had many arguments, and disputes, over them Tracks, I think the sore-spot, is something in connection, with Sportsmans Park, but we are not interested in his arguments, our interest right now, is for you to immediately contact Ohare, and tell him the Big-Dago, swears, he is going to have Ohare, or will see that some of his friends, score for Eddie. [In the underworld "scoring" for some one means killing him.]

"Now tell Eddie, this information, comes from responsible people, if you cant contact Eddie, perhaps, Onell can reach him.

"If and when you, have talked to Ohare, I would like for you to advise me, that you given him my message.

"Sincerely Your Friend
"GEORGE."

The state's attorney's office moved at once to reach Daniel O'Neil, long time friend and business associate of of O'Hare, on the possibility he might be the "Oneil" referred to in the letter. This man was one time manager of the Madison [Ill.] Kennel club dog track and was indicted with O'Hare on charges of violating the gambling laws. O'Neil now is in St. Louis, Mo.

Letter Found in Hideout.

The letter was found Sunday in a secret hideout O'Hare maintained in an apartment building he owned at 1220 Sherwin avenue. It was discovered by investigators from the office of Coroner Frank J. Walsh, who took a mass of documents and papers from the expensively furnished and double locked flat.

The letter had been put into an envelope and slipped into the pages of an old law book. The envelope, which had been mailed to O'Hare from St. Louis on Oct. 6, 1937, helped establish the time the intended victim received his warning.

Whether the letter had been mailed in the envelope in which it was found could not be verified. The argument that it had was based on the fact that O'Hare had many associations in St. Louis. It is possible, investigators reasoned, that the man to whom the letter was written might live in St. Louis or might have followed the letter's suggestion and passed it on to "Oneil," who in turn mailed it to O'Hare.

Bears Truck Firm Address.

The envelope bore the return address of the Dyer, O'Hare & Hanley company, a drayage and trucking concern in which the slain man once was a partner.

On the contrary, the typewritten sheet might have been delivered by hand, in which event O'Hare might have thrust it into an envelope he had readily available—presumably one that had arrived the same day or about the same time as the warning.

Investigators considered it significant that O'Hare purchased three insurance annuities totaling $96,000 a month after the date postmarked on the envelope.

It was obvious from the part immediately preceding the warning that the original recipient was a promoter of some sort—one who would be receptive to a proposal from "George" that he back a lottery scheme.

Sales Promotion in Letter.

This sales promotion portion of the communication follows:

"Now, as to what your PRIZES will be, what you will sell your tickets for, this and many other questions, and problems, must be decided, by you and who-ever joins you in this proposition, however, as a example say you were going to sell your tickets for a dime, and that you were going offer a $25.00, prize, or to make it sound more attractive, odds of 250-to-1, that means if you have sold 500 tickets, you have just about made expences, when you have paid the $25.00, prize, along with commission for sales, printing, and etc.

"However in time, I believe you would be selling thousands, of tickets, if this thing would go-over, in time you would be selling tickets, in factorys, stores, Beauty-Parlors, magazine-counters, elevator-starters, cigar-stores, and numerous other places of this kind.

Ticket Scheme Told.

"Your tickets will be in duplicate, one for the player to hold, and one to be picked up, by your agents, along with the dime, of course he will have filled in his numbers.

"Give this real consideration, there may be a real opportunity to put something like this over, of course this is different and no doubt the skeptics, will discount it as being impractical, they are always ready to show you the folly, of any that is new or different, dont let any one discourage you, go into this thoroughly, before you make a decision, either, for or against the proposition.

"When you have received this I would like for you to immediately, drop me a line an say you have heard from George, and will consider his proposition, any thing you may say regarding George, I will under stand it is something in connection, with this message."

Courtney said that this part of the letter contains a number of clews that may be helpful in locating the writer. In addition to Judge Holland and Patton the prosecutor today expects to question Antoinette [Toni] Cavaretta, who for several years was O'Hare's confidential secretary.

Police meanwhile hoped to gain additional information from a witness—their first—to the actual assassination.

Private Phone Book Found.

Other developments of the day:

1. Lieut. Thomas Kelly of the state's attorney's police searched O'Hare's room in the Illinois Athletic club and found a private phone book that listed numbers thruout the nation. Among them was the home phone number of former Gov. James M. Curley of Massachusetts.

2. Assistant State's Attorney Robert Wright examined O'Hare's safety deposit vault in the Continental Illinois National bank. More than two dozen property deeds, $96,000 in insurance policies, stock in three dog racing tracks and a horse track, and a mass of contracts and options were found.

3. Wright was shown O'Hare's will by the Northern Trust company. Except for a $600 annuity for his sister, who lives in Maywood, O'Hare's estate is left in equal parts to his three children, E. J. Jr., a naval officer; Patricia, 19 years old, and Marilyn, 15.

4. Judge Holland made an explanation to Chief Justice John J. Sonsteby of the Municipal court, who had announced he would order an investigation of the Holland-O'Hare partnership.

Sonsteby Studies Action.

Judge Sonsteby had declared that such an association as Judge Holland's with O'Hare reflected upon the Municipal court and that there should be a thoro investigation. After hearing Holland yesterday Judge Sonsteby said he will announce what course he will take in a day or two.

A first hand account of O'Hare's assassination was given by Peter Szent, 28 years old, a laborer employed by the Garden City Plating and Manufacturing company. At the time of the shooting last Wednesday he was painting window sills at the company building at 1430 South Talman avenue, and had a clear view of Ogden avenue.

He said his attention was attracted by a shot and he looked southwest, down Ogden avenue. He said he saw two coupes of the same make, traveling side by side at about 45 miles an hour. The first shot was fired just before the machines crossed Talman avenue, moving northeastward, Szent said.

Two in Death Car.

O'Hare's car was in the east bound lane and the killers' car was straddling the white line in the middle of the street. Two men were in this car, said Szent. He said they wore dark hats and coats. Szent said a shotgun projected about eight inches out of their car, which bore Illinois license plates.

The witness said the second shot was fired when the cars were about 75 feet northeast of Talman avenue. O'Hare's car bounded over the curb, sidewiped an electric light pole, shattering the white globe atop it, careened down the street car tracks, and crashed against a trolley pole at Rockwell street.

Without increasing its speed, the killers' auto moved on to Western avenue, and stopped for a red light.

Frightened, Says Witness.

Questioned by Lieut. Kyran Phelan at the detective bureau, where he viewed pictures of hoodlums, Szent said he had been reluctant to come forward earlier because he was frightened.

Assistant State's Attorney Wright said that the three insurance policies in the bank safety box had been taken out on the same day—Nov. 12, 1937. Agents of the inheritance tax division of the state treasurer's office authorized opening the box.

The three policies, issued by the Continental Assurance company, are single payment annuities. Two for $30,000 each were taken out for Patricia and Marilyn, the daughters, and one for $36,000 for O'Hare himself.

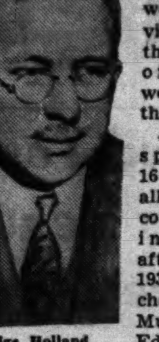
The stock shares were for the National Jockey club, operator of Sportsman's Park race track here; the Bristol County Kennel club, near Taunton, Mass.; the Miami Beach [Fla.] Kennel club, and the Jacksonville [Fla.] Kennel club.

Among the deeds was a quitclaim to a property that had been owned jointly by O'Hare and Mrs. Eugene J. Holland, wife of the judge. This was understood to have been the Rhodes theater property at 79th street and Rhodes avenue.

Records of Two Ex-Associates of O'Hare Called by Courtney

State's Attorney Thomas J. Courtney today will question two business associates of the slain Edward J. O'Hare, front man for Capone interests. Municipal Judge Eugene J. Holland has stated he was a partner with O'Hare in a real estate enterprise. Johnny Patton, former overlord of vice in Burnham for Capone, was O'Hare's partner in Sportsman's Park, a Chicago half mile race track.

Records show that Municipal Judge Holland dismissed 2,331 gambling cases during his first four months in the Racket court. There were only 13 convictions during this period, and 6 of these later were vacated by the judge.



Judge Holland.

Judge Holland spent about 16 months in all on the Racket court bench, being transferred after October, 1938, following charges made by Municipal Judge Edward B. Casey that in 11 of those 16 months Holland had dismissed 7,700 of the 7,700 gambling cases brought before him.

Judge Holland is 44 years old. He was born in Milwaukee, Wis., and got on the public pay roll in 1911 as a clerk in the Chicago sanitary district.

Sanitary District Cashier.

Later he was custodian of the House of Representatives office building in Washington, D. C., and in 1915 was cashier of the sanitary district. From 1923 to 1927 Holland was assistant corporation counsel, returning to the sanitary district as assistant attorney from 1927 thru 1931.

Elected to the Municipal bench in 1932, he reached the Racket court—one of the branches—in September, 1935. In that month and in October, November, and December the dismissals averaged well over 500 a month.

In reply to Judge Casey's charges, Judge Holland defended his handling of the cases. He said:

"It is true that almost all gambling cases brought before me were discharged for lack of evidence as required by Illinois law. This has been the history of gambling prosecutions for years before I was in the Racket court."

Fines Range from $1 to $50.

In seven of the convictions Judge Holland imposed fines of $100 and costs upon the defendants. Six of these were vacated. Others which Judge Holland allowed to stand ranged from $1 and costs to $50 and costs.

Judge Holland explained his association with O'Hare by saying in a statement to THE TRIBUNE Sunday that it was strictly a business proposition and that he never had heard that O'Hare was connected with Capone. The slain front man did not drink, smoke, or use profane language, Judge Holland added by way of emphasis.

"I have never heard of him being associated with hoodlums or racketeers," said the judge. "In fact, he was outspoken in his condemnation of them. If the so-called rumors of his association with the gangsters is correct it will be a surprise and a shock to me and to many others."

Johnny Patton, perennial "boy mayor" of Burnham, became a saloonkeeper at 14 and a village boss at 22. Today he is a principal stockholder in and manager for Sportsman's Park race track. He still is mayor of Burnham, a village sticking on the end of Avenue O, south of the city limits. He still is called the "boy mayor," altho he is past 50.

Johnny Patton.

Old records link his name with such notorious figures as Al Capone, Mike [De Pike] Heitler, Johnny Torrio, and others; but while many of them fell, thru bullets or indictments, Patton escaped unscathed.

Patton barged into Burnham in 1907 and opened a saloon. Altho only 22 then, he was a veteran in the business. He became village head the same year.

Throw Saloons Open.

Patton observed that Burnham was near the big steel mill areas and also close to Chicago, where saloons closed at 1 a. m. As mayor and a saloonkeeper, he threw the town's saloons open 24 hours a day.

The 'round the clock business attracted red light enterprises. At one time Burnham had more disorderly houses and prostitutes per capita than any comparable spot in the world. Hoodlums and gamblers quickly flocked to Burnham. Gambling halls flourished.

Burnham's better element and civic organizations eventually protested, with the result that county police began hitting the town at regular intervals. In 1918 hoodlums fired at Patton but missed. He blamed freight car thieves for the attack, but not long afterward federal agents arrested him as an alleged member of the freight car thieves' gang. The case was dropped.

Protégé of Torrio.

His good friend, Torrio, established Patton high in gang councils. Torrio's usurper, Capone, continued him there.

In 1925 police raided the gang's hideout at 2146 Michigan avenue and seized Patton, Frank Nitti, Joseph Fusco, Bob McCullough, Joseph Piza, and Anthony Arrissa, each carrying from $500 to $15,000. Patton allegedly offered one raider $5,000 not to seize the gang's books, but the raider could not be bribed. The books revealed the syndicate's vast operations.

When the case came up in federal court the accused gangsters were freed and the books were returned. Not long afterward Patton was arrested again, on charges of dry law violations and extortion conspiracy, but he was freed again. In 1927 he was nabbed carrying 14 cases of whisky. Once more he was freed.

DR. SMITH GETS 8 TO 24 YEARS IN L. S. U. SCANDALS

Enters Plea of Guilty; 23 Other Charges Dropped.

Baton Rouge, La., Nov. 13 (AP).—Dr. James Monroe Smith today received an added 8 to 24 years in prison sentences in his effort to clear from the books a mass of criminal charges arising from his stewardship as president of Louisiana State university.

Dr. Smith.

Smith pleaded guilty to a charge of obtaining money under false pretenses and to three charges of forgery, involving misuse of university funds while he guided it for nine years thru a 13 million dollar expansion program inspired by the late Huey P. Long. In return for this guilty plea the remaining 23 charges against him here were dropped. He already was under three concurrent federal sentences of 30 months each.

Still Faces Charges.

Of the more than two score accusations lodged against him since he suddenly resigned and fled to Canada last June, less than a dozen remained outstanding tonight. These are in the parish court at New Orleans and deal mainly with the same offenses covered by today's pleas, leading counsel to express hope they might be dropped.

In sentencing Smith today, District Judge Charles A. Holcombe expressed pity for the educator, but also denounced his acts and expressed hope his fate would serve as a warning to others in places of trust.

Mixup in Sentence.

At the time of the sentencing, it was understood Judge Holcombe had set the punishment at 5 to 15 years, but later he corrected this to 8 to 24 years, to the surprise of counsel and newspaper men.

The offenses for which Smith is under sentence were connected mainly with the loss of $500,000 in university funds in disastrous private speculation in the wheat market and a double sale of furnishings in a building purchased by the school.

State charges against Smith's wife, their son-in-law, Owen Willer Ware, and their nephew, J. Emory Adams, were dropped today by District Attorney Dewey Sanchez. They were accused of aiding Smith's escape.

CAPONE STATUS KEPT MYSTERY BY GOVERNMENT

Washington, D. C., Nov. 13 [Special].—Al Capone's whereabouts remained a mystery today so far as any official announcement by the department of justice was concerned. From the attitude of authorities it was believed that the former Chicago gang chief has been taken from the Terminal Island prison near Los Angeles to an unnamed place of detention.

Capone was variously reported to be in a prison near Washington, at Johns Hopkins hospital in Baltimore, or in Boston.

Capone's release from custody is scheduled for Sunday, Nov. 19, when his one year jail sentence will be completed. This sentence followed completion of a 10 year prison term for violation of income tax laws.

In Los Angeles the office of the collector of internal revenue announced that a demand for any assets Capone held at Terminal Island had been filed last week upon Supt. Edwin J. Lloyd. Lloyd said Capone had left no money with him.

The search for assets was based on a civil suit now pending in Chicago in which the government seeks to collect $350,000 due in income taxes.

CLAIM M'GARRY CAN'T BE INDICTED FOR JUDICIAL ACT

Counsel for Municipal Judge Eugene L. McGarry, seeking dismissal of two indictments in connection with an alleged bail bond scandal, argued yesterday before Judge Joseph A. Graber in Criminal court that the judge could not be brought to trial for judicial acts in which judicial discretion was exercised.

Attorneys Benedict J. Short and W. W. Smith asserted that impeachment and trial by the state legislature are the only recourses possible in cases of alleged judicial misconduct. Assistant State's Attorneys William Crawford and Richard Austin replied that the state constitution does not exempt judges from criminal prosecution.

Judge McGarry is charged in one indictment with malfeasance. He and Sam Brin, a saloonkeeper, recently seized on a fugitive warrant in Cincinnati, are accused in the other indictment of conspiracy to issue false bonds. Harold Gendon, owner of a vacant lot in Bellwood which was approved as surety by Judge McGarry 56 times, is a co-defendant in the conspiracy case. Judge Graber will rule Nov. 21.

RUSSELL FACES TRIAL TODAY IN KIDNAP KILLING

Jack Russell, alias Lawrence Dressler, Oklahoma desperado, will go to trial this afternoon before Judge Charles E. Woodward and a jury in federal District court on a charge of kidnaping and murdering Billy Scott Hamilton, Kansas milling salesman. A venire of 68 women and 67 men was summoned yesterday.

Hamilton was kidnaped in Kansas and slain near Ringwood, in McHenry county, last July. Assistant United States District Attorneys A. Bradley Eben and Martin Ward will demand the deaht penalty under the Lindbergh kidnaping law.

Don D. Rogers, attorney for Russell, said his client would testify in his own defense. Russell has pleaded not guilty, contending the shooting was accidental.

Wm. M'Fetridge Appointed IERC Member by Horner

William L. McFetridge, vice president of the Illinois Federation of Labor, vice president of the Building Service Employés International union, and president of the Chicago school janitors' union, was appointed a member of the Illinois Emergency Relief commission yesterday by Gov. Horner. He replaces L. C. Goudie of Chicago, who resigned.

PICK JURY OF 10 MEN AND 2 WOMEN TO TRY DR. GORE AS SLAYER

Benton, Ill., Nov. 13 [Special].—Two women and ten men will decide the fate of Dr. George W. Gore, who went on trial here today on a charge of murder for the slaying last Sept. 25 of Carl Choisser, Benton lawyer and newspaper publisher.

Dr. Gore.

Difficulty was encountered in getting the jury from a panel of 58 called this morning, because Dr. Gore had been the family physician of so many persons in Franklin county. One woman was excused because, she said, Dr. Gore was the attending physician at her birth.

Fifty-five persons had been examined by the state and defense and only eight jurors were found acceptable. Three women remained to be questioned. Two of these finally were accepted and two men who had been dismissed earlier in the day were recalled to complete the jury.

State's Attorney Rea Jones qualified the jurors for the death penalty, while Delos Duty, defense counsel, asked them if they had any scruples against emotional insanity as a defense.

Choisser was a nephew of Dr. Gore's first wife and had been retained to defend Dr. Gore's son, George Jr., who then was accused of the slaying of his step-mother, Nancy Gore.

BOWEN TESTIFIES ON 53 MANTENO TYPHOID DEATHS

Gives His Explanation to Special Grand Jury.

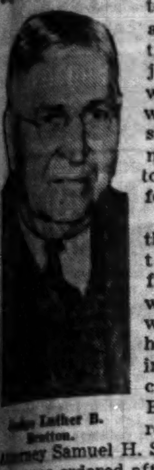
BY JAMES DOHERTY.

A. L. Bowen, director of the state department of public welfare, undertook to explain to a Kankakee county special grand jury yesterday why the drinking water at Manteno state hospital was not chlorinated to prevent typhoid fever.



Judge Luther B. Bratton.

Bowen and three members of the legislature friendly to him were the first witnesses to be heard by the jury impaneled by Circuit Judge Luther B. Bratton at the request of State's Attorney Samuel H. Shapiro. The inquiry was ordered after the 53d death in the typhoid epidemic at the hospital. The legislators who appeared are William J. Lawler [R., Springfield], William Vicars [D., Pontiac], and Ray A. Dillinger [R., Decatur].

Will Hear Defense First.

The prosecutor, who had announced he intended to ask indictments against Bowen, Dr. Ralph T. Hinton, managing officer of the institution, and possibly of Dr. A. C. Baxter, director of the state department of health, said he was acting in a spirit of fairness in giving the officials an opportunity to speak in their own defense before he introduces hostile witnesses to the jury. Doctors Hinton and Baxter are to be permitted to address the jury today.

The three legislators, members of a committee that visited the Manteno institution last March and again in May, volunteered to say a good word for Bowen, Hinton, Baxter, and the state administratior of insane asylums generally. They brought with them William Lenham, secretary of their committee, who is a representative of the barbers' union.

Bowen was in the grand jury room two and one-half hours. Asked how he got along with the 17 men and 6 women of the jury, he said, "All right, I think."

Takes Blame for Department.

It was understood he told them substantially what he had told newspaper men in an interview after the outbreak of the fever epidemic. At that time he accepted the responsibility for the failure of his department to heed warnings of the health department.

During the morning Prosecutor Shapiro gave the jury the documents containing the warnings. They showed that for eight years the health department had been advising Bowen's department to chlorinate the drinking water at Manteno to avoid a typhoid epidemic. Bowen's explanation has been that he "just didn't do it." He was concerned with avoiding fire hazards, he said, and never thought of the possibility typhoid would strike 500 persons, employés as well as the insane under his care.

The legislators were asked if they knew the drinking water was contaminated when they visited the state institutions last spring. They replied that they did not, and no one told them about it. Lenham added that he was at the institution in August and drank water from the polluted wells, but did not become sick.

Asked About Patronage.

The three assemblymen witnesses were reported to have told Prosecutor Shapiro and the jurors they have not been favored with jobs from Bowen's department. They said they were treated the same as all other members in the distribution of patronage plums.

Dr. Hinton, who was suspended from duty 10 days ago by order of Gov. Horner, is slated to be today's first witness. He made public statements to the effect that he had not anticipated typhoid striking at the institution, over which he had presided for eight years.

Clarence W. Klassen, chief sanitary engineer for the state, who made water tests periodically at Manteno for several years, is to be another witness today. His testimony will be supported by that of Eugene S. Clark, bacteriologist, who analyzed the water samples taken by Klassen's men, and frequently reported finding pollution. It was Klassen who, last Aug. 19, advised Bowen that the long feared epidemic had arrived.

DETECTIVE TELLS OF BEDROOM RAID IN PANTAGES SUIT

Los Angeles, Cal., Nov. 13 (AP).—George Kliman, a private detective, testifying today in the contested divorce suit of Rodney Pantages, wealthy theater man, said that in a midnight raid he broke down a bedroom door in the Pantages home to discover Mrs. Beatrice Veryl Pantages in bed and Pete Bedwell, a bartender, hurriedly donning his clothing. Kliman said he was accompanied by Pantages and another investigator. Married Feb. 24, 1931, the couple parted last May 1. Mrs. Pantages in a countersuit charges her husband with infidelity. She also has filed two suits totaling $750,000 for alienation of affections against her mother-in-law, Mrs. Lois Pantages, and 11 other relatives and friends of the husband.

PICK JURY TO TRY DEMOCRAT CHIEF IN PENNSYLVANIA

Harrisburg, Pa., Nov. 13 (AP).—A predominantly Republican jury was drawn today for the blackmail-conspiracy trial of David L. Lawrence, chairman of the Democratic party in Pennsylvania and former secretary of tthe commonwealth.

Attorneys agreed upon eight Republicans, three Democrats, and one nonpartisan citizen. The jury will hear testimony at the third in a series of trials that grew out of last year's campaign charges and a special grand jury investigation.

A Republican district attorney, Carl B. Shelley, will call the first of 33 commonwealth witnesses tomorrow. Shelley charges that Lawrence blackmailed Spurgeon Bowser, former president of the Pioneer Materials company, in the amount of $5,000 in exchange for state gravel contracts.

ROMEO GETS WRIT BUT TOO LATE TO FREE HIS JULIET

to produce Miss Herrick in court at 2:30 p. m. Wednesday for hearing.

But while Lowther was going to court Eileen's parents hustled her from her home, put her in an automobile, and hurried her to a hospital, which may result in a postponement of the hearing.

Her parents say she is being kept away from her ardent suitor because she is ill and highly nervous.

The dash to the hospital came after Lowther had raced up to the Herrick home and hammered on the door.

Tells Detectives of Plans.

The door didn't open. So within earshot of three detectives who were there to prevent him from trying to break in he announced his plan.

"I'm going to be back in a few hours with a writ forcing them to let me see her," he said. "She's being unlawfully detained."

Lowther previously had promised to take Eileen from her home by a rope ladder.

Earlier today Mrs. Herrick said Eileen might be 20 in years—and therefore allowed to select her boy friend—but that she is 17 mentally and emotionally.

FLIES OFF WITH BRIDE

Lorraine Landon Bowker, 16 years old, has changed her mind again. She loves Fred Bowker, her 21 year old red headed husband. Yesterday they were on their second honeymoon.

How love proved stronger than parental disapproval was told yesterday in Judge Cornelius J. Harrington's court. Attorney Harry X. Cole, representing Lorraine's father, Arthur Landon, executive of a cartage company, asked dismissal of a suit to annul the marriage.

Lorraine departed from her grandparents' home at 700 South Lombard avenue, Oak Park, on Saturday night and rejoined Fred. Cole read a note she left.

Can't Bear Their Heartbreak.

"My dearest mummy and daddy," it read. "I'm going away with Fred because I love him so very much and I cannot stay to see the heartbreak in your eyes when I try to explain my feelings. Please don't worry about me, if possible. I'll write to you very soon. LORRAINE."

Cole and Attorney Charles Barnett, counsel for Bowker, said the Landons are now reconciled to their daughter's marriage and will give Bowker a job when the couple return. Judge Harrington dismissed the suit.

Picketed Bride's Home.

Bowker, an inventor living at 216 South Harvey avenue, Oak Park, eloped with Lorraine to Dickson, Ky., on July 15. The girl was taken from him by her parents on July 28.

Bowker picketed his bride's home, asserting she really loved him but was being held against her wishes.

Their romance received a setback last Oct. 5 when Lorraine came to court and said she wanted to have nothing to do with her husband.

FURRIER AND WIFE ROBBED OF $4,000 CASH AND JEWELS

Samuel Eichner, a loop furrier, and his wife, Rose, were robbed of a fur coat and jewelry valued at more than $4,000 by a gunman early today.

They had been to the opera and were about to park their car in the garage at the rear of their home at 6127 North Mozart street, when the robber stepped up to them. He forced the Eichners to drive to Peterson road and Mozart street.

During the ride he took Mrs. Eichner's coat, valued at $1,802, and three rings and a wrist watch valued at $2,275. From Eichner he got $37. He escaped in a car driven by a confederate who had been following. Eichner has a place of business at 77 East Washington street.

ORDERS HEARING ON STATE SLUSH FUND CHARGES

Civil Service Board Acts Tomorrow.

A bulletin issued to its members by the Civil Service Protective association yesterday disclosed that the state civil service commission has ordered a formal hearing and inquiry into the charges of the organization that state employés are being compelled to contribute 2 per cent of their salaries to the Illinoisans, a Democratic campaign fund raising unit.

There was no announcement of the commission's order at Springfield, but the bulletin said that the merit board had notified the protective association of a hearing in the Centennial building at the state capital at 9:30 a. m. tomorrow.

Accused Officials Called.

It was learned in addition that officers of the C. S. P. A. have been subpenaed for the hearing, and it was reported that state employés and officials accused by the association of violating the statutes also have been summoned.

Clayton F. Devine, president of the association, said that he and the organization's counsel, Attorney Michael F. Ryan, will go to Springfield tonight prepared to take part in the proceedings. But he said he was not at liberty, with the matter coming to a hearing, to discuss the evidence already presented to the civil service commission.

Emery W. Lancaster of Quincy is president of the merit board. The second Democratic member is Ernest Hoover of Taylorville, former chairman of the Democratic state central committee. The Republican minority member is Brig. Gen. John V. Clinnin of Chicago.

According to the bulletin, which was signed by President Devine, the commission will investigate charges that three sections of the state civil service act have been violated in the solicitation of dues to the Illinoisans.

Complaints Prompt Inquiry.

"This investigation," it read, "is based on complaints made by the Civil Service Protective association of solicitations, orally and by letter, and the collection of assessments, subscriptions and contributions from members of the classified service for political purposes, and the soliciting and receiving of contributions for political purposes in rooms and buildings occupied for the discharge of official duties of the state of Illinois."

Separate mention was given the fact that officials permitting this sort of activity in premises under their control may be found guilty of violating the law.

MARJORIE WINS DIVORCE; CLAIMS BLACKENED EYES

Reno, Nev., Nov. 13 [Special].—Marjorie June Van Conover, who once charged that her husband, Richard Van Conover, had blacked her eyes successively in cities all over the globe, obtained a divorce from him here today. She charged extreme cruelty.

Marjorie June Van Conover.

Van Conover, aviator, oil promoter, and sometime theater man, was married to Marjorie on Dec. 17, 1934, in Dallas, Tex. Marjorie's home was Los Angeles, Cal.

In a separation suit filed in New York City Supreme court in August, and settled out of court last month, she charged that Van Conover struck her in Pittsburgh, Washington, Great Neck, N. Y., Tokio and also on the high seas during a cruise to Shanghai in 1937. Van Conover now lives in New York.

SNOW CRUISER READY TO LOAD ON BYRD SHIP

Antarctic Expedition May Get Under Way Today.

Boston, Mass., Nov. 13 [Special].—Admiral Richard E. Byrd's third expedition to the Antarctic will get under way at noon tomorrow providing the 37 ton snow cruiser built in Chicago and driven here can be loaded aboard the supply ship North Star in time.

The cruiser was driven to the army base dock this morning for loading aboard the North Star, but it was found that it was ten feet too long to fit on the forward well deck. Workmen started at once with acetylene torches to cut 10 feet from the rear of the cruiser. The removed section will be welded back in place when the cruiser is unloaded at Little America.

Make It Fast to Top of Deck.

An effort to drive the cruiser aboard the North Star will be made tomorrow morning when the tide brings the forward deck of the ice cutting barkentine level with the dock. When the cruiser is made fast atop the deck hatches Lieutenant Commander Isak Lystad will give the order to cast off and the North Star will be taken into the harbor for a check of the compass before setting out for Philadelphia, the first stop on the 15,000 mile journey.

After loading two naval airplanes in Philadelphia, the North Star, regularly assigned to the Alaskan supply service, will head for New Zealand and Little America by way of the Panama canal.

Admiral Byrd will remain in Boston until next week when his South Polar flagship, Bear of Oakland, in which a new 600-horsepower Diesel engine has been installed, will sail. Forty-five members of the expedition's crew of 62 officers and men will leave aboard the North Star tomorrow; the remainder will be aboard the Bear of Oakland. Admiral Byrd will fly to Panama to board the North Star and take active command of the expedition.

Financed by Congress.

Byrd's expedition is financed with a $334,000 appropriation by congress and is sponsored by the interior department. One purpose of the expedition is to establish valid United States claims to 675,000 square miles of Antartica.

Scientists who accompanied Byrd on his 1928-'30 and 1934-'35 expeditions have found evidence of vast mineral and oil deposits in the south polar region and the government desires to claim the vast land as a possible future source of supply.

The North Star will leave supplies and equipment at Byrd's west base, 2,000 miles south of New Zealand. Then the ship will go 3,000 miles northeast to Valparaiso, Chile, to refuel and then south 1,500 miles to establish an east base. After establishing the east base the North Star will return to her usual duties of breaking ice and carrying food and supplies to the Indians and Eskimos in Alaska.

Hopes for Comfortable Stay.

Admiral Byrd and his crew will devote two years to the land-claiming expedition. Vast surveys will be made with airplanes and with the huge snow cruiser which has 10-foot wheels to travel over the polar ice cap at speeds up to 20 miles an hour.

Relying on experience gained during his two previous expeditions, Admiral Byrd is equipped this time for a more comfortable stay in Little America. On his first trip he flew from his base camp to the south pole, arriving there Nov. 29, 1929. He returned to the United States in 1930.

On the second trip Admiral Byrd nearly lost his life during his lone stay at an advanced camp for several months. He went to the camp to make scientific observations, became ill from carbon monoxide gas from his heating stove and was nearly dead when rescuers reached him. It was two months before he could be moved. The second expedition returned to the United States in 1935.

Frederick Dustin, a member of the engineer's force aboard the North Star, leaped into the chilly waters of Boston harbor today to save a dog from drowning. The dog was born in Antarctica during Byrd's last polar trip.

Warn Passengers to Stay Off Armed Liners.

and a part of one wing of the German plane fell off just before it disappeared in a cloudbank a few hundred feet above the sea.

The attack on the German submarine was reported by the air ministry, which said a royal air force plane attacked the U-boat yesterday by dropping a salvo of bombs, one of which "appeared to the pilot to make a direct hit."

Merchantman Cut in Two.

Boston, Mass., Nov. 13 (AP).—The Furness Withy liner Nova Scotia was safe in port today after she and 15 other vessels evaded a submarine which, crew members reported, ran thru a British naval convoy and cut one of the accompanying merchantmen in two with a torpedo in mid-Atlantic.

Members of the Nova Scotia's crew said they could not identify the torpedoed boat as her markings had been painted out, but they believed naval vessels rescued most of those aboard the sunken craft.

SOVIET TROOPS MARCH INTO LITH TERRITORY TODAY

KAUNAS, Lithuania, Nov. 13.—The first detachments of 20,000 soviet troops, who under the recent agreement will be established at four bases east of the East Prussian border, will enter this country tomorrow thru the newly ceded Vilna [Wilno] territory. The troops were preceded today by about 100 officers.

In addition to the army sites a soviet air base will be established a mile from Vilna, it is reported.

Lithuania has agreed to grant asylum to about 1,500 Jews expelled by the Nazis from the Suvalki district despite economic difficulties occasioned by incorporation of Vilna in Lithuania, together with thousands of Polish refugees.

KREUZLINGEN, Switzerland, Nov. 13 (AP).—A large barracks of Adolf Hitler's élite guard, the Schutzstaffel, burned last night at Konstanz, Germany, across the frontier from Kreuzlingen. Communications between Konstanz and Kreuzlingen were cut shortly before the fire was seen by the Swiss.

SCOTCH CHURCH AGAINST MOVIES, WAR OR NO WAR

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

EDINBURGH, Scotland, Nov. 13.—The war may change the old time Scottish Sunday so that Scots will not recognize it. It is proposed to open theaters, movies, and other amusements to troops on leave.

But a storm is brewing. Scottish pastors declare that the Church of Scotland will safeguard the Sabbath and regard the proposal to open the movies as unfair in view of the co-operation the church gives the blackout. Churches agreed to hold no evening services or meetings.

A Scottish church conference on the Jewish question may be the outcome of a recent outbreak of anti-Semitism in Glasgow. A number of shop windows in Glasgow were plastered with swastikas and slogans scratched on them. Church leaders resent this and a pronouncement against it will be made. Police officials said the swastika incidents were isolated cases of bigotry. No anti-Jewish organizations, they claim, have any strength in Scotland.

GERMANS ORDER NAVY TO IGNORE STEAMER FLINT

Freighter Is Ready to Leave Norway.

Washington, D. C., Nov. 13 (AP).—The German government today ordered German warships not to interfere with the City of Flint on its way back to the United States.

Alexander C. Kirk, American chargé d'affaires in Berlin, was informed by the Reich foreign office that the German naval command, in view of its understanding that the cargo of the American freighter had been landed at Bergen, Norway, has ordered all German craft to refrain from taking any action against the vessel.

Say Order Was Voluntary.

An official of the state department here said the German order was a voluntary one and did not result from any request by this government.

However, it was recalled that the United States formally requested both Germany and Great Britain, while the City of Flint was still in possession of a German prize crew, to take all necessary measures to avoid injury to the American crew.

The freighter, bound for the British Isles last month, was seized by the pocket battleship Deutschland and sent to Murmansk, Russia, in command of a German prize crew. Leaving Murmansk for Germany, the freighter put into Norwegian waters, where Norway interned the prize crew and announced that the vessel was free.

Early Departure Expected.

It is believed here that the vessel, commanded by Capt. Joseph A. Gainard, will shortly depart for the United States.

The Germans, after capturing the vessel, had claimed jurisdiction over her on the ground that more than 50 per cent of her cargo was contraband destined for Great Britain. It is assumed that removal of the cargo has also removed Germany's claim to jurisdiction over the craft.

GERMANS DENY SON OF CROWN PRINCE WAS EXECUTED AS PLOTTER

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

BRUSSELS, Belgium, Nov. 13.—The Berlin short wave radio tonight broadcast a denial of a report published by the London Daily Mirror which asserted that Prince Frederick Wilhelm, the youngest son of the former crown prince of Germany, had been executed after a roundup of monarchist plotters and persons suspected of having a part in the Munich beer cellar explosion last week. The German radio called the Mirror report "the latest British propaganda lie."

The Mirror asserted that the German Gestapo [secret police] linked ex-Kaiser Wilhelm, the aged exile at Doorn, with the plot to kill Adolf Hitler. Prince Frederick Wilhelm, who is 28 years old, was said to have been singled out by the Gestapo because he was believed to have been the kaiser's choice to sit on a restored German throne.

The Mirror report asserted that five princes and nine disaffected generals of the old reichswehr had been seized in the roundup. It was asserted that a number of monarchists had been executed.

Germans Offer Workers Quick Course in Russian

BERLIN, Nov. 13.—The Strength Thru Joy organization today included Russian in the list of language courses it is offering to workers. The course, which will be divided into two periods of three weeks each, will be opened Dec. 1. It is expected to give its clients sufficient knowledge to write and understand the language of Germany's new ally.

BROWDER INSISTS EUROPEANS WILL GO COMMUNISTIC

New York, Nov. 13 (AP).—Earl Browder, the national communist leader, asserted tonight it was "universally recognized" that the peoples of Europe would "inevitably turn to communism if this imperialistic war was carried on to its logical conclusion."

In a speech prepared for a party demonstration held in Madison Square Garden for the twin purpose of saluting the 22d anniversary of the founding of the soviet union and in protest against the government's action in indicting Browder himself for passport fraud, he declared the conflict abroad was "evidently and inescapably a family affair, between capitalistic rivals."

The Garden, seating some 20,000—at 40 cents to $1.10 each—was substantially filled some time before Browder took the platform. Along the bases of its high balconies there hung great red streamers.

"Smash the Dies committee conspiracy against American democracy and peace."

The Stars and Stripes and the hammer and sickle stood side by side to the left of the speaker's dais—which was draped in the American colors.

IRELAND SHOWS A WAY TO DODGE NEUTRALITY ACT

Urges Opening Ports to American Ships.

BY CHESLY MANLY.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., Nov. 13.—A proposal was made to the state department today by Robert Brennan, minister of Ireland, which would permit the Roosevelt administration to circumvent the new neutrality law without adhering to its widely condemned scheme to transfer American ships to the registry of Panama.

Robert Brennan.

The Irish minister urged that President Roosevelt's combat area proclamation, issued under the administration's so-called cash and carry law, be modified to exempt his country and open its ports to American vessels. Since Ireland is a neutral country and the new neutrality law bars American ships only from the ports of belligerents, the President has full discretion to grant the Irish request. He could modify his combat area proclamation.

Under the proclamation, American ships are barred from all European waters north of Spain and South of Bergen, Norway.

Bases Plea on Economics.

Mr. Brennan submitted his proposal on behalf of his government which based its request on economic grounds. He said that the loss of American shipping is depriving Ireland of much revenue.

If the request should be granted, American ships could call at Cobh and other important Irish ports carrying passengers and materials of any kind, including munitions. The provisions of the cash and carry law place restrictions only upon commerce with belligerents. This relaxation, it is believed, would accommodate most or all of the American ships, about 90 in number, taken out of the European service by the combat zone proclamation.

Huge quantities of American materials could be transported by American vessels to Ireland for trans-shipment to Great Britain, France, and perhaps some of the European neutral countries. Airplanes for Great Britain and France easily could be flown from Ireland to their destinations. Northern Ireland, of course, still would be closed to American ships because it is a part of Great Britain and hence war territory.

Confers with State Department.

Minister Brennan conferred with Assistant Secretary of State Adolph Berle. Secretary Cordell Hull is on a brief vacation in northern Georgia. Berle, it was announced, will study the proposal in the light of the new neutrality law and the proclamation issued under it.

Doubt was expressed in official quarters that Secretary Hull would approve the scheme. He is on record as being desirous of maintaining the integrity of the neutrality act. The administration's attempt to permit the transfer of eight vessels of the United States Lines to the registry of Panama was denounced by Secretary Hull as a violation of the spirit, if not the letter, of the neutrality act.

At his press conference last Friday Mr. Roosevelt declared for the second time that there was no question about the legality of the flag changing plan, but did not state definitely whether it would be carried out.

The same informed observers who expressed doubt that Mr. Hull would approve the Irish proposals said it offered possibilities which might appeal to Mr. Roosevelt. The President is known to be seeking some method of preventing the tieing up of American vessels normally engaged in the European trade, with the consequent laying off of American seamen.

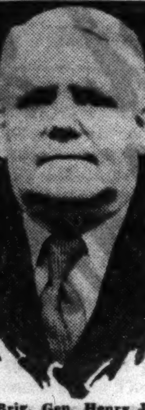
ONLY HARD FIGHT CAN SETTLE WAR, SAYS GEN. REILLY

The European war will not be settled by economies but only by a long period of hard fighting, Brig. Gen. Henry J. Reilly told 250 members of the Rainbow Division Veterans' association yesterday in the Hotel Sherman. Commander of the 149th field artillery during the world war, Gen. Reilly recently returned from two and a half years abroad.



Brig. Gen. Henry J. Reilly.

"The picture of a hardup Germany on the point of crumbling is the reverse of the truth," he said. "With their good army and air force, there is nothing to keep the Germans from getting food from nearby countries by force if they become too hungry."

With Russia not to be considered as a first class military force, Germany cannot win the war, he believes. To this prediction he added a warning that the future is unforseeable. The United States disamed itself, but has the chance to rearm with the most modern equipment, as did Germany, he said.

GEORGE E. SCOTT ESTATE VALUED AT $694,313 NET

George E. Scott, president of the American Steel Foundries, who died at Rochester, Minn., last Jan. 11, left a net estate of $694,313, according to a state inheritance tax return filed yesterday in the office of the Lake county clerk at Waukegan.

The return showed a gross estate of $911,350, of which the chief item was $841,601 in cash and securities. Debts and expenses of administration came to $217,037. The state inheritance tax was $49,948.

Mr. Scott, who was 65 years old and a bachelor, lived at 1100 Lake Shore drive in Chicago and at 40 East Onwentsia road, Lake Forest. His will left personal effects and furniture to a sister, Cornelia Scott, 1100 Lake Shore drive, and created a trust fund for the benefit of Cornelia Scott, two other sisters, four brothers, and two nephews.

James Ross, 39 years old, colored, 2634 Maypole avenue, yesterday was fined $50 for disorderly conduct by Judge Harold P. O'Connell of the Domestic Relations court. Mrs. Helen Marabanian, 17, 2513 Monroe street, testified Ross knocked her down while she was walking with her husband.

MINE SINKS SHIP AT SINGAPORE; 10 AMERICANS SAFE

Thousands Watch British Steamer Go Down.

SINGAPORE, Nov. 13.—Within view of thousands of persons who were brought to the water front by a violent explosion, the British-India steamer Sirdhana, 7,745 tons, sank in the Singapore roads this morning within 20 minutes after striking a mine. The ship foundered just outside the port limits, about three miles from shore, after the pilot had disembarked.

William Nicola.

Eleven Asiatic deck passengers, mostly children, were drowned, and nine other Asiatics were missing. All Americans and Europeans aboard were saved.

137 Chinese Deportees Saved.

The passengers included 137 Chinese deportees from the Straits settlement, a British crown colony. Most of them were imprisoned behind steel grills in the forward hold. They were saved by a British inspector in charge of a police escort, who smashed the lock of the grill with gunshots. With water flooding the hold, the Chinese rushed out and made for the lifeboats.

Among the survivors were William Nicola of Monmouth, Ill., a magician, his wife and their troupe of eight other Americans, who lost their equipment of 100 tons, personal effects and jewelry.

Nicola was returning to the United States via the Pacific after a tour of Australia and the far east. The magician said he and his wife boarded the last lifeboat, which held 70 persons, as the ship sank.

Dive as Ship Keels.

After rowing for half an hour the lifeboat was taken in tow by a rescue launch.

"Two men in my company," Nicola said, "were unable to get into the lifeboat and they dived as the ship heeled over and clung to wreckage. After being picked up by the launch they helped in the rescue work."

The other rescued Americans were Mr. and Mrs. Alphones Cockelberg, 10731 South Campbell avenue, Chicago; Charles C. Vance, Peoria, Ill.; Miss Mary Elizabeth Camp, daughter of Mrs. Fred Camp of Littleton, Ill.; Mr. and Mrs. Charles Classen, Rochester, N. Y., and Mr. and Mrs. Edwin Caillard of Mount Kisco, N. Y.

PLAYED IN CHICAGO.

William Nicola is known as the Great Nicola. He has played in Chicago loop theaters for 15 years. In Monmouth he is known as Will Nicol. His wife is the former Marian Eddings of Monmouth.

Cockelberg is 38 years old. His wife's name is Morreen. She is 26. Known under his stage name of Al Declercq, Cockelberg is a comedian and dancer. His wife dances.

Vance, 24, of Peoria, is a graduate of the Bradley Polytechnic institute.

ILL WINDS BLOW FLOOD ON LENINGRAD; REDS SAY FINNS TO BLAME

MOSCOW, Nov. 13 (AP).—The latest soviet Russian radio thrust at Finland blamed her for floods rising in western Russia.

The soviet midnight broadcast, shortly after the Finnish delegation had gone home from fruitless negotiations, said the Neva river, which runs through Leningrad, was flooding "because of winds from Finland."

The Finns, the broadcast charged, neglected to inform Russia of the meteorological conditions as they were supposed to do under international convention, and therefore the responsibility was theirs.

Bartender Held as Killer of His Cigaret Girl Wife

Birmingham, Ala., Nov. 13 (AP).—A bartender, 32 years old, was held today in the fatal shooting of his blonde cigaret girl wife and another woman in the lobby of a hotel where all three were employed. Coroner Gip M. Evans said murder charges were placed against Albert Dyer after his wife, Dorothy, 18, and Mrs. S. V. Leymance, 29, mother of two children, were fatally wounded when the younger woman refused a reconciliation with her husband. The Dyers had been married two months.

CATHOLIC U. GETS POPE'S BLESSING ON 50TH BIRTHDAY

Washington, D. C., Nov. 13 (AP).—Pope Pius XII. told Americans today that the work of Christian educators was never more important than in this hour when "the bewildering errors of nationalism and materialism" were plunging the world into war.

His words were broadcast from the Vatican and directed primarily to a reverent throng of thousands gathered in the flag draped gymnasium at Catholic university to celebrate the 50th anniversary of the founding of that institution.

President Roosevelt also sent a message which was read to the convocation. He said that the Catholic university was rich in achievement and full of promise of future usefulness, and he expressed the hope that it would contribute thru untold generations to the perfection of intellect.

DOES CHICAGO READ?

By CALEB

INVENTORY of Chicago's library resources gives a vehement affirmative to the above question. Despite the thousand-and-one distractions offered by other claimants to citizen leisure, books are no feeble also-rans in the race for attention and patronage. Which—being true—is in interesting measure attributable to three great institutions whose service to the public is rendered in terms of books.

Chronologically first on the scene was the present Chicago Public Library—its legitimate ancestor being the "Young Men's Association" lending library of 1841. Today, this splendid edifice is represented by a central collection (opened to patrons on Thanksgiving Day, 1893) of some 1,800,000 volumes; annual loans of 12,000,000 copies to more than 600,000 readers; and forty-five branches strategically situated to serve local readership. It is the only one of the city's unique library trio maintained by municipal taxation, and subject to municipal authority.

Opened in 1887 was the famous Newberry Library, founded by Walter Loomis Newberry with a $2,600,000 endowment, which functions as a treasure-house of book-world rarities, manuscripts, incunabula, and special collections, examinable only on the premises. And finally—in 1894—appeared to round out an enviable circle of reference and educative facilities, the John Crerar Library, established by the $2,500,000 bequest of its founder to become a center of the natural, physical and social sciences. Like the Newberry's, Crerar facilities are not available in lending form. . . .

This pre-eminent array of resources for readers is the appropriate background for the recent mayoral proclamation of "Public Library Week." Initiated yesterday it will be featured by "open house" at all library branches—a mass-meeting Thursday noon next, to be addressed by Dr. Preston Bradley—and, as happy sequel, the inauguration of an every-Thursday-noon series of free book-talks in the Public Library.

Few occasions for civic emphasis are more worthy of general mention and warm support. The services extended to Chicagoans by the city's library organizations are as unique in scope as they are invaluable in intellectual, cultural and character-building content. We are happy to render our own small share of these services through our employees' library of 11,000 volumes; and it is fitting that all of us, during "Public Library Week," pay tribute to those who have made the city's splendid reading resources possible.

A WAR PICTURE: CITY OF 200,000 NOW GHOST TOWN

Shells That Never Arrive Kill Strasbourg.

BY EDMOND TAYLOR.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

WITH THE FRENCH FIELD ARMIES IN ALSACE, Nov. 13.—The French said we should see Strasbourg because the world never had seen anything quite like it—a city that had about 200,000 population but now is almost without life, its inhabitants having fled from the perils of war.

And so we got into cars with an officer and went to see this strange thing, then went on to other almost equally odd phases of this strange but real and tragic war.

Coming back we passed a beet sugar factory that was 3,000 yards from the enemy and otherwise was remarkable in only one respect—it still was making sugar.

Band Misses Not a Beat.

On the next day we went out to one of the giant fortresses of the Maginot line. A regimental band was sitting out in the open in the sunlight, playing a soldierly march for us and, altho they were only volunteer and amateur musicians, they were good ones because they did not miss a beat. Sometimes it sounded as if they were putting in extra ones, but that was the fault of antiaircraft batteries that were popping all around us at six glistening Messerschmitts almost directly overhead.

As our cars swung around a curve the band was attacking a new march, the antiaircraft shells still were planting mushroom beds [shell bursts] in the sky and the propellors of the enemy planes had shredded a cloudbank into a fleecy trail that looked something like ski tracks in fresh snow.

Every Window Shuttered.

Strasbourg, which lies in the heart of the Alsace front, particularly arouses sympathy as one comes down from the vineyards and the fir forests of the Vosges mountains, thru villages that look as if they had been built by Snow White's dwarfs, and onto the Alsatian plain with its hop fields. From here one sees the spire of the cathedral soaring in the sky. Peasant women were digging in the fields and a few factory chimneys still were smoking, but the suburbs were empty and vacant and every window in the houses was shuttered.

In the crooked streets lined with gabled houses that combine French grace with the quaint charm of the Rhineland autumn leaves were blowing with the wind and homeless dogs prowled hungrily.

We stopped in front of the red sandstone cathedral, one of the most beautiful in Europe, and entered the abandoned nave. We kept on our trench caps for, as the officer said, "God had gone away." Only one small chapel was still being used to celebrate mass.

Precious Relics Protected.

The precious stone and wood carvings still were there, but they had been covered with sandbags and plaster. This work was done by the army, a captain, who is an archæologist in civilian life, explained with pride.

When we went outside and looked up at that soaring single tower which Goethe used to climb to discipline his nerves, the captain said:

"What a tragedy that this cathedral, which might be the link between German and French culture, should now be on the front between the French and German armies."

3,000 Still in City.

It was pretty near the front—about 4,000 yards in a straight line.

In this city of dead houses, of autumn leaves and homeless dogs, there were quite a few human beings in the streets. There were occasional soldiers and numerous policemen, some of them directing nonexistent traffic at street corners as conscientiously as if they had been standing in the Place de la Concord during a rush hour in Paris.

There also were some civilians, including even a few women and children. Some of these civilians—not the children, of course—had been authorized to stay in Strasbourg. They, together with the soldiers and the gendarmes, make up the present population of less than 3,000.

Villages Lively Despite Guns.

Leaving Strasbourg, we motored along the Rhine, looking at the hills of the Black forest and all the time within easy cannon shot of the German lines. In all the villages life was going on normally and children were playing in the streets—playing soldier in most cases. There were two reasons for the continued normal life of the towns. One is that the inhabitants of villages even more than those of cities hate to leave their homes. The other is that since the French believe the Rhine makes a German invasion almost impossible, they want the economic life of the region to go on as long as it can. However, all arrangements have been made for the rapid evacuation of the civilian population if the Germans begin shelling the area.

Up to now there has been no bombardment in this sector as there has been on the Lorraine front, where the fighting grows more vicious daily. Almost no shots are being fired here in Alsace. A colonel said that Germans who saw us walk up to the river in American uniforms must have received a shock. Once, when we were standing in a group in an open space, the colonel asked us to disperse and get under cover.

"After all, we mustn't exaggerate," he said.

Killed by Inactivity

(Story in adjoining column.)

Arrow marks Strasbourg, which normally has a population of 200,000, but is now a deserted city, its inhabitants having fled from the perils of war. The French city has not yet been shelled, however.

BELGIANS, DUTCH FIND THE DOOR TO PEACE AJAR

Hope Based on Reply of King of England.

BY LARRY RUE.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

BRUSSELS, Belgium, Nov. 13.—Belgium and the Netherlands tonight officially assumed the attitude that the door to peace is still ajar despite the firm answers given by Great Britain and France to King Leopold's and Queen Wilhelmina's offer to allow use of their good offices in peace conferences. The two neutral nations refused to change their attitude in the face of indications from Berlin that Adolf Hitler will deliver a cordial but firm "no" to the mediation proposal. The last paragraph of the reply of King George VI. of England, it was learned, may provide the necessary loophole to save the diplomatic faces of all belligerents in order that their peace aims can be reconciled thru peace talks instead of on the battle ground.

King George's last paragraph said the British always are ready to consider proposals from Germany giving assurances that future peace will not be threatened thru aggression from that course.

Premier Calms Holland.

THE HAGUE, the Netherlands, Nov. 13 (AP).—Mild mannered Premier Dirk Jan de Geer calmed nervous Holland today with the assurance that the government had no reason to believe her neutrality would be violated by warring neighbors. He voiced a hope that neutral nations might yet lead Europe back to peace.

His words, broadcast to the Netherlands and her East and West Indies, had the visible effect of lessening tension thruout Holland after a week-end of nervousness caused in part by intensive military precautions.

De Geer explained that the precautions were necessary to keep mobilized preparedness keyed to the realities of the moment and that they did not necessarily mean an increased threat to the nation's frontiers.

The premier said "the vocation of stimulating peace and thus serving others" prompted Queen Wilhelmina of the Netherlands and King Leopold of Belgium last Tuesday to make their peace mediation offer and he indicated that further steps would be taken should their effort fail.

"Should these endeavors fail, we and the governments of other countries for which peace is preserved will at a later date be able to take new steps in the same direction," he declared.

"Each neutral country now is a shining light in darkness which has fallen over our part of the world.

"Should there come a new dawn for Europe it will have to come from neutral countries, and the more neutral countries remain, the greater the chance that this part of the world and its civilization will be saved in time from ruin."

No Ground for Uneasiness.

The premier declared "there is not a single ground for uneasiness "in the Netherlands and asserted that the fear of imminent dangers was caused by reports circulated abroad and by "certain measures of our government."

Precautionary measures were necessary, he stated, because of the tension on the western front, which he declared "seemed to have increased."

Informed sources said the Netherlands' "measures" were completed Saturday night, but their nature remained a strict secret.

Meanwhile, the stock market turned firm and the streets of The Hague, Amsterdam, and other cities, were crowded with shoppers.

Amsterdam and other north Holland cities had their first test of a wartime blackout tonight. Amsterdam's central district remained unaffected, however.

Ready to Remove Population.

The mayor of Utrecht told the city council the entire population of the city, which is the eastern point of Holland's main line of water defense, would be removed if the nation were attacked. A new defense order forbade all shipping in southeastern Netherlands without special permission.

Official sources issued a strong denial of widely circulated rumors that many army officers were arrested and one shot in suppression of an intended Dutch Nazi putsch Saturday night in the border areas.

George A. Gordon, American minister, who held a conference with Queen Wilhelmina yesterday, declined to comment on rumors the audience was concerned with a possibility the United States might participate in the low countries' peace efforts.

Charge British Wreck Plan.

BERLIN, Nov. 13 (AP).—Germany's reply to the mediation offer from the queen of The Netherlands and the king of the Belgians is expected within a few days.

Authorized sources said "there is not much doubt about what the reply will be now that Britain and France, thru their answers, have shown determination to continue war."

The German government, it was said, is "giving the offer careful consideration despite British speed in throwing it down."

The official German news agency, DNB, quoted German political quarters as saying that "destruction of Germany is Britain's war aim" and that the mediation offer "has been sabotaged deliberately."

Queen's Gift Bears Interest as Library Week Opens

When Chicago burned in 1871, the public library was destroyed. Two months later a gift of books from England laid the foundations for the present library. One of these, contributed and autographed by Queen Victoria, bears the date, Nov. 13, 1871. Yesterday, the opening of Public Library week, was the 68th anniversary of Queen Victoria's gift. To commemorate it Lewis Bernays, British consul general in Chicago, presented an autographed copy of "The Memoirs of Lloyd George" to Carl B. Roden, librarian.

MEN AND WOMEN OF GERMANY GET ONE SUIT A YEAR

Ration Cards Issued for Wearing Apparel.

BY SIGRID SCHULTZ.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

BERLIN, Nov. 13.—Ration cards for clothes, thread, and wool were introduced in Germany today. They will be good for one year beginning Wednesday. No textiles can be purchased in Germany until then.

The rationing system is based on the average requirements of a worker's family for the last five years. A government spokesman said the system "will enable Germany to concentrate on production of truly necessary goods," and that "no luxury goods should be manufactured in wartime."

Five types of cards have been evolved, one each for men, women, boys, and girls from 3 to 14 years old, and children between the ages of 2 and 6. All the cards have different colors.

Work on Synthetic Materials.

Officials said better-to-do families possess superfluous clothes which will provide satisfactory reserves. The official spokesman asserted that by 1941 production of synthetic materials will have progressed to such a pace that rations of clothes can be increased.

Cards for women are composed of 100 coupons. The women are entitled to four pairs of hose a year, each of which will require four coupons. If women find it necessary to buy two extra pairs each pair will call for eight coupons. Therefore a full ration of stockings will require 32 coupons out of the total of 100 available for the year. Stockings cannot be bought all at once, purchases being limited to one pair every two months.

Men fare no better. They get three pairs of socks. They will hand out five coupons for each pair. If they want to have two more pairs they must present 10 coupons for each pair. If they like long socks five pairs will deprive them of 52 out of 100 coupons a year.

45 Coupons for a Suit.

A woman's suit will require 45 coupons. If she gets four pairs of hose there will be left enough coupons to buy the minimum requirement of underclothing, according to calculations. Girls will have to save eight coupons somewhere to remain within the quota.

A man must sacrifice 60 coupons on his ration card for a suit, which leaves him 40 coupons for socks and other incidentals. A collar requires 3 coupons; a shirt, 20, and pajamas, 30, in addition to the money that must be paid for them.

There is one bargain for girls—a coat of "ersatz" [substitute] fur. It is made of artificial silk and requires 35 coupons. Winter coats are obtained on special permits and are not included in the 100 coupons cards. However, one must prove the old coat is worn out.

First born babies up to the age of two years need no ration cards. Persons needing special outfits for professional reasons also can obtain permission to purchase them.

Bought Extra Suits.

Almost every German who could afford it bought material for a coat or a suit when the war began.

If a German man needs a tailor or dressmaker to sew material he obtains the lining, thread and other required equipment for 30 coupons. A woman needs 21 coupons.

An official who was asked whether the new clothing regulations had not speeded up the "proletarianization" of the German population, since the average workingman's family was taken as the basis of calculation, shrugged his shoulders and said: "Those who are rich can wear the clothes they accumulated in the old days. It is hoped that by the time they have emptied their wardrobes industry will be working on substitutes which will supply all needs."

GUNMAN SEIZES YOUNG WIFE; ROBS AND ATTACKS HER

A young wife was seized by a gunman last night, forced under a porch at the rear of 4853 Walton street, and raped. Police believe he is the same man who has attacked one woman and tried to attack several others on the west side in recent weeks.

The victim, 21 years old, was stopped by the gunman in front of 4838 Iowa street, and compelled to go to the rear of the Walton street address. There he tied her hands and feet and gagged her.

Before leaving he took two rings, valued at $130, and a fur coat, valued at $135.

Developing Speedy Airplanes

One of massive wind tunnels of National Advisory Committee for Aeronautics at Langley Field, Va., where scientists are developing planes to fly 500 miles an hour. This is a model plane shot across the tunnel to test the effect of wind gusts on the airplanes.

Build Superengine

Langley Field, Va., Nov. 13 [Special].—Powered with the world's most efficient air-cooled engine, the world's fastest airplane will soon emerge from the laboratories of the National Advisory Committee for Aeronautics. Equipped with a new and secret type of wing, the plane will fly at speeds up to 500 miles an hour, according to N. A. C. A. engineers.

Eight years of research have gone into perfection of the new plane's engine which will have three times the power of present engines of the same size. The secret of the engine's tremendous power lies in placement of the radiating fins which carry off excessive heat.

Tested in the giant wind tunnel of the N. A. C. A. laboratory here, the new wing has shown that shock, developed in the ordinary wing when speed approaches that of sound—475 miles an hour—is virtually eliminated. Tripling the power of planes also has required development of new propellers to use the power. These will have from four to six blades, instead of two or three.

190 TON BISCUIT CUTTERS ARRIVE TO BORE SUBWAY

Subway workers yesterday began to assemble one of the giant steel shields that will be used in boring the loop sections of the subway tunnel. The shield, which weighs 190 tons, was shipped to Chicago in sections on five flat cars from Youngstown, O., where it was fabricated.

Piece by piece it is being put together in the "shield pit" that has been dug at 11th and State streets by the Healy Subway Construction corporation, contractor. There are six main sections weighing 31 tons each. The shield when fully assembled will be 25 feet in diameter and will be shoved forward thru the earth by hydraulic steel jacks. The front part of the shield cuts the soil like a huge biscuit cutter.

Three more shields will be shipped in the next few weeks.

PARIS GUNS DRIVE OFF FOE'S PLANES IN WAR'S 7TH RAID

Three Wounded by Falling Shell Fragments.

BY MAURICE ENGLISH.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

PARIS, Nov. 13.—The first air war casualties among the civil population of Paris occurred this afternoon as antiaircraft guns ringing the city drove off one or more German planes on the second scouting raid of the day. Three persons one a three year old boy, were wounded by falling fragments of antiaircraft shells. No bombs were dropped.

The barking of guns on the outskirts of the city gave the only hint that enemy planes were over the neighborhood for the second time. This occurred at 3:30 p. m. [8:30 a. m. Chicago time]. Almost immediately radio stations stopped functioning and in many sections of the city electric current was switched off.

No air raid warning was sounded during the 20 minutes of firing, indicating that the invader was a reconnoitering plane and not a bomber.

Seventh Raid Warning.

After the attack it was discovered that fragments of the shells with which the anti-aircraft crews had curtained the skies around Paris had struck three persons. Gabriel Lesire, an attendant in the Saint Antoine hospital, and Marguerite Marty a housewife in the suburb of Saint Denis, were slightly injured. In the suburb of Romainville, Yves Robichon, three years old, suffered more serious wounds when a shell fell on him.

Parisians were routed from bed the first time at 4:30 o'clock this morning [9:30 p. m. Sunday, Chicago time] and had to remain in air raid shelters for 50 minutes as antiaircraft guns kept the enemy planes at safe distances. This was the seventh raid warning since the war began, but, like the others, it went off without enemy bombs or machine gun bullets falling in the capital.

The morning communiques of French general headquarters reported a "quiet night along the entire front." The evening report said "there was the customary activity of patrols notably east of the Saar river."

Germans Take Prisoners.

BERLIN, Nov. 13 (AP).—The German high command reported today that "strong enemy scouting troops" had been repulsed in fresh assaults on strategic hilltops southwest of Pirmasens and that 25 of the attackers had been captured." A communique said: "There was somewhat more intensified artillery fire than previous days outside of Saarbruecken."

German army statisticians asserted that 80 British and French planes had been destroyed from the beginning of the war to Nov. 10, a period during which the Germans said they lost only 17. The Germans said the French had lost 64 planes and the British 16.

WOOS EX-WIFE THRU DAUGHTER, COURT IS TOLD

Whether Henry Slavich wants the custody of his daughter, Carol Ann, 4 years old, or is using that as an excuse to win back his former wife, Eugenia, was the question yesterday before Judge Oscar Nelson. Mrs. Slavich, who lives at 2748 West 24th street, won a divorce and custody of the child last May, but Slavich was allowed to visit his daughter twice a week.

"I had trouble when I wanted to see the girl," Slavich said. "I had to call policemen in order to get in."

"Slavich is just trying to get back his wife," said Attorney Victor Frohlich, counsel for Mrs. Slavich. "He would take out the girl and insist on the mother accompanying them, so he could be with her."

Judge Nelson ruled that Slavich may visit the child only once a week.

SEVEN AMERICAN BOMBING PLANES HOP OVER ANDES

Land in Paraguay After Flight from Peru.

BY C. N. GRIFFIS.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

LIMA, Peru, Nov. 13.—Seven American flying fortresses, conducting individual navigation problems, completed another lap of their aerial jaunt today when they landed at Asuncion, Paraguay, after a hop over the Andes mountains.

A dispatch from Asuncion said six of the bombers started landing there at 1:02 p. m., while the seventh, which was delayed, came down safely at 3:01.

Maj. Gen. Delos Emmons, in command, and his officers and men were welcomed by the Paraguayan ministers of war, foreign relations, interior and justice, the commander in chief of the army, and the United States legation staff. Gen. Emmons said the flight from Lima was "perfect."

The army bombers, which left Langley Field, Va., last Friday, landed at Lima last night after a 1,600 mile flight from Panama in approximately eight hours. They will take off from Asuncion for Rio de Janeiro, Brazil, early tomorrow.

Greeted by Lima Crowd.

During their halt there last night the pilots said the time margin and navigational efficiency of the flight revealed notable improvements over the last mass flight to Buenos Aires, Argentina, in February last year.

Flying out of sight of one another 9,000 feet above the earth, the planes effected an aerial rendezvous over Ancon bay, 25 miles north of Lima, and glided to safe landing at the Lima airport several miles out of the city. Roads were congested with pedestrians, cyclists, and motorists eager to see the 23-ton bombers.

A reception was held for the 56 officers and men of the flight at the American embassy last night. They took off at 4:30 a. m. today and flew over 1,000 miles of coastal deserts, 20,000 foot Andes peaks, and the desolate Gran Chaco territory to Asuncion.

The planes brought copies of American magazines which went on sale in the United States yesterday and today.

Naval Bases Weak.

In connection with the visit of the bombers, naval observers said it was a matter of grave concern to see the serious weakness of the South American continent from the viewpoint of naval defenses against any possible Asiatic or European foes.

This weakness does not arise precisely from a lack of naval units, they said, but from a lack of naval bases. In an emergency, South American nations could concentrate their combined fleets at any given point, but there is no point on either the Pacific or the Atlantic coast where they could be based.

Aid Lacking for Big Fleet.

Shore naval establishments of Brazil, Argentina, Chile, and Peru have been constructed to take care of only their relatively modest requirements. None of these nations could give proper assistance to a large fleet, including ships from the United States, if they were called upon to aid. Nor could these countries provide properly supplied bases to which ships could go before and after battle for refueling and repairs.

The Inquiring Reporter

The Question.

Who do you think will win the war?

Where Asked.

Wacker drive and Michigan avenue.

The Answers.

Van Kolton, 8005 Burnham avenue, theater manager. As long as Russia does not enter the actual fighting on the side of Germany, Great Britain and France will win. Britain could whip Germany alone because of greater economic power and naval strength.

Miss Mary Canavan, 7342 Constance avenue, clerk. The superior fighting forces of Great Britain and France, plus help from the United States, will defeat Germany. I think we will enter the war. Without us I doubt if the empires could crush Germany.

W. F. Kelley, 326 North Michigan avenue, manufacturer. Britain and France. Lifting of the arms embargo by the United States will make it possible for the empires to buy enough planes to overcome Germany's recognized aircraft strength.

Mrs. Alice L. Johnson, 1325 Touhy avenue, secretary. I don't see how anybody can win this war. Both sides will lose a great deal more than they can gain, and everybody will lose about as much as everybody else. We should stay out.

Jerome K. Blakeslee, 8 North Ogden avenue, salesman. The empires will have plenty of trouble, but I think they will win. The British fleet will play an important part. If Russia were to fight it might be different, but I think Stalin is too smart.

I PAID PRINCESS $250,000, BRITISH PRESS LORD SAYS

Testifies He Got Bills for Gifts to Him.

LONDON, Nov. 13 (AP).—Lord Rothermere testified today that he had paid Princess Stefanie Hohenlohe-Waldenburg about $250,000 from 1932 to 1938. He said he "thought she was treating me with an utter lack of chivalry" when she sent him gifts and also the bills for them.

Lord Rothermere.

Rothermere, testifying in defense against the princess' suit for alleged breach of contract, said he had paid her "considerably more" than $250,000 before his retirement in 1938 when he was 70 and "did not contemplate any more political missions" such as those for which he had employed the princess.

Offers to Aid Hapsburgs.

The princess, a Hungarian, charges that Rothermere, noted publisher, had broken a contract by which she said she was to receive $20,000 a year for acting as his political representative in Europe.

Rothermere said he offered to contribute to funds for restoration of the Hapsburgs because "Hungary was so poor that she could not reëstablish a monarchy without a proper income." He added, "It was a great pity it didn't come off."

He said his campaign for friendship with Nazi Germany "was before Hitler ran amok" and retorted "I am not a sovereign state yet" when asked if the princess had acted as his "ambassador."

Always Asked for Money.

He denounced as "preposterous" the suggestion that he had agreed to keep the princess "for the rest of her life."

"There was no opportunity of 'giving' her money because she was always asking for it," Rothermere said.

"The princess," he continued, "would become dumb if she didn't talk about money. She was always pestering and badgering me, so I sent her away to Budapest and Berlin."

"But it surely was a little tough on Hitler?" asked the princess' attorney.

Thought Hitler Wanted Peace.

"O, I'm not sorry," Rothermere replied, "Hitler richly deserved it. In 1935 I thought Hitler really wanted peace above everything. I was wrong and so was half the population."

The publisher agreed that when the princess went to Berlin on his behalf he "expected her to live like a queen," but denied that he ever told her "I never let a woman down."

"I never say that sort of thing," he commented.

MR. SHANK'S MARE DOES VANISHING ACT IN MIDDLE OF STREET

Edward Shank of 3281 Armitage avenue was enjoying the morning air yesterday as he drove his two horse team on Lyndale avenue. Suddenly his wagon stopped in front of No. 3117. Mr. Shank looked ahead. He rubbed his eyes. Where there had been two horses he now saw only one.

Mr. Shank stepped out of his wagon, only to find the second horse apparently sitting quietly on the street. Closer examination revealed the animal's rear legs were dangling down an open manhole, the horse having dislodged the cover.

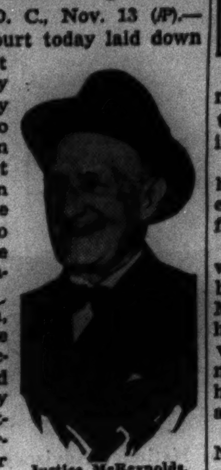
Mr. Shank called the fire department. Capt. Henry Spannenberg of rescue squad 6 rigged up a block and tackle, hoisted up the horse, dusted it off, and Mr. Shank resumed his way, his two horse team intact.

'Horrified,' Franco Hails Hitler on Escape from Blast

MADRID, Spain, Nov. 13 (AP).—Generalissimo Francisco Franco today sent a telegram to Fuehrer Adolph Hitler saying he was "horrified" at the Munich beer hall bombing and congratulating him on his escape.

SUPREME COURT UPHOLDS STATES' RULE OVER LIQUOR

Washington, D. C., Nov. 13 (AP).—The Supreme court today laid down a broad rule that the states may adopt virtually any measures to restrict traffic in liquor and that their powers in this matter are superior even to federal interstate commerce regulation.



Justice McReynolds.

The decision, written by Justice James C. McReynolds, upheld a 1938 Kentucky statute prohibiting the transportation of liquor by trucks not licensed as common carriers.

The case was brought by Ziffrin, Inc., an Indiana trucking company, which transported whisky from Kentucky distilleries to consignees in Chicago. The company was denied a common carrier's certificate, and for that reason Kentucky refused to grant it a liquor transporter's license. The truckers contended that this was an unconstitutional interference with interstate commerce.

The court ruled, however, that "the 21st amendment sanctions the right of a state to legislate concerning intoxicating liquors brought from without, unfettered by the commerce clause."

The decision was delivered without dissent, only eight justices participating.

WIFE REFUSES TO TAKE SLAP FOR ANSWER AS HUBBY STAYS OUT LATE

Samuel Novitski is a liquor salesman. He explained his viewpoint yesterday to Judge Justin F. McCarthy in Town Hall court.

"When I stay out late at night," he said, "it's part of my job. If I don't entertain my clients my business falls off."

"A wife has the right to know where her husband spends his time, business or no business," retroted Mrs. Ethel Novitski. "When he came home to our apartment at 6810 Greenview avenue at 4 o'clock Sunday morning I wanted to know where he had been. His answer was to punch and slap me."

A disorderly conduct charge against Novitski was continued to Nov. 28.

SUPREME COURT GRANTS REVIEW IN LABOR RULING

Washington, D. C., Nov. 13 [Special].—The Supreme court today agreed to review a decision of the 7th Circuit Court of Appeals which overruled the National Labor Relations board. The Circuit court's ruling gave status to an independent union which the labor board sought to bar from an employé election. The board's decision would have given bargaining right to the C. I. O., Amalgamated Association of Iron, Steel and Tinplate Workers.

After a hearing which was started in August, 1937, the labor board ruled that the Falk corporation of Milwaukee, steel products manufacturers, must disestablish relations with an independent union of Falk employés and that the 1,400 employés should elect a bargaining agent. The board ruled that the ballot should contain only the C. I. O. for production workers and the A. F. of L. operating engineers for powerhouse workers and cranemen.

The Circuit court found that the corporation had dominated the independent union and upheld the labor board order for severance of relations, but ruled that employés should remain free to chose the independent union to represent them if they desired.

HAPPY RELIEF FROM PAINFUL BACKACHE

Many of those gnawing, nagging, painful backaches people blame on colds or strains are often caused by tired kidneys—and may be relieved when treated in the right way.

The kidneys are Nature's chief way of taking excess acids and poisonous waste out of the blood. They help most people pass about 3 pints a day.

If the 15 miles of kidney tubes and filters don't work well, poisonous waste matter stays in the blood. These poisons may start nagging backaches, rheumatic pains, loss of pep and energy, getting up nights, swelling, puffiness under the eyes, headaches and dizziness. Frequent or scanty passages with smarting and burning sometimes shows there is something wrong with your kidneys or bladder.

Don't wait! Ask your druggist for Doan's Pills, used successfully by millions for over 40 years. They give happy relief and will help the 15 miles of kidney tubes flush out poisonous waste from your blood. Get Doan's Pills.

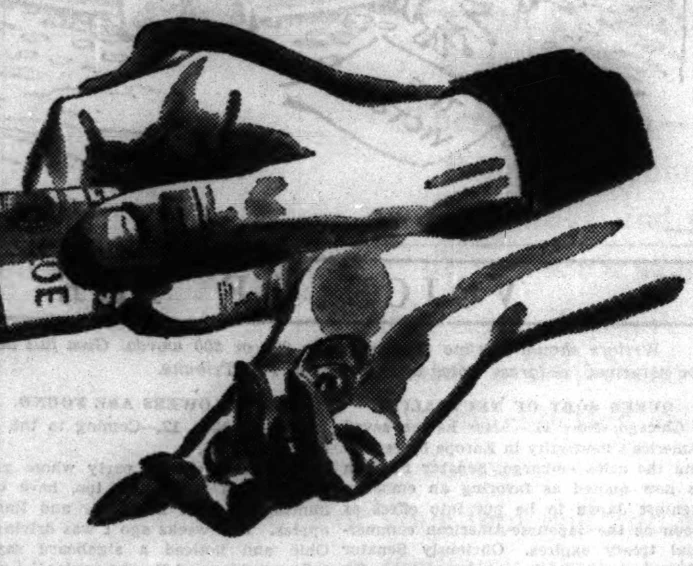
How to secure DOUBLE ACTION from Advertising



Here Is the Whole Story—briefed down for quick reading!

Right at the start let's clear up one point:

We do not claim double action from advertising in The American Weekly simply because it has double the circulation of any other magazine.

We want advertisers to know where that circulation goes, what kind of people it reaches, what kind of reading the magazine gets. So we'll try to answer these questions.

FIRST – this mighty magazine naturally circulates all over the United States – but it has its greatest concentration where the greatest volume of retail sales is made.

It has twice as much circulation in cities of over 1,500,000—in cities of 100,000 to 1,500,000—in cities of 25,000 to 100,000—reaches twice as many families as any other magazine. And in cities of 2,500 to 25,000 it also is read by more families than any other magazine.

That's important—for 82% of all retail sales are made in the 3,165 urban places where this penetration is greatest.

NEXT—what kind of people?

The American Weekly goes to more than half of all the families in the United States with incomes of over $2,000 — almost twice as many as any other magazine. It also goes to three and one-third million families with incomes of under $2,000—more than twice as many as any other magazine.

And that lower income market is important because those families with less than $2,000 a year own about three-fourths of all the automobiles, about half of all the electrical refrigerators and spend most of the money that is rung up on the cash registers of grocery stores.

NEXT—what kind of reading does this magazine get?

Dr. Daniel Starch, noted investigator and research authority, in the first full year's study of the complete editorial content of a magazine ever made, shows—

That in 95.6% of all homes where The American Weekly was found, this magazine was read by one or more adults.

But the big fact is—more than 14,600,000 men and women go through its pages from cover to cover—and they read it with an intensity unequaled in the publication world.

ADD to these facts of circulation, market coverage and readership one more vital statistic:

This magazine provides a color page twice as big in which to show the merchandise and tell the story at a cost of less than ⅓ cent per family.

Cock-A-Doodle-Doo!

During November The American Weekly continues its substantial linage gains for the first ten months of 1939 with an increase of 33% over November, 1938, which is its largest linage gain for any single month of this year to date.

The fact is, The American Weekly is twice as big any way you measure it, except in cost—and in cost it is less, any way you measure it.

GEORGE WASHINGTON SAID:

"Excessive partiality for one foreign nation and excessive dislike for another cause those whom they actuate to see danger only on one side, and serve to veil and even second the arts of influence on the other."—From the Farewell Address.

THE AMERICAN SOLDIER IN FRANCE.

Gen. Charles P. Summerall, former chief of staff of the American army, in his speech last week to the members and guests of the Union League club used the Armistice day theme to give his auditors and readers thruout the nation the true account of the operations of the American expeditionary force in France.

American soldiers and historians remained silent for many years, permitting European statesmen, soldiers, and military writers to distort the history of the last year of the war. The Americans who knew the truth allowed it to rest for many years under the cloud of misrepresentation in which the operations of the American army were befogged. The work of that army had been done and the results of it had been turned over to the statesmen of Europe, who squandered the sacrifices and dissipated the benefits by what they did with the opportunities the battlefields had given them.

The American soldiers modestly refrained not only from declaring their pride in the decisive contribution the American troops had made but from responding to the falsehoods written by virtually all of the Europeans. When the war was over the American army almost disappeared, and almost instantly, from any worthy or effective part in it. In a measure the American government and the American command in France had made this possible. When the army of 1917 and '18 first appeared in France the disposition of the American authorities and of the American command was to accept and adopt the measures which had become the established practice of the French and the British. One of these measures was a censorship which put the American troops behind an impenetrable fog.

There was, for one thing, an apparent determination that no great American national character should emerge from French battlefields. Military rewards were not to include a political preëminence. In addition to that, there was an assumption that when American soldiers went to France they must disappear from public view. The people at home were not to know what they were doing for fear, it is to be supposed, that the enemy might. The enemy learned plenty but the American people knew little. Here at home the people were thus prepared to believe that American troops, altho doing their duty, were necessarily contributing but a small part to the allied effort. Our army was, of course, largely an extemporized one and Americans were quite prepared to understand that it might not operate as smoothly or effectually as the British and French veterans.

Gen. Pershing's firm refusal to permit the American troops to be used as colonial replacements in British and French commands and his insistence that the American army remain an American army infuriated Lloyd George, Gen. Wilson, the British chief of staff, and Clemenceau. Unable to assume command of the American troops, the British and French war rulers became insolent, contemptuous, and established the legend that the American participation was negligible, that the troops, altho fresh, were not asked to make the sacrifices that their worn-out British and French comrades in arms had to face, and that they would not fight.

This outrageous version has persisted until of late the American soldiers have become thoroly tired of it. American biographers and American commanders have come out of the shell of reticence and are demanding that the world know the truth. As Gen. Summerall said, it was at Cantigny that the American army first stopped the German drive in the spring of 1918, and it was at Soissons in July that the enemy was driven back across the Marne by the 1st and 2d divisions when the war seemed lost and the German drive unstoppable.

As Gen. Summerall said: "English writers agree in calling it the turning point of the war and one of the great decisive battles of the world, but ignore American participation." Then followed what the general calls America's greatest battle, the Meuse-Argonne, in which the most difficult terrain was assigned to American troops and, altho Clemenceau's bitterness reached new heights in his criticism of the American divisions, the victory was won.

Gen. Summerall was the greatest of the combat generals. He commanded the 1st artillery brigade at Cantigny, the 1st division at Soissons, St. Mihiel, and the early days of the Argonne, and the 5th army corps when it broke the German line in November.

Gen. Summerall puts his finger on one reason for the success of the campaign of belittlement when he speaks of the unreasonable censorship which deprived the American people of the knowledge of what their soldiers were doing.

There was a good reason after the war for disparagement of the American effort. Part of that reason could be found in the debts and part of it in the resolve of the allied statesmen to ignore the broader justice of the war aims, which had been promulgated as the humane objectives of the conflict. It was made to appear that the American contribution had not been a military force, but money, and that therefore the loans should be canceled in recognition of the fact that the fighting had been done by the debtors in our own war. The conspiracy would have succeeded if the American soldiers had not decided at last that the campaign of slander and belittlement had gone too far and that the truth should be told.

FASTER SCHEDULES.

Announcements of new train services are becoming more frequent of late. Every few days we are invited by some railroad to view a newer, faster, safer, and more comfortable Rocket, Mercury, Zephyr, etc. These euphonious and descriptive names symbolize a new order and indicate a rejuvenation of the railway industry brought about by the competitive American system of private initiative.

THE TRIBUNE's campaign to speed up passenger and freight traffic, with increased safety and lowered costs, has produced gratifying results during the last ten years. The map in the lower right hand corner of this page shows the measure of this accomplishment. Distances to and from Chicago have been shortened by reduction of the time factor. Los Angeles has been moved eastward to a point in Arizona, Denver to Fairmont, Neb.; Minneapolis to Black River Falls, Wis., and New York City westward to Schenectady, or Middletown, Pa. Detroit is considerably nearer. This has been done by speeding up train service, increasing comfort of passengers without sacrificing safety, and with a reduction in cost to the traveler.

The benefits to Chicago of this improvement are incalculable. Its geographical location in the heart of the nation is fortunate. It is renowned as the great central market and the ideal convention city. Its location is largely responsible for the fact that its Columbian Exposition in 1893 has never been equaled as a world's fair, and the financial success of its Century of Progress in 1933 and 1934 is a marked contrast to the two shows operating in San Francisco and New York this year. Faster train schedules increase Chicago's trading area by shrinking the continent toward its center. The city's increase in prosperity is a natural consequence. The North Western's streamlined "400" [400 miles in 400 minutes] carried over 50 per cent more passengers last month than it did a year ago.

With railroads running on double track, protected by two-level crossings, a fenced-in right of way, and automatic train controls, there is much room for further improvement in service without the sacrifice of safety. The map indicates that Miami, for example, is almost as far away from Chicago in point of time in 1939 as it was ten years ago. Why does Chicago have to defer to New York in this improvement? New York is 1,388 miles from Miami and has a train service of 26 hours 30 minutes, an average of 52.4 miles an hour. Chicago is 1,434 miles from the southern playground and it takes 31 hours and 50 minutes by fastest of trains to travel the distance, an average of only 45.1 miles an hour. Many of our western trains now average 65 miles. If a 60-miles-per-hour schedule were adopted to Florida it should be possible to leave Chicago one morning and arrive in Palm Beach or Miami the next. Southern railroads radiating out of Chicago are behind the parade. They will have to learn from their western friends that "traffic follows the service."

LACES AND STAYS.

It appears that we are going to have the wasp waist with us. Why a lady desires to look as much like an insect as possible is beyond masculine understanding, but a quick glance at the fashion plates indicates what may be expected. No one seems to know why. An animated hourglass wearing one of those hats can only with greatest difficulty be contemplated as a thing of beauty.

But, so far as we can discover, the new corsets are not intended for decoration. They are a kind of container to give the illusion that there isn't as much of the lady as there really is. In a belligerent nation abroad such fashion would be understandable, since a lady can neither eat nor drink so much when laced up. The innovation here may presage some rigorous days revealed only to the intuition of women.

Early peoples wore corsets or girdles for ornamentation and utility. The laced corsage of the Minoan women was visible and possessed a kind of beauty. The girdle of the Caribs was considered as handsome as ear plugs and slit lips. The Babylonians and Egyptians found snug tunics useful as harness from which to suspend other clothing.

The employment of corsets to mold the human body to insect lines rather than to adorn it appears to first have been a plot by Queen Elizabeth. As is well known, she had practically no waist. With queenly guile she took to the stays, and soon all the ladies of the land were lacing and groaning.

Elizabeth had her reasons, but surely there is no need of such torture today. One is not beautiful when looking like a pretzel, nor are wasp waists healthful. The only thing that can be said for them is that they might end jitterbugging.

Editorial of the Day

THE RIGHTS OF LABOR.

[Detroit News.]

Tracy M. Doll, the union leader, said when he was sentenced by Judge Webster for violating an injunction regulating the picketing of an industrial plant that he regarded himself as defending the rights of labor against the use of injunctions in labor disputes.

The rights of labor, however, do not exceed the rights enjoyed by any other citizens or groups of citizens. If any group repeatedly assembled for any reason anywhere in the city in a manner calculated to intimidate or interfere with other citizens, injunctive relief would be in order. The purposes of the group, however laudable, could give them no right to tamper with the rights of others. There has to be some kind of relief in such cases, and where no statute exists to safeguard the rights of others the job is up to the courts.

Leaving it to the courts to regulate picketing is not desirable, we can agree with Mr. Doll. But in the absence of statutory regulation there is no alternative—unless you are prepared to concede to any group calling themselves "pickets" a special right to trespass on others' rights.

Apparently that is what Mr. Doll means when he speaks of the rights of labor, his union having shown no willingness to let picketing be regulated by statute.

MR. PEPYS' FAVORITE PLAY.

13th Nov.—To see "Hamlet," every word of it as printed in the book I have read so often, not trimmed and pared to make an actor's holiday; and did marvel because it seemed like a new play, or almost, and better than ever. This was an event of a lifetime, for I had never seen the great tragedy done this way before, and mayhap never shall again; and I did come away uplifted of spirit, thinking, "Here is the theater as it was in its glory, before it became the puny and soulless thing it is today."

This Mr. Evans who acted the Dane is a young man of much mettle, no taller than David Garrick and with the same fire and eloquence of speech. He is a gayer Hamlet than most, refusing to wear the inky cloak, but garnishing his mourning habit with silver ornaments, becoming a prince in their richness. In all ways I liked him as much as any Hamlet I have seen, and could find no quarrel to pick with any of his doings except his saying the word "caviare" with a French accent, which it never had. He has invented many new pieces of stage business, all of them in reason; and he has found, which is seldom done, suitable players for the wanton queen [although she has a little German accent] and the oily king.

Pleased was I, too, to find so many young people in the audience who were seeing the play for the first time in life and thinking it wonderful, as it is. Between acts, in the lobbies, they buzzed with excitement, as if they had been taken into a new world, and I thought, "You never see people come out of a movie so stirred in their minds and hearts."

MANY REMINDERS.

You remind me of
Sleepy rains, cutting contented patterns on night's roof of tin—
Patient mountains, raising snow capped hands in evening curfew—
Restless winds, whistling a staccato challenge to existence—
Frothing surfs, interminably autographing cliff clad shores—
Spangled nights, adorned in star shaped sapphires—
Notes that tremble from too highly strung violins—
Fertile soils, made fragrant in the planting—
And all exciting, long remembered things,
You remind me of.

The sudden disappearance of Thanksgiving day, and its subsequent recovery.

Among the Moderns.

A very young modern recently went to a piano recital for the first time. His impressions were as follows:

"There was no master of ceremonies to announce the numbers, so I didn't know what was being played. I thought the performer was very impolite, because he just came in and sat down at the piano without noticing the audience. Alec Templeton was there, but the star didn't say, 'We have a distinguished musician with us this afternoon,' and invite Alec up to play a piece. Yes, he was impolite."

WE WILL GO GLADLY.

When we are old and this hot blood has slowed
Its eager pace, and our dark hair is gray
And scant, we will not mind the darkening road
And when our children and their children say
That we are sad, for all our life's behind,
We will smile gently on their tolerant talk,
As we recall in secret ecstasy of mind
The splendid youth thru which today we walk!
Well might our children envy could they know
The deathlessness of love: this miracle of hand
That touches hand so knowingly; this glow
Of eyes deep into eyes that understand.
If our children ever know a love like ours
We will go gladly through the quickening hours.

Origin of Pumpernickel?

There is a difference of opinion regarding the origin of the word "pumpernickel." Some claim that it was named after Pumper, a baker, who supposedly invented this dark visaged affinity of limburger cheese and sold the loaves for a nickel. Others have this version:

A French nobleman traveling through Germany on the back of a horse named Nickel stopped at a country inn for lunch. When they set the black bread of the countryside before him he waived it aside disdainfully, exclaiming: "Bon pour Nickel."

To the Germans this sounded like pumpernickel.

Mark Twain's Opinion of Poker.

Opie Read told me, on one of the several afternoons I spent with him, that Mark Twain had once cautioned him about an overfondness for poker.

"But poker reveals character," Read told him. "I am a newspaper man and it is important that I study character."

"Nonsense," said Mark Twain. "Poker reveals nothing but the slyness, the meanness, and the dishonesty in a man. Studying character at a poker game will not help you as a newspaper man. I once knew a doctor in Pike county who had fits. He knew more about fits than any other man in those parts. But it didn't help him as a doctor."

KEEP YOUR HEAD—INTACT.

IN these days of numerous automobile mishaps head injuries are common. What appears to be a minor bump may on careful examination be revealed as a fracture. In other instances, hemorrhage into the brain or the spinal cord may be experienced, although there may be no evidence whatever of damage to the cranium. Occasionally fluid from a small ruptured vessel may accumulate beneath the brain covering [the dura] with subsequent pressure on the nervous tissue itself.

Perhaps we can understand the sequence of events better if we will recall what happens when a muscle receives a hard blow. Fibers are torn, blood escapes from the capillaries, and swelling ensues. As a rule, recuperation comes with the lapse of a brief period of time during which absorption takes place and the parts return to normal. It is plain, therefore, that should tiny bleeding sites arise within the skull as a consequence of a severe jab—for example, a pugilist's punch—there may be no external trouble altho unconsciousness will come on if the oozing is at all extensive.

Several reports have been published which demonstrate that what is termed "boxer's hemorrhage" is not rare. Enough proof has been presented to show that in a match a participant who becomes groggy should be withdrawn immediately, as added shocks may jeopardize life. One of the episodes cited happened in a college gymnasium. The head of one of the contestants was struck several times with a gloved fist. Coma came on which persisted for several hours, altho there was no bleeding into the spinal canal. Recovery followed within a few days with the absorption of what must have been escaped fluid from the circulation. Had the contest been allowed to proceed, leakage probably would have increased to the stage where the patient would have been in danger.

A 45 year old man was brought to a hospital recently. He had been whacked on top of the skull by a blackjack wielded by a footpad. When the police arrived he was unconscious. He did not regain his senses until 36 hours later, and again, as in the previous case, the spinal fluid was clear. A fair amount of swelling of the brain, however, was probably present, as the pressure of the liquid in the spinal canal was greater. X-ray disclosed no sign of anything wrong with the bony cranium. The jar, nevertheless, was sufficient to break a number of capillaries, causing in turn considerable bleeding.

After an accident any one who seems to be dazed and not completely in possession of his faculties should be watched critically for at least two or three days. Because of the confined space in which hemorrhage occurs the chances are that it will stop of its own accord, and we need not be concerned about anemia. We are deeply anxious, however, because vital structures may be compressed. As every prize fighter knows, his defense lies in protecting his head. Body blows are not nearly so likely to prove disabling. In amateur affairs especially, great care will be demanded if we are to avoid untoward eventualities.

Most of us have learned that every disabled person should be handled gently, particularly if the victim is comatose. In transporting the individual to the nearest hospital the head should be supported. In other words, it should not be allowed to roll from side to side or to drop backward at an angle. There is no advantage in rushing the patient to the operating room or to the X-ray department—as the main objectives are to preserve warmth and to make certain that adequate fluids are provided. Quiet is the order of the day. Examinations may well be delayed unless indications point clearly to the necessity for the removal of a fragment of bone that may be irritating soft nerve structures.

Watchful waiting is life saving and is always to be preferred in these cases to bustling interference.

MIGRAINE REMEDIES.

J. E. M. writes: I have frequent spells of migraine. Is there any known remedy for this condition?

REPLY.

There are many remedies. Unfortunately, a plan of management helpful in one case may be of no value in another. In general, diet and certain drugs are advocated. Send a stamped, self-addressed envelope for detailed suggestions.

IF PROPERLY USED, YES.

I. Y. writes: My two sons have ichthyosis. This summer—while they were at the shore exposed to the sun—the skin of their bodies was as soft as silk. Now it is dry and cracked. Would a sun lamp be helpful?

REPLY.

The daily use of ultraviolet light—properly controled—is of definite value.

THE WORLD WAR 25 YEARS AGO

[From Tribune Files.]

Nov. 14, 1914.

[109th day of world war; 75th of present war.]

LONDON.—After a stubborn defense, the Germans finally gave up Dixmude on the western front. The kaiser's troops stood fast under a devastating shrapnel bombardment, but fled when a large force of French marines charged with bayonets. German attempts at Ypres failed to rout British troops and their efforts to hammer a wedge into British forces at La Basse with heavy artillery also were futile.

BRUSSELS.—Heavy losses were suffered by Belgian forces at Nieuport, on the sea coast, when German marines landed from warships.

BERLIN.—It was announced that German bombing planes had reached their objectives at two British seaports and had dropped their explosives. [The British refused to confirm or deny this communique.]

VIENNA.—Satisfactory progress against the Servians was announced by the army command. The Austrians carried their objectives along the river Sava, capturing 4,300 Servians in one encounter, it was added. [From other sources there were indications that the Vienna bulletin may have been highly colored to encourage Austrian troops.]

QUEER SORT OF NEUTRALITY.

Chicago, Nov. 11.—After having saved America's neutrality in Europe by repealing the arms embargo, Senator Pittman is now quoted as favoring an embargo against Japan to be put into effect as soon as the Japanese-American commercial treaty expires. Obviously Senator Pittman cannot give as his reason for wishing an anti-Japanese embargo that he wants to maintain United States neutrality in the far east. The only reason he has given so far is that he wishes to protect American interests in China. But how reasonable is his course if this is true?

American exports to Japan amount annually to about 250 million dollars; to China about 35 millions, or one-seventh as much. Total American investments in China have never been accurately estimated; most optimistic estimates place them at 400 millions, including the enormous mission properties. Is it rational that we should lose our trade with Japan, which in two years amounts to more than the total of all our investments in and trade with China? Senator Pittman should take a course in elementary mathematics before he attempts to engineer the United States into taking a course that may lead us into an unbelievably expensive and unnecessary war in the Pacific.

OLD CHINA HAND.

SAVE THE CIGARET FOIL.

Chicago, Nov. 11.—Merely a suggestion, but one which I believe worth passing along. We tried it in our office and it is surprising how quickly seemingly insignificant things become really worth while when hundreds are added together. Surprising, too, how enthused each person becomes over the increasing size of the collection once they get the spirit of the thing.

What I have in mind is, why can't each office having a number of employés place somewhere handy a box into which every one can toss his empty cigaret package instead of the waste basket. At the end of each week or month strip the tinfoil from each empty package, save until a sizable ball has been collected, then donate to some reputable charitable organization. Who knows but that some poor kid may have a new pair of shoes or a warm coat this winter? Who hasn't at some time seen a youngster's pride and self-respect perk up on the acquisition of something new and badly needed?

100 PER CENT PRO-BRITISH.

Lake Forest, Ill., Nov. 12.—Does Mrs. McLain, who would want to change Roosevelt road to Theodore Roosevelt road, know that a grandson of this former President of the United States is a student at Eton, England, and had renounced his American citizenship and joined the British air force to fight for that foreign country?

The Democratic as well as the Republican branch of the Roosevelt clan are 100 per cent pro-British and therefore un-American.

BELLFLOWERS ARE FOUND.

Chicago, Nov. 12.—Coming to the rescue of J. T. M.

As another elderly party whose grass roots are in Indiana, I, too, have been hunting long for Bellflower and Rambo apples. Two weeks ago I was driving in Ohio and noticed a signboard saying "Sweet cider and Rambo apples." I went up to the home of Mrs. E. R. Sherman [whose address is R. F. D. 1, Delaware, O.], where I purchased a gallon of wonderful cider and a peck each of Bellflower and Rambo apples. So you had better write Mrs. Sherman and have her send you some apples which will cause your mouth to water with the joy of away back when.

Wish I had some old-fashioned buckwheat cakes like ma used to "set" the night before.

SAYS THEY ARE OUTMODED.

Chicago, Nov. 11.—Let J. T. M., who sighs for Bellflower and Rambo apples, throw away his horse and come abreast of this streamlined age which has developed varieties far superior in flavor and texture to the long since outmoded varieties of apples for which he cries. Probably his wail is caused by the fact that apples cooned from a neighbor's orchard are flavored with the salt of romance which is quite lacking in fruit bought prosaically from the corner grocery store.

C. H. W.

Chicago, Nov. 11.—If J. T. M. will write to Ray Johnson of Holly, Mich., I believe he can get all the Bellflower apples his heart desires.

WHAT "TEDDY" WOULD HAVE DONE.

Eureka, Ill., Nov. 11.—President Roosevelt has branded as "sordid procedure" the publication by the Dies committee of the names of more than 500 government employés on the "membership and mailing list" of the American League for Peace and Democracy. The committee charged that the league was a "front" for communistic activity.

We can imagine what another Roosevelt would have done had this same condition arisen in his administration.

If Theodore Roosevelt, the red blooded 100 per cent American, could have had this opportunity he would have given Martin Dies and each member of the committee a gold medal.

Then he would have given orders that each member of the government employés who were on the "membership and mailing list" of the league be promptly kicked out into the middle of Pennsylvania avenue on their separate ears. There would have been no coddling for any communist by "Teddy" Roosevelt.

CAMPUS FOR WILSON JR.

Chicago, Nov. 7.—I understand the newly organized Armour institute will have a new campus and new buildings. Our south side needs a real home for its large Wilson Junior college. Why cannot our school board and the authorities of Armour institute arrive at some equitable plan whereby the entire Armour campus could be taken over bodily, with all of its splendid laboratories, lecture rooms, athletic grounds, etc.? Our Wilson Junior college deserves its own campus, instead of being squeezed, as at present, into the same quarters with a teachers' college, a high school, and a grammar school.

Engineer Predicts Sharp Drop in Death Toll.

BY HAL FOUST.

Benefits to be expected from Chicago's proposed superhighway system, and some of the plans for its construction, were told at a City club luncheon in the Sherman hotel yesterday by Charles E. De Leuw, consulting engineer for the city.

"From $110,000,000 worth of initial improvements," said the engineer, "we expect a reduction of 80 deaths a year in the city's traffic toll. Motorists using the facilities will save $16,000,000 a year in operating costs and in time saved."

Defends Congress Street Plan.

De Leuw defended his $32,000,000 Congress street plan, now pending before the city council. He pointed out that Secretary of Interior Ickes, in approving an $18,000,000 PWA subway grant, had required that the city submit plans for the development.

De Leuw replied to criticisms that his superhighway as such would end on the east at Canal street, a mile from the center of the central business district, because of inadequate connections with much of the downtown area.

"We're not attempting to build a connection for the west side with the north side or with the south side," he said. "Our studies show that an inconsequential volume of traffic would want to travel between the west side superhighway and the Outer drive.

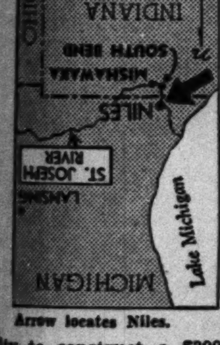
Increase Street Capacities.

"We would distribute the bulk of the eastbound Congress street traffic between Racine avenue and Canal street. It would filter northward over existing streets to its destinations, some of it using its present bridge entrances into the loop.

"Other eastbound traffic would cross the river on a new Congress street bridge and then most of it would filter north on existing streets. These existing streets can carry much more than they do at present. Their capacities can be improved by better regulation and better surfacing. The capacities will be considerably increased when east and west street car lines in the loop are removed from the surface and placed in subways."

COURT REJECTS PLEA OF NILES IN POLLUTION CASE

Lansing, Mich., Nov. 13 (AP).—The city of Niles today lost its suit in the Ingham county Circuit court for an injunction to restrain the state stream control commission from compelling it to cease pollution of the St. Joseph river.



Arrow locates Niles.

The commission on March 15, 1938, ordered the city to construct a $300,000 sewage disposal plant and place it in operation not later than May 1, 1941.

Judge Leland W. Carr dismissed the city's bill of complaint. He declared there was no evidence that the commission's order was arbitrary, unreasonable, or otherwise in excess of the statutory authority vested in it.

The court commented that there was much force in the commission's position. The commission held that it cannot proceed with contemplated federal court litigation intended to compel the cities of South Bend and Mishawaka, Ind., to cease pollution of the same river until it has compelled Michigan cities to do the same.

The St. Joseph river flows from Michigan into Indiana, then back into this state.

More than 98% of the city's automobile fatalities are of a nature physically impossible on an urban superhighway.

DIES AS CAR HITS PIECE OF STEEL HAULED IN TRUCK

Charles L. Nichols, 30 years old, a salesman, was killed yesterday when he drove his automobile into a knife-like end of a piece of sheet steel which protruded from the rear of a truck on highway 4A, three miles north of Lockport.

The piece of steel smashed the windshield and struck Nichols. State Highway Policeman Clifford Burton said there were no skid marks at the scene of the accident, indicating that Nichols probably had fallen asleep at the wheel. The truck was driven by William I. Alice, 3108 North avenue. Nichols lived at 4013 North Keeler avenue.

Mrs. Helen Lynch, 61, of 822 West 55th street, was fatally injured and her grandson, George Martin, 2½, was bruised when they were run down by a truck at 57th and Halsted streets. She was carrying the child in her arms. Mrs. Lynch died in the Englewood hospital. The boy suffered only a nose bruise. Joe Moss, 4546 South Honore street, the truck driver, said she stepped in front of his truck.

Frank Schrom, 78 years old, 1358 North Wolcott avenue, died early today in the Swedish Covenant hospital of injuries suffered Oct. 8 when he was struck by a car at Montrose and Springfield avenues. The driver was Frank Savero, 4201 Ainslie street.

Jacob Leicken, 66, a house painter, was killed when his automobile was struck by a southbound North Shore electric train at the Beach street crossing in Benton township, two miles south of Zion in Lake county. Leicken lived on Beach street in the township.

Frank Sroka, 44, at 642 Drummond place, a machinist, died in the Henrotin hospital of head injuries incurred Oct. 14 when he was thrown from an automobile in front of 917 North La Salle street.

Michael Labedz, 53, of 13408 Baltimore avenue, died in County hospital of injuries incurred Tuesday night when he was struck by an automobile in front of his home. The driver was Ted Polichnowski of Hammond, Ind.

Up to 4 p. m. yesterday 753 persons had been killed by automobiles in Cook county since Jan. 1. Of these 578 were killed in Chicago, where 19,304 were injured in the same period.

IT WILL PAY YOU TO TAKE A CLOSE LOOK AT NEW YORK

New York is a city of nearly seven million people. They buy more of practically everything that is advertised than any other market in the country. Yet because New York is the country's biggest market, it does not necessarily present the biggest selling problem.

Because in reality, New York is a city of many markets. Some are highly profitable for advertisers. Some are less profitable.

To know which of these markets-within-a-market are the most profitable for you to sell, look at New York through the studies constantly being made by The New York Times Market Research Department. They show conclusively that generally advertised products—even low-price, staple commodities—sell faster where family incomes are higher—and that there are enough high-income families in New York to make them the most profitable major volume market.

For example: 1000 high-income families buy 30% more cold cereal than low-income families . . . 72% more soap chips . . . four times as much carbonated beverages.

New York's high and medium income families account for 65% of all canned soups, 71% of all canned corned-beef hash, 83% of all canned pineapple juice sold in the city. And it is important to note that these two groups are served by only 46% of all the grocery stores in the city.

With one of the largest newspaper circulations in America, The New York Times is the profitable medium to use for profitable selling in New York. That is because The Times concentrates advertising among the high and medium income families . . . where advertising concentrates on selling more for more profit.

HODES ASSAILED FOR CONFUSION ON MILK ORDINANCE

Council Committee Blasts Change of Front.

Corporation Counsel Hodes was lambasted yesterday by members of the city council health committee for failing to recognize an ordinance which he previously had approved. The committee members also criticized him for reversing his own legal opinion. The criticism concerned a proposed ordinance prepared by one of Hodes' assistants last May and stamped with his approval at that time.

At the last meeing of the city council, Oct. 30, when the proposed ordinance—which would permit the sale of specially prepared enzyme modified milk—was being discussed, Hodes said he never had seen the ordinance. His declaration followed a statement by Ald. Joseph C. Ross [40th], health committee chairman, that the ordinance "came from the corporation counsel's office."

"Mr. Hodes was confused because the proposed ordinance in the council chambers had the new city code numbers on it and he didn't recognize it," Walter Schaefer, assistant corporation counsel who drew the original ordinance, told the health committee yesterday.

Shows Copies of Ordinance.

Ald. Ross showed the committee copies of the original ordinance stamped with Hodes' approval. Schaefer then said his office since has decided that the ordinance is too broad, that it delegates too much power to the board of health, and that it is not a good ordinance.

"Why didn't your seniors decide that when you drew it?" Ross asked.

"We've had a liberal education in board of health ordinances since then," said Schaefer. "The question of power being delegated to the board is being attacked in the court."

"If that's the fact, you had better go thru the entire code, because all health ordinances delegate power to the board," said Ross. "After all, when we get a letter approved by the corporation counsel it is embarrassing to have him question our integrity on the floor of the council."

Seeks to Clear Record.

Ald. Abraham H. Cohen [4th] suggested that Hodes owed Ross an apology for declaring he had not seen the proposed ordinance. Ross said he did not want that but only wanted to have the committee record clear.

The committee then discussed the specially prepared milk which is processed with powdered enzyme taken from the pancreas of cattle. Earl Nessler, representing the American Seal Kap company, a dairy industry supply firm which plans to market the milk, said it will cost dairies approximately one-quarter of a cent a quart and will be sold for 1 cent a quart more than regular cow's milk.

It also was brought out in the meeting that another specially processed milk is being sold in Chicago without an authorizing ordinance.

The committee voted to withhold action on the proposed ordinance to permit the sale of enzyme modified milk until Hodes and representatives of the health department can meet with the committee and explain the ordinance and the reason unauthorized milk is being sold.

3 HUNTERS SHOT OVER WEEK-END; ONE A CHICAGOAN

Three hunters were wounded seriously in accidents over the week-end. Two occurred near Aurora. Angelo Puccini, 12 years old, of Morris, lost his right leg by amputation after a wound from a shotgun charge shattered the knee. Lawrence Jones, 43, of 1900 South Schovelin street, Berwyn, was in St. Joseph Mercy hospital after being wounded in the right leg. Jones and Elmer Alson, 621 Hardin avenue, Aurora, were hunting on a farm near Little Rock. A wire broke as they climbed a fence and as they fell both their shotguns were discharged. One of the charges struck Jones. Henry Norack, 23, of 9733 Avenue N, accidentally shot himself in the chest while hunting Sunday near West Union, in Clark county. He was taken to the Paris, Ill., hospital.

New York, Nov. 13 [Special].—Alfred E. Breaks Up Statues

[Associated Press Wirephoto.]

Mrs. Adelaide Johnson, sculptress, looking at picture of early Greek statue in her Washington studio.

Washington, D. C., Nov. 13 (AP).—Mrs. Adelaide Johnson, who has spent a lifetime modeling the leaders of the American feminist movement, is busy undoing part of that lifetime's work—with a sledge hammer.

The elderly sculptress does not have $1,000 to pay taxes and interest on her studio-home here. No one will buy her statues. A United States marshal served an eviction notice on her last week. So she is methodically chipping and breaking the statuary. "I'll destroy every piece," she said.

One of Mrs. Johnson's earlier works, a group statue of several feminist leaders, is in the capitol. Her bust of Susan A. Anthony is in the Metropolitan museum, New York. But in late years the sales have been few.

It was estimated that Mrs. Johnson had statuary in her home worth $100,000, and that a dozen statues had been destroyed, among them being likenesses of Lucretia Mott and Elizabeth Cady Stanton.

Clear Hospital in Death of Girl, 7, from Burns

Deputy Coroner Edmund K. English yesterday recommended that facilities for treating emergency burn cases be installed in the Chicago State hospital. His recommendation was made after he had exonerated the hospital of any blame for directing that Barbara Jankowski, 7 years old, 6218 Waveland avenue, be taken to Belmont hospital, four miles away, after she was severely burned Saturday. Physicians at the state hospital, who lacked facilities for treating the child, refused to examine her injuries so they would not be exposed to air. She died Sunday. A coroner's jury returned a verdict of accidental death at yesterday's inquest.

MOVIE DIRECTOR KILLED AS AUTO PLUNGES 700 FEET

Hollywood, Cal., Nov. 13 (AP).—An automobile's plunge from a bluff overlooking Hollywood into a ravine bottom 700 feet below cut short today the career of George Nicholls Jr., 42 years old, prominent motion picture director. With him when the car rolled off into Coldwater canyon was his sister-in-law, Mrs. Acta Barnett, 25. Both were thrown from the car.

Mrs. Barnett told police that while she and Nicholls were parked on the point the automobile began to move. Before she could gain control of the car, which she was driving, it slid over the embankment. Mrs. Barnett said she was thrown clear of the car about 200 feet down the slope, where she lay unconscious for several hours before she was able to summon help.

Nicholls, since 1934 a director for R. K. O. studio, brought Anne Shirley to stardom. Currently he was directing a film starring Richard Dix and Chester Morris. He is survived by his widow and two children, George III., 16, and Sue, 9.

M'ADOO PREDICTS ROOSEVELT WILL BE RENOMINATED

San Francisco, Cal., Nov. 13 (AP).—William Gibbs McAdoo, whose swing to Franklin D. Roosevelt gave Roosevelt the Democratic presidential nomination in 1932, said on his return from Washington today "there was a general concensus that Roosevelt will be the nominee in 1940."

McAdoo, secretary of the treasury under President Wilson, former United States senator, and now chairman of the board of the American President Steamship Lines, said he would support the President for a third term.

In 1932, McAdoo as head of the California delegation to the Democratic national convention in Chicago, broke the voting deadlock when he delivered the delegation votes to Roosevelt. The delegation had been pledged to John Nance Garner, now the Vice President. Garner also is being mentioned for the presidential nomination next year.

MRS. MARGUERITE OTTEN.

Mrs. Marguerite Otten, 28 years old, went before Judge Philip Finnegan yesterday with these complaints against her husband, Theodore:

He wouldn't allow her to shop without his permission. He wouldn't permit her to use nail polish or to wear dresses measuring more than 12 inches from the ground. He dictated her hair coiffures. He forbade her to smoke or to go bowling.

Judge Finnegan issued an injunction restraining Otten from disposing of his bank account and insurance pending further hearing on Mrs. Otten's suit for separate maintenance. She lives at 6050 Rhodes avenue and was represented by Attorney Sol R. Friedman.

LAKE DIVERSION PLEA UNCHANGED BY SEAWAY PACT

Attorney General John E. Cassidy said yesterday that his scheduled plea to the United States Supreme court for liberalization of a court order limiting diversion from Lake Michigan at Chicago will not be affected by changes being made in the proposed St. Lawrence waterway treaty.

When defeated in the United States senate in 1934, the treaty fixed the diversion at 1,500 cubic feet of water a second. Army engineers recently recommended diversion of 5,000 feet a second for navigation purposes on the Illinois waterway. Reports from Washington indicate that the revived treaty is being rewritten to permit increased diversion.

H. B. Ramey, Chicago sanitary district engineer, said the treaty should not place any limit on diversion at Chicago. He added, however, that the sanitary district will take no action in the matter. The Supreme court ruling that no water could be taken for sanitation purposes eliminates this phase from the controversy, he said.

WHY BECOME BALD?

Heed these Danger Signals—Avoid the Road to Baldness

BALDNESS can be prevented! When your scalp becomes sick, obvious danger signals such as (1) thinning hair, (2) itching scalp, and (3) dandruff, warn you that a baldness-producing condition exists. You can prevent baldness by heeding these warnings and ridding your scalp of the local causes of hair-loss.

More than a quarter-million persons have avoided baldness by permitting The Thomas' to rid their scalps of local scalp ills. Thomas treatment is based on the sound principle of first determining the exact cause of hair loss and then overcoming that specific cause. Your scalp itch soon ceases, dandruff disappears, abnormal hair-fall stops, and new hair grows on thin and bald spots.

Consult (in private, of course) with a Thomas expert today. He'll examine your scalp—without charge or obligation—and tell you exactly what can be done to help you have a good head of healthy hair.

HOSPITAL OPENS A PAVILION FOR MENTAL CASES

No Iron Bars Used in New Wing at St. Luke's.

BY MARCIA WINN.

No iron bars protect the windows of the new sixth floor pavilion at St. Luke's hospital. Each window is merely screened.

This may sound just as it should be, but the new pavilion happens to be that of the department of neurology, a 25 bed unit for the treatment of the mentally ill. This is a new venture for a general hospital, experimented with at St. Luke's since January, 1938, but opened on a large scale on Nov. 1. The theory behind its operation is illustrated by the screens at its windows.

Made of Steel Wire.

The screens look like ordinary wire screens, a little shiny, but that might be attributed to newness. As a matter of fact, they are of stainless steel wire, so constructed that nothing less powerful than a chisel could sever their strands. Springs, built into the edges and frames of the screens even give them resiliency, so that a patient, trying to force himself thru one, still might think them ordinary screens. Yet they are as strong as iron bars.

In the neurological pavilion, as it is called, a patient, neurotic or psychotic, receives the same form of treatment that he would receive in a sanitarium or insane asylum. Yet the pavilion looks like another wing of the hospital, as it is. He may enter it for treatment without the stigma of insanity.

All types of treatment will be given. Mental complications arising in the course of a physical disease, such as the delirium of a diabetic, will be treated as a service of the hospital. On the other hand, acute mental cases may be treated without legal commitment to an institution.

Use Shock Therapy Treatment.

Shock therapy, the use of insulin and metrazol, is given with Prof. Ladislaw Van Meduna, originator of the metrazol shock therapy, serving as an adviser. Formerly of Budapest, he now is engaged in research at Loyola university.

Hydrotherapy is given, thru needle spray showers and continuous baths [a patient fastened in a bath of continually running water], as well as fever therapy.

For the latter, the inductotherm fever cabinet, in which the patient is enclosed while an artificial fever is induced, is used. It is principally for general paresis and other syphilitic diseases of the brain or spinal cord, but it may be used for the treatment as well of multiple sclerosis, chorea, or dementia precox.

Canaries Sing in Corridor.

The department has three private rooms, nine two bed rooms, and two "quiet" rooms. The latter are soundproof. All corridors and rooms, however, have soundproof ceilings. The walls are a soft, cheerful peach. Canaries sing in the corridor, a patient plays the violin beside his bed and a ping-pong table is set up in the recreation room.

Until five years ago, the department would have been an impossibility in a general hospital. The discovery of such forms of treatment as metrazol or insulin shock therapy, however, effected such quick recoveries from mental disorders that the innovation was made a natural event.

THINK 'PENNILESS MAN'S' ESTATE IS WORTH A MILLION

A possibility that the estate of Frederick D. Michael, 75 years old, who died on Dec. 28, 1938, may reach $1,000,000 was told yesterday by Jack Rubens, chief investigator for the public administrator's office. Michael was believed to have been almost penniless when he died, but last August Rubens announced he had discovered assets totaling $250,000 deposited by Michael in various parts of the country.

Yesterday Rubens told of a further find—$17,000 in securities and jewelry in a safety deposit box in the Security First National bank of Los Angeles. And there may be assets in other vaults in Los Angeles and San Francisco, Rubens declared.

"I understand that in 1929 Michael showed a letter to Jesse W. Barrett, a St. Louis lawyer," Rubens said. "This letter, from a bank, disclosed that Michael had credit for $800,000 and said that with his other holdings he might be worth more than a million dollars."

After Michael's death of a heart attack in the Harrison hotel, 57 East Harrison street, a will was found leaving his estate to a grandnephew, a namesake, who lives in Greensboro, N. C. Michael was once a hotel owner in St. Louis. What prompted him to spread his assets to different cities and to live in frugal circumstances has not been determined.

Isn't This Why You Are Constipated?

What do you eat for breakfast? Coffee, toast, maybe some eggs? What do you eat for lunch and dinner? White bread, meat, potatoes? It's little wonder you're constipated. You probably don't eat enough "bulk." And "bulk" doesn't mean the amount you eat. It's a kind of food that forms a soft "bulky" mass in the intestines and helps a movement. If this is your trouble, may we suggest a crunchy toasted cereal—Kellogg's All-Bran—for breakfast. All-Bran is a natural food, not a medicine—but it's particularly rich in "bulk." Being so, it can help you not only to get regular but to keep regular. You won't have to endure constipation, you can avoid it. Eat All-Bran daily, drink plenty of water, and life will be brighter for you! Made by Kellogg's in Battle Creek.

Fifty-two Years Ago . . .

Dr. Frederick Stock will have memories this afternoon when he, John Weicher, Edmund Kurtz, and the Chicago Symphony orchestra play the Brahms concerto for violin and violoncello in Orchestra hall. October, 1887. . . . Cologne. . . . The première of the Brahms concerto, with Johannes Brahms himself conducting and Joseph Joachim and Robert Hausmann as soloists. . . . And in the audience a 15 year old lad, absorbed, attentive. A lad named Frederick Stock. Later Stock, no longer a student, played the concerto as a violinist in the Cologne orchestra under Brahms.

Members of the women's committee of the orchestra might well select violas for the bouquets to be given the debutantes whose musical coming of age is to be celebrated at a dinner before the concert Thursday evening when Egon Petri plays the long awaited Busoni concerto. The flowers to be chosen for them are "to carry the spirit of the musical debut." Violas—with a bow in Mr. Stock's direction. A nice flower for a bouquet, anyhow, with their fragile, pansylike faces. Hand bouquets of lavender and white violas.

Thrills.

Indianapolis mile. . . . Stew Cabrito, Texas style. . . . Judy Garland's guile, Mona Lisa's smile.

Hitler in exile. . . . Dorothy Lamour, Anne Sheridan, and Hedy LaMarr in single file. . . . That rainbow seen through a defile.

NOVEMBER TWILIGHT.

Autumn throws
A mauve-rose
Veil around the shoulders
Of the twilight air,
And blows

Map Changes.

Nearly every one who encounters Mr. Frederick McNally, of the firm of mapmakers, asks him if it isn't a problem keeping maps up to date on account of the rapidly changing boundary lines in Europe. Mr. McNally makes a surprising answer. Great as those changes have been, correcting European maps is a comparatively simple problem compared with the changes that must be made every year on American maps.

There are hundreds of such corrections, sometimes caused by changes of names of towns, often by the disappearance of towns altogether, as sometimes happens when a company moves a business that created the town in the first place. Surprising idea to us. We thought only tornadoes and earthquakes could remove a town from the map.

Sheila Cudahy Will Have New Year's Eve Party

BY JUDITH CASS.

THE Lake Forest debutantes are certain to have a gay time on New Year's eve, for Mr. and Mrs. Vaughan C. Spalding and Mr. and Mrs. Frank E. Wilhelm have planned a party for their niece, Miss Sheila Cudahy, for Sunday night, Dec. 31. It will be a dinner-dance at the Shoreacres club.

This is the first New Year's eve party for debutantes in several years. Altho there are dozens of parties on the last night of each year for subdebs and older people, the buds and their beaux usually are left to shift for themselves on this traditionally festive evening.

Miss Cudahy will make her formal bow to society just two nights earlier at a ball to be given by her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Edward A. Cudahy Jr., at the Blackstone hotel. Miss Cudahy is not at home to enjoy all the season's festivities, for she is at Bryn Mawr college. Her mother just has returned to their Lake Forest home after an absence of several months because of ill health. She is recuperating nicely after an operation.

Roller Skating Party for Grace Shumway.

A different sort of a party will be given for Debutante Grace Shumway on Friday, Nov. 24, by her cousin, Miss Mary Adams, and the latter's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Cyrus H. Adams. The hosts have taken the House on the Roof at the Hotel Sherman for a dinner party, after which they will take their 50 young guests to a roller skating rink on the west side. The evening will end with refreshments at the Adams home on Lake Shore drive.

Miss Shumway, who will return from Vassar college to spend the short Thanksgiving vacation with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Edward D. Shumway, in Lake Forest, will have another party during the few days she is at home. On Saturday, Nov. 25, another uncle and aunt, Mr. and Mrs. John Stuart, will entertain at dinner at the Casino and then take their guests to a theater. Miss Shumway takes the train that night to return to Poughkeepsie. Miss Anne Stuart, the R. Douglas Stuarts' debutante, will be an especial guest at the John Stuarts' party also.

Chicago's winter weather is so mild nowadays that it is difficult to count on there being enough snow and ice for skating or tobogganing, so Mrs. Harrison Manierre has decided to give a supper party for her debutante niece, Miss Caryl Harrison, instead of a winter sports luncheon.

Mrs. Manierre had planned to have the party on Sunday, Dec. 24, at the Onwentsia, but instead she will entertain at the Casino next Sunday. There will be music after supper for those who want to dance.

Issue Invitations for Assembly, Dec. 8.

Invitations to the Assembly on Friday, Dec. 8, at the Palmer House were received yesterday by the 1,000 men and women who annually are invited to this most exclusive and conservative ball. The governors have reserved the entire fourth floor of the hotel for the party, just as they did last year.

Ten thirty is the time designated on the invitations as the time for the ball to commence, but unless every one in social circles recently has become imbued with the idea of keeping early hours, not even the women in the receiving line will arrive until near midnight.

So far no governors have been elected to fill the places left vacant by the resignation of Harold F. McCormick, who is living in the west, and Wayne Chatfield Taylor, who has moved to Washington, D. C.

Maybe you're not aware of the state of your own elbows—but other people are, especially when you wear evening dress. Little "smoothers," used daily, make coarse, dingy elbow skin as smooth as satin.

This being about the dressiest season Chicago has known in almost a decade, it's no wonder we get many requests for information about beautifying the elbows that evening dresses reveal.

We have the dope, too. Elbows that look soiled and scaly all the time can be rehabilitated very easily. It's all done with the aid of little things called elbow "smoothers," which transform the scrubbiest elbow skin into a thing of satiny beauty.

These are little pads filled with almond meal and, we suspect, very fine pumice. You simply moisten the pad with warm water and scrub the elbow vigorously. The friction takes away all that dead skin that has become corrugated and grimy. After the scrubbing apply a little softening cream. Do this twice a day for a short time and you'll find, if you crane your neck to see them in your mirror, that the elbow dinginess has disappeared!

Most women could do with a little elbow beautifying. If you inspect yours closely you'll probably find that when your arm is outstretched the elbow area is anything but a treat to the eyes. No treat to the touch, either. That skin coarsens up unbelievably unless you have the habit of creaming and cleansing it well every day. Most of us don't have the habit.

The little elbow smoothers are simple to use. Once you've used a pad, keep it moistened until it's served its time—which is several days. Our method is to keep it beside the bath soap so the elbow-ritual won't be overlooked. ELEANOR NANGLE.

Good Morning!

Here is comedy, silken and sophisticated. You can't pick a fault with anything about it—acting, writing, dialog, staging, or direction. Not perfect, maybe . . . so few things in this world are . . . but a right smooth thing of its kind.

The "triangle" plot structure has its bones seductively covered with rather unusual story tapestry, into which golden threads of thought and a gentle philosophy are effectively introduced here and there.

The principal characters are a successful young business woman who enjoys and means to maintain her own independence, a gentleman from Bali who realizes that the lady just thinks she wants what she wants, a Metropolitan opera singer who loves the fair one, but only cares to wed her IF she really cares to wed him, which he doubts, having observed her carryings on with the gentleman from Bali, THE OTHER WOMAN—also from Bali—and the gentleman from Bali's "fiancée," a wee maiden of about 3, motherless and soon to be fatherless.

From the sidelines an Italian window washer and the heroine's best friend throw colorful histrionic confetti.

It is the unexpectedness of situation and dialog that charm you, and I wouldn't be doing right by my gentle readers were I to enlarge on the story.

I'll just assure you that never was Madeleine Carroll lovelier to look at and to listen to as clever, warm hearted Gail Allen; never was Fred MacMurray a more "magerful" man than as the gentleman from Bali. Allan Jones, as the delightful "also ran," is human and handsome and he sings a couple of times, gloriously. [You know how he CAN sing!]

Akim Tamiroff gets you right under the ribs as the adviceful window washer. Helen Broderick does a bright bit as the girl friend, Lorna Smith, and you'll love little Carolyn Lee as the baby girl. Osa Massen is a wow as the girl from Bali.

The film is lavishly staged and Miss Carroll's gowns simply luscious.

See you tomorrow.

Looking at Hollywood
By Ed Sullivan

Boneheads

Hollywood, Cal., Nov. 13.—I see by the papers that Director Leo McCarey will try to get Irene Dunne and Cary Grant to team up in another of his pictures, and you think back inevitably to the last time that he approached them. The picture he wanted 'em for was "The Awful Truth," and the awful truth is that Miss Dunne and Grant offered cash on the line to get out of it. Both of them were convinced that it was a flop of the worst dimensions after a few days' shooting. Cary Grant offered to pay back all the money he'd drawn in advance on the assignment and even pay a forfeit if McCarey would let him out of it.

The picture, of course, was a terrific comedy sensation, but nobody in the cast believed it possible. Even Ralph Bellamy, who had been engaged for short dough, tried to withdraw from the cast. The part, of course, made him one of the top featured players of the colony, but he couldn't see it while it was in shooting.

Claudette Colbert is one of the wrongest wrong-guessers of this business, of course, and any discussion of mistakes in players' judgment would not be complete unless some of her classic bobbles were included. When Frank Capra was about to make "It Happened One Night," Claudette turned down the part. From beginning to end of the picture she was certain that it was fated to failure. It won her the Academy award. . . . You'd think that one experience would have convinced the Frenchie that Capra knew his business better than most, but along came "Mr. Deeds Goes to Town," and Capra was very anxious to get Miss Colbert for the part of the girl. She read the script and turned it down. Jean Arthur took it and became a hot shot overnight. Capra, I believe, has taken a fairly emphatic vow that he'll never ask Claudette to play in one of his pictures, and if this is so, you can understand his viewpoint, while regretting her bonehead plays.

You'd think that a director of Capra's prestige would have no difficulty in persuading performers to work in his pictures, because it has been established rather conclusively that he knows his celluloid onions, but just recently he had the same old trouble in casting one part in "Mr. Smith Goes to Washington." Capra wanted Edward Ellis for the part of the Vice President, and he explained to Ellis, when giving him the script, that there were only six lines of dialog to the part, but that there were certain pieces of ocular "business" that would make the part one of the standout parts in the picture. The six lines diluted Ellis' enthusiasm, and he turned it down. That was the part which Harry Carey played and no better part has been given to a performer this season. Ellis rushed up to Capra at the preview and berated himself for being such a dope.

The Lighthouse! A Beacon for Sightless Men

BY DORIS LOCKERMAN.

"Baskets, I used to say, deliver me from baskets!"

It was a youth speaking—a youth whose supple fingers were working magic with weaving reed. "But now I like my work. I couldn't do anything with my hands three years ago when I lost my sight. Now watch me. I've got a trade."

A trade is what the blind need. That is the theory of the Chicago Lighthouse, the only private industrial training school for the sightless in Chicago. It employs 33 men, unseeing but with gifted fingers.

A committee of women visiting the Lighthouse at 3323 Cermak road found these sightless men seated on benches, working. They wove trays. They dipped boxes in paint for a candy manufacturer. They fitted screws into tiny bakelite parts for a telephone factory. They pushed felt paddings on doorbell machinery for an electric company. A radio boomed and some of them hummed happily through the sound. All of them had a trade, and all of them seemed to be proud of it.

The Lighthouse, founded and directed by Miss Edith Swift, daughter of the late George Swift, Chicago's mayor in 1895, is entering its twentieth year. It is supported by voluntary contributions and receives no aid from county, state, or federal governments. Never in its history has it employed fewer than 25 blind persons, training them to use their fingers with speed and accuracy and paying them for the training.

With colder weather and the approach of the holiday season, the waiting list of urgently needy men has lengthened. To meet their need, a benefit performance has been arranged for next Saturday in the Civic theater. It will be a program of Bali and Java dancers, brought here under the direction of Mrs. Warren H. Clarke, Mrs. P. Mark Wyman, and Mrs. Norman H. Ibsen as benefit cochairmen.

The program, if it is successful, may flood the tray and basket markets for a while, but it will bring the spirit of Christmas to some worthy blind men and their families.

W. E. Clow Jr. to Wed Mrs. Nadyne Traer

Mrs. Nadyne McNeill Traer of Minneapolis is a guest of William E. Clow Jr. at the home of his parents, Mr. and Mrs. William E. Clow in Lake Forest. No formal announcement of Mrs. Traer's engagement to Mr. Clow Jr. has been made, but most of his friends in Lake Forest have been told that the couple will be married some time this winter.

Mr. Clow is living with the senior Clows while his new house is being built. The guest house already is completed and his daughter, Mrs. Clow Laflin, and her two children are living in it. His other daughter, Mrs. Mario Braggiotti, left yesterday to join her husband in New York.

Mrs. Traer, who lived in Danville, Ill., as a girl, was married to Glenn Wood Traer of Minneapolis, formerly of Chicago. Their marriage, which took place in 1916, was ended by divorce. They have two children, who will come to Lake Forest to live with their mother after their school closes next summer.

Asphalt tile is a material well worth considering in the building or remodeling of a home. This type of flooring does not need to be confined to the basement spaces, tho its moisture resistant qualities and its enduring virtues make it a serviceable covering for basement game or recreation rooms.

Asphalt tile, in dead black, can be used in living room, dining room, hall, or library. LOUISE BARGELT.

Schools Collect Broken Toys for Annual Benefit

Chicago public school children this week will bring their discarded playthings to school to be collected by the staff of Chicago's Own Christmas benefit, of which Mayor Kelly is chairman. The toys will be repaired and repainted by members of the fire department, and will be distributed in Christmas packages to the city's needy children. Funds collected by the benefit organization will provide new clothing and shoes for poor children. Since the benefit was started six years ago, 367,482 children have been outfitted.

Danger on the Border

By FREDERICK R. BECHDOLT

SYNOPSIS.

Traveling west by car Leonard picks up two strange companions, fat Mrs. Sebastian, and a ragged, swarthy man. They pull out of Copper City just after the pay car of the Golconda mine.

INSTALMENT II.

A SUSPICIOUS PASSENGER.

"If you were an ordinary traveler, I'd not have offered any information about myself, but you've been around." There was just a trace of Spanish in the man's speech; it lay rather in the manner of pausing between certain words than in any tangible accent. "I'd rather tell you than set you to thinking too much."

"I know this part of the country fairly well," Leonard acknowledged. "You see, I call myself a geologist and I've managed to get some good contacts back east. I've examined mines on both sides of the line. But that," he added, "is something I'd just as soon you wouldn't mention in San Ilario." His companion nodded.

"My name," he said, "is Louis Mestres, and I'd just as soon you didn't mention that either."

A little silence followed. They were traveling over a level plateau where the lava lay close to the surface. The heavy trucks which went to and fro between the railroad and the Golconda mine had not done much damage here. The sedan was making good speed but the dust cloud which marked the presence of the pay car ahead of them had thinned down to a mere whisp. Leonard was thinking over the information which his seat mate had volunteered. A man of less intelligence would have remained silent and thereby stimulated another's curiosity.

His mind went back to their original encounter in front of the store. Now, as he reviewed the incident, it became plain to him that Louis Mestres had been making no attempt to disguise his personality in the beginning, that change had come with the appearance of the pay car. The chances were that the man had been about to speak to him—to beg a ride perhaps—before the interruption.

Why, then, the change? A disquieting possibility occurred to Leonard. This portion of the international boundary between Nogales and Yuma was still a wilderness, an ideal neighborhood for one of those bloody robberies which were still occurring at rare intervals in northern Mexico. It was a region of arid mountains and wide plains where forests of cacti and endless expanses of creosote bushes were the only verdure, except for two or three oases.

And the years of revolution prior to 1920 had left the inevitable crop of lawless men, fugitives all of them; renegades who had fought under Villa and minor guerrillas, deserters, luckless politicians who had chosen the wrong sides. Some of them were grizzled outlaws, and others, who had been in their teens during the later troubles, were still young men. Added to all of these was the quota of wanted Americans who had drifted across the boundary. The people of the southwest had a term for all of them.

As if he had been reading Leonard's thoughts, Louis Mestres spoke now. "The reason I said what I did about not mentioning my name, I might as well tell you now, my friend, for you're going to know it sooner or later. I'm what they call a line jumper."

There was a sudden bitterness in his voice and a harshness in his face. Leonard detected them; it occurred to him that the detection had been all too easy. It was as if—indeed there was no doubt in his mind—it had been meant for him to see, it was on exhibition. He nodded and he met the other's glance fairly.

"No business of mine," he replied.

But it was business of his and he was beginning to feel better as a conviction stole over him. He was, in spite of his own youth, accustomed to oblique methods. When a man has knocked about a score or two of mining towns in remote Latin American neighborhoods, indirectness has ceased to be a novelty. And that confession had come much too readily. So then, he reflected, Mestres was probably not a line jumper.

And this left him easier. He had a big caliber automatic in a holster attached to the front of the driver's seat between his knees. One of the first things that he had done on entering the car with this unbidden passenger installed beside him, was to make sure that the weapon was in its place. But, just the same, with that pay car ahead of him and the possibility of a party of trained cutthroats lying in ambush somewhere along the road, the idea of a renegade for a passenger would not have held much appeal to him.

As to why Mestres had camouflaged his personality on the appearance of the soldiers, and why he had been so anxious to get out of Copper City, he would probably—he assured himself—remain in ignorance, the matter would be one of those mysterious fragments which a man recalls in later years, reviewing his various adventures.

The afternoon heat was increasing. They had descended from the mesa to a flat which was as level as a floor. Here the soil was deep and loose, as fine as flour. The truck traffic to the Golconda copper mine had raised havoc with the road, in fact there was no road at all, just a wilderness of deep ruts which was, in places, a quarter of a mile in width, and every pair of these ruts seemed worse than the other. The dust rose above them in a dense brown cloud, it invaded the car, it settled down in a thin film upon the passengers. Conversation ceased entirely, it was bad enough just to sit and sweat and choke.

Leonard tried smoking and threw away the lighted cigaret after the first half dozen puffs. He fell back on his thoughts for solace. This errand on which he was going. What did it hold by way of promise? He had asked himself the same question a dozen times since he had started on the trip. The letter which had brought him here lay in a pocket of his discarded coat on the rear seat. He had known Ed Dillon as a boy in Utah and the news that the latter had taken up his abode near the Mexican line held no particular surprise for Leonard. He understood the cause. T. B. His friend had become one of the numerous exiles to a land of hot sun and dry air.

But the statement that Dillon had gone in for prospecting was distinctly interesting, and the further information that he had discovered a rich ledge—confirmed as it was by a few chunks of high grade ore that came by parcel post—was alluring. It would be a pleasant task to make the liaison between a boyhood friend with a rich claim and eastern capital.

Provided the claim panned out on inspection. Often they did not.

A track led off, a single pair of shallow ruts, it led toward a range of mountains whose sharp summits stood forth dark and naked against the cloudless sky.

"It's a short cut," Mestres said. As Leonard turned the steering wheel he was wondering whether there might be any ill purpose behind this direction. He glanced into the driving mirror and caught a glimpse of his rear seat passenger, she was asleep.

Less than two miles and they were out of the loose soil. The tracks which led them up into a wide canyon were barely visible in spots, but the new route seemed like a boulevard compared to the one which they had left. The grade was easy, it was a half hour later when they climbed to a sharp ridge and began a long descent in the bed of another gulch. As the steep, rock-strewn banks on either side began to draw away, they had vistas of the wide plain glowing like melted bronze in the hot sunshine ahead of them. The main route had looped around the end of the mountain range and they had cut across the segment. Evidently Mestres had given his direction in good faith.

So Leonard was thinking when they descended between cut banks where winter cloud-bursts of bygone years had gouged out an extension of the canyon below the level of the surrounding mesa. Into this gully another came at an abrupt angle. Leonard noted the deep ruts of the main road along its bed. A point of land topped with some clumps of coatilla and giant cacti slipped away from the line of his vision as the car went on, and then he saw the tableau of blood and violence where the two roads joined.

When Leonard began to reconstruct the affair afterward, one important factor stuck out like a sore thumb, and that was noise. The loud clamor of events on the main road—the clatter of firearms, the upraised voices and the hammering of the high-powered motor with its cut-out muffler—had drowned the sounds of his approaching car as effectively as the droning of his own engine.

The proceeds will go to the Chicago School of Architects.

According to CULBERTSON

[Copyright: 1939: By Ely Culbertson.]

The trouble with a great many bridge players is that they are too darned "honest." They have no guile, no artifices. Their play is so transparent that it is quite easy for an alert defender to foil even their best schemes. Today's hand is a case in point.

The bidding:

North	East	South	West
1 no trump	Pass	3 spades	Pass
4 spades	Pass	6 spades	Pass
Pass	Pass

The bidding was very sound. South could tell that his partner had about four honor tricks and good support for spades. With more than three and a half honor tricks in his own hand it was quite apparent that there would be an excellent play for a slam. Indeed, South "huddled" a while with the urge to bid a grand slam.

A heart lead by West would have settled declarer's hash immediately. As it happened, however, West feared to jeopardize a possible heart winner and chose to open the diamond nine. Declarer won this trick in dummy and three rounds of trumps. He noted that a club loser was unavoidable and that the contract depended on losing no tricks in hearts. A good technician, South decided not to take the heart finesse but to try to make the opponents take it for him. He therefore cashed his remaining diamonds, followed by the club ace, the club king, and a low club. He hoped, by this means, to throw the lead to East and thus obtain a lead up to dummy's heart tenace.

South's idea was excellent, but his execution left something to be desired. The stripping out of the diamonds from the North-South hands made it only too obvious to East that South was going to try for a throw-in. Since East did not relish the prospect of leading up to dummy's heart tenace he decided to avoid being thrown in with a third round of clubs. Hence on the ace of clubs East correctly dropped his jack, and on the club king, his queen. The third round of clubs therefore was won by West, and when that worthy led hearts South could no longer make his contract.

A little camouflage would have fulfilled South's contract, except against an unusually brilliant opponent. South should have seen from the very start that a throw-in might be necessary. On winning the first trick with dummy's diamond jack declarer should have cashed the club ace immediately. At this stage of the play it was very unlikely that East would have seen what was coming, and the chances are overwhelming that he would have played his low club. From that point on South could have continued by drawing trumps, stripping the diamonds, and playing two more rounds of clubs. In this way East would be obliged to win the third round of clubs and lead up to dummy's hearts.

There's no way to get out of the final preparations needed to get yeast rolls ready for the oven, even when a refrigerator recipe is used. If you're a woman who becomes nervous about a large meal, such as the Thanksgiving dinner, you'd better plan to serve bakery rolls. If you make your own, allow a few minutes about an hour before dinner for shaping the rolls.

They may be shaped simply by cutting off pieces and rolling them into balls for buns or cloverleaf rolls. Or the dough may be rolled out and cut for shapes such as Parkerhouse, butterhorn rolls, and others.

Serve fresh, hot homemade rolls for Thanksgiving if you can manage to do so. These recipes require a minimum of attention to shaping and shouldn't prove too difficult for any cook who has had even a little experience with yeast rolls.

Sour Cream Rolls
[Five dozen]

1 cake compressed yeast
¼ cup lukewarm water
2 cups sour cream
3 tablespoons sugar
2 teaspoons salt
¼ teaspoon soda
About 5 cups flour

Soften yeast in lukewarm water. Scald cream in the top of a double boiler. Add sugar, salt, and soda, and cool to lukewarm. Add softened yeast and half the flour, beating well. Add enough flour to make a soft dough. Turn out onto a lightly floured board and knead until the dough is elastic and satiny. The dough should be soft and sticky at first, but will tighten up after it has been kneaded for a while. Soft doughs always makes the best rolls, so do not add an excessive amount of flour. Place in greased bowl, cover, and let rise in a warm place until doubled in bulk. Punch down and shape into small round biscuits. Place in greased pans and brush each biscuit with butter. Cover pans with a clean cloth and let rise until double in bulk, about an hour. Bake in a hot oven, 450 degrees, for 15 to 20 minutes.

These rolls may be shaped immediately after kneading, left to rise for 1½ hours, and then baked, if this method is more convenient. Two rising periods tend to improve the texture.

Almond Puffs
[Two dozen, two inches]

1 cake compressed yeast
¼ cup lukewarm water
⅔ cup milk
¼ cup shortening
1 tablespoon sugar
½ teaspoon salt
About 2½ cups flour
2 eggs
1 cup blanched, chopped almonds

Soften yeast in lukewarm water. Scald milk. Add shortening, sugar, and salt to milk. Cool to lukewarm. Add flour, beating thoroly. Add softened yeast, unbeaten eggs, one at a time. Beat until smooth. Cover and let rise until double in bulk, about one hour. Stir down and add half cup chopped almonds. Fill greased muffin pans half full. Sprinkle remaining almonds, mixed with four tablespoons sugar, over the tops of the puffs. Cover and let rise until double, about 30 minutes. Bake in moderate oven, 375 degrees, for 15 to 20 minutes.

These puffs are excellent with the Thanksgiving supper, the meal which follows not too soon upon the heels of the dinner.

Have you planned your Thanksgiving dinner menu yet? For new ideas, receipts, and menus consult Mary Meade's "Holidays and Holiday Meals," on sale for 20 cents at the Tribune Public Service offices, 1 South Dearborn street, and Tribune Tower. It will be mailed for 23 cents in stamps.

Pattern for Latest Turbans

WOMEN'S AND MISS' HATS.

This is "the" year for turbans. Women are wearing them for everything from sports to formal evening attire. And they're popular because they're comfortable. The pattern today creates two versions, one draped and the other with a bow. Both versions make up well in any fabric. We suggest velvet, crêpe, duvetyn, and metallic fabric for dressy occasions, and woolen jersey or wool crêpe for your sports costumes.

Style No. 3082 is designed for one headsize only, adaptable to your individual requirements. Turban with bow requires ⅝ yard of 39 inch material. Draped model requires 1⅛ yards of 39 inch fabric.

Address orders for Clotilde patterns to Chicago Tribune, P. O. Box 537, Grand Central annex, NEW YORK CITY, including 10 cents in stamps or coin (coin preferred—wrap it carefully) for each pattern ordered. IMPORTANT! Be sure to state clearly the number of the pattern and the size desired, and write your name and address plainly.

Here's Advice to Help the Bashful Beau

BY DORIS BLAKE.

[Copyright: 1939: News Syndicate Co., Inc.]

Tongue-tied Romeos might take a tip from song writer Johnny Mercer on how to overcome bashfulness with their ladies fair. In Johnny's case his love technique not only won him his lady fair, but also success on Broadway. As every lovesick swain is not a song writer, however, the next best thing is to revive the old fashioned idea of letting poetry, or love lyrics from popular songs, speak for him. We have a sneaking idea modern misses would not laugh at such courtship tactics, but, on the contrary, will snuggle the idea to their hearts with old fashioned romantic fervor. But here's Johnny's story. It may prove the inspiration some bashful lover needs.

His heart's desire was a girl in a Broadway show. Hoping to be near her, he tried for a part in the same show. He failed because there was no part for Johnny. But with Dan Cupid egging him on, he sat down and wrote a melody dedicated to the sweet young girl and submitted it to the show. It became the hit of the production, and the elated Johnny was taken on as a member of the cast.

Altho we don't know for sure, we rather suspect the girl recognized the lovelight in Johnny's eyes and tumbled hard for what she saw therein. Or, the romance of his tactics may have struck a responsive chord in her own heart. Anyway, she's his wife today, and he's still telling her of his love by dashing off one song hit after the other.

Let's hope this little true life story will encourage other men, who have hesitated to voice their love thoughts to girls they've been madly in love with for moons and moons, to let their thoughts be known. If vocal effort is too, too much for them, then there's always recourse to the time tested way of saying it with some one else's words of love, or with flowers.

Short Fur Coat and Wool Dress a Smart Outfit

BY RHEA SEEGER.

Short fur coats and jackets are the smartest of fashions for career girls as well as the short, small shoppers and the many budgeteers. Now during the November special sales events, you can find outstanding buys for almost any sum, small or otherwise.

The fur coat and wool dress ensembles are here to stay. Almost every color contrast and every model imaginable are available. Australian opossum in a lovely dark gray shade comes in a swagger hip length jacket sold with a stunning dark gray plaited wool skirt. You furnish the tops in any color or material you desire.

What the furriers have done with pelts dyed in that luxurious deep sable brown is something to make fashion history. Skunk, fitch, squirrel, and opossum are obtainable in this patrician color, defying even the experts to tell which is which. Sable dyed furs go with everything—street, dress parade, and spectator sports tweeds and woolens. Steel gray and the lighter gray tones of kidskin make particularly effective all-purpose fur coats of short, long or in-between lengths.

Small, smart hats complete such ensembles and these, too, mix and match with any wardrobe.

Sheared beaver has made phenomenal sales records, as have the leopard and ocalot pelts. Short chubbies and the longer models are made to wear with street dresses of dark or high colored woolens or with slim two piece suits. Caracul in brown, black, and gray is another pelt modestly priced with long wearing qualities and ideal for all purpose wear.

Persian lamb in spicy brown, in inky black, and the iron gray shades make excellent foundation coats in a great variety of styles and lengths. Satiny smooth sealskins in sooty blacks make dramatic contrasts for light gray dresses and suits as well as the high colors.

All the best buys and the most distinctive contrasts are featured for the November shoppers.

Games or Plays Add to Turkey Day Festivities

BY GLADYS HUNTINGTON BEVANS.

[Copyright: 1939: News Syndicate Co., Inc.]

Right ahead of us lies Thanksgiving. On a big holiday like this, when there is a huge family dinner, it makes the day go off with snap and additional pleasure if you plan some sort of activity after the replete family and relatives and guests have recovered from their feast and have had a breath of outdoors.

Games are fun, and charades. These both go better if a little planning is done ahead.

Also some sort of a playlet given by the children [with those of the neighbors added, if necessary] usually delights the older folks, as well as the children, especially if your Thanksgiving is a strictly family affair, with uncles and cousins and aunts and grandparents.

When this sort of thing is afoot, I am very strong for simplicity. Too much agony of memorizing and preparation takes the edge off.

A simple dramatization that I have given with children, can be done very informally, either in school or at home. It is based on the old poem by Lydia Marie Child, called Thanksgiving Day, a poem which to me is full of Thanksgiving feeling. You know how it begins:

Over the river and through the woods
To Grandfather's house we go;
The horse knows the way to carry the sleigh
Through the white and drifted snow.

Sung instead of spoken, it can be done with a lusty rollicking spirit.

The group with which I gave the little action play averaged about seven years of age, though there is nothing fixed as to age level. The little bit of stage business I worked up, would occur readily to you. The costumes could be either the usual cold weather clothes that children wear, or costumes of perhaps the Pilgrim type, or any other early period in our history. Children love to dress up. We had a grandmother and a grandfather in costume to meet the arriving sleigh-load of children.

Stage properties can be of the simplest, or maybe a little elaborated if you like.

Real reins or imitation can lead off out of sight—but of course sleigh bells are an essential.

Fuller suggestions about words, music, costumes and action may be obtained by writing promptly for our leaflet: Thanksgiving Day Playlet. Send a large, stamped, addressed envelope for it. Address Mrs. Gladys Bevans, The Chicago Tribune, Chicago, Ill.

The Housewife

Now that fires are burning in the fireplace again, you might like to get a can of a powder that, when sprinkled over the logs, changes them magically into driftwood. At least they have the lovely blue and lavender lights of driftwood when burning.

One of the first of many parties being planned at the Racquet club following its transformation is a dinner-dance Stanley Keith will give on Dec. 15.

Thomasson-Cantrelle Nuptials on Dec. 9.

Miss Bette Sue Cantrelle, sister of Mr. and Mrs. Henry T. Roberts, and Nelson Thomasson III. will be married at 4 o'clock Saturday afternoon, Dec. 9. The ceremony will take place in St. Chrysostom's church with a reception following at the Woman's Athletic club.

A rummage sale for the benefit of the Chicago Nursery and Half Orphan asylum will be held today at 14 West Lake street. The sale will start at 7:30 o'clock. A diamond set wrist watch, several men's overcoats, a woman's three piece tweed suit, silver, galoshes, and umbrellas will be among the articles offered.

A preview yesterday at luncheon time of the many new Christmas novelties that will be displayed at the Woman's exchange annual Christmas sale in the ballroom of the Drake hotel next Tuesday made this reporter determine to be there soon after the doors open at 9 o'clock. There are the most enchanting trees and other centerpieces, angels, candles, and various other accessories to make a Christmas table beautiful to behold and interesting at which to sit.

The new table linen is stunning. Unusually dainty are some of the new baby clothes, including dresses made by an 82 year old woman. They are exquisitely embroidered and the little yokes have tucks so tiny that one would think the seamstress worked under a magnifying glass.

Assisting at the sale will be all the directors, including three new ones, who are Mrs. Edward D. Shumway, Mrs. Barrett Scudder, and Mrs. Michael Cudahy. Mrs. Abraham K. Selz will be in charge of a buffet luncheon that will be served.

Andre Burdino Well Liked in a Fine 'Louise'

BY EDWARD BARRY.

Andre Burdino, the French tenor whom the war threatened to keep from participation in Chicago's 1939 opera season, arrived safely, tho late, and made his first appearance last night at the Civic Opera house.

His rôle was Julien in Charpentier's "Louise." Immediately he strengthened the impression of sunniness and natural elegance which he has made in former seasons. A resonant, flexible voice, and a stage manner which is finely theatrical without a hint of cheapness helped to glorify a performance which undoubtedly will stand as one of the opera company's best 1939 achievements.

As in the first performance of this opera on Saturday, Nov. 4, the parts of Louise, the mother, and the father were movingly sung by Grace Moore, Maria Claessens, and Leon Rothier, respectively. Louis Hasselmans conducted.

WILDCATS FIND THEY HAVE SOME IRON MEN, TOO

Tireless Stars to Get Ready for Irish.

Just as Iowa depended upon its eight iron men to defeat Notre Dame last Saturday, Northwestern will place much of its hopes against the Irish in South Bend Saturday on several linemen who have played thruout most of each game this fall.

The No. 1 iron man is John Haman, veteran center, who played 60 minutes against Purdue Saturday and who has averaged 58 minutes in every other game. The 215 pound Naperville husky has been the key man in the Purple line for three seasons.

Haman broke into the lineup as a regular in the Minnesota game of 1937, after an injury forced Sam Wegner to the sidelines. His smashing, precise tackles in that game elevated him to stardom.

He's a Handy Fellow.

In his position as line backer Haman has been largely responsible for the Wildcats' splendid defense. Not only is he effective in bringing down ball carries, but he has ability to cover on passes.

Two other linemen who have worked overtime are Hal Method, guard, and Corne Aarts, tackle. Method, a senior, has been a regular for three years, and has attained his peak performance this season.

In several games this fall Method has played more than 50 minutes. John Goldak's improvement has enabled him to share much of the exacting right guard duties.

Aarts, who played 56 minutes against Purdue, is another reason why the Wildcats expect to make a good showing against Notre Dame. Aarts faced the difficult job of replacing Bob Voigts, last year's all-American tackle. He has progressed steadily in each game.

HOOSIERS LOSE TOFIL.

Bloomington, Ind., Nov. 13 [Special].—Joe Tofil, regular full back, probably will be lost to Indiana in its last two games because of injuries, Coach Bo McMillin announced today. Indiana meets Michigan State at East Lansing Saturday and concludes its schedule here the following week-end against Purdue.

Tofil suffered a recurrence of a leg injury in the Fordham game Saturday. Gene White, guard, and Emil Tremovich, tackle, who were injured last week, are expected to be ready for Michigan State, but Capt. Jim Logan, guard, may not be available.

There was no rest for the Hoosiers today following their return from New York. A blocking scrimmage was held. McMillin pronounced the defensive work improved, but declared the blocking was off.

DEATH STRIKES THREE TIMES AT ST. BONAVENTURE

Latrobe, Pa., Nov. 13 (AP).—Athletic authorities at St. Vincent's college agreed tonight to cancel their football team's final game of the season with St. Bonaventure, scheduled for next Sunday, at the request of the Olean, N. Y., school.

Three players at St. Bonaventure have died within a week's time. Two varsity men, Charles Tong and Carl Collins, were killed in an automobile accident while returning from a game Nov. 5 at Buffalo, N. Y., against Canisius.

John Korcha, 21 years old, a member of the freshman squad, died yesterday from injuries suffered in a game against the Niagara Falls frosh.

Hawks Go East to Play Bruins and New York Rangers

The Blackhawks, who left for the east yesterday after beating the Americans, 2 to 1, Sunday, will have no more difficult a week all season than the one schedule makers assigned to them starting tonight against the champion Bruins, who lost both their early season games.

Thursday night the Hawks play the Rangers in Madison Square Garden. After the Rangers game the Hawks return home to tackle the Bruins Sunday.

In tonight's game the Hawks, who lost eight in a row to the Bruins last season, will be facing a team that is practically invincible in Boston. The Bruins lost only two games at home in 1938-'39, both to the Rangers.

Manager Paul Thompson was particularly pleased with the showing of Phil Hergesheimer and Doug Bentley. Hergesheimer impressed the 15,263 who liked his boring-in style. Hergesheimer has not yet reached his best condition because of a long layoff due to an injury sustained a month ago in camp.

The showing of this pair resulted in the release of Ab De Marco, another rookie, to the Providence Reds of the International league. He can be recalled any time. De Marco left immediately to join Providence in Cleveland.

Iowa Celebration Continues; Notre Dame Serene in Defeat

Anderson Makes Front Porch Speech.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Iowa City, Ia., Nov. 13.—It was Dr. Edward N. Anderson's 39th birthday today and students at the University of Iowa, where he currently reigns as the most popular coach in Iowa history, held a celebration that at one time or another rocked every section of the city.

The students gayly turned their backs on classrooms this morning, and marched en masse to Anderson's house north of the campus, where they demanded of his startled wife that "Dr. Eddie" speak.

Before leaving for Anderson's residence, student pickets, called by long and continuous blasts of the new victory whistle atop the engineering building, appeared before the entrances of all of the university buildings, herding students arriving for early classes into the campus before the historic Capitol building. There they held the first of a series of impromptu pep meetings, and then hit upon the idea of calling on the coach.

Coach Eddie Responds.

Upon arrival, however, they were informed by Mrs. Anderson that Eddie already had left his office at the fieldhouse. They insisted he speak to them from the porch of his home, and refused to leave until the request was fulfilled. Shouting and cheering, they milled about the premises until Anderson was located and had agreed to return to his home and speak to the students.

The coach was given a police escort from the fieldhouse, and when he finally appeared he was carrying the youngest of his three sons, 3 year old Jimmy. Young James immediately proceeded to steal the show.

"I suppose you think I am going to tell you to get back to your classes," Anderson began. "Well, I'm not." The statement was the signal for a burst of cheering from the student body, and brought laughter and vigorous handclapping from son James, who still was perched on his father's right arm.

Tells Students to Laud Players.

"Every one of you is part of the team," Anderson continued, ducking as he spoke, a series of boyish right hand swings by the exuberant Jimmy.

"It is your team as much as it is Capt. Erwin Prasse's, or Nile Kinnick's." The remarks brought more cheers, and a right hand swing from the excited Jimmy.

"Let those kids on the team know what a swell job they have done," Anderson said, "and they will never quit on you." The few words were enough for the students, and to the disappointment of young Jimmy they headed back for the campus.

From there they paraded through

Irish Prove They Can Take It.

BY WILFRID SMITH.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Notre Dame, Ind., Nov. 13.—The November sun shone warmly and brilliantly this afternoon on the Notre Dame campus. The usual number of students were hurrying from building to building classroom bent. And in our brief stroll we saw no evidence and heard no conversation which indicated that last Saturday in Iowa City the Hawkeyes had whipped the Notre Dame football men.

There was no activity on the practice field. Strangely enough, Coach Elmer Layden had decreed a Monday holiday for his defeated team.

The Irish, so it seemed, were taking their second defeat in two years as casually as they previously had accepted victory. There was no wailing wall.

That defeat was keenly felt. But whatever criticisms the coaches may make later will be reserved for the squad room and the boys themselves.

Layden's rather phlegmatic greeting this afternoon was, "There really isn't any substitute for blocking."

Sitko Retreats, Then Fumbles.

The movies cleared up the question of Steve Sitko's fumble which gave Iowa possession of the ball in the second quarter on the Irish 4 yard line. On third down the Hawkeyes scored. The picture shows Sitko intercepting Iowa's long pass in his own end zone and starting on his run with Harry Stevenson in front of him. Sitko advanced to his own 11 yard line, then cut sharply to his right and retreated three yards. As he was tackled he had his hands and the ball in position as if attempting to make a lateral pass. This apparently was the reason he fumbled.

Iowa's defense against Notre Dame's running attack, a six man line with two men backing up that line only one yard behind, easily explains why Notre Dame had difficulty gaining, but there is no excuse for the ineffective blocking on wide plays.

Kinnick "Star" in Pictures, Too.

Nile Kinnick loses none of his brilliance in a review of the game. Not only was his excellent covering on passes responsible for intercepting or knocking down the might-have-been touchdown throws, but running from right half back position, on an Iowa backfield shift to the left, his power cracked the Notre Dame line for the Hawkeyes' touchdown.

Notre Dame coaches naturally were lavish with their praise for the Notre Dame men who coach Iowa.

For Notre Dame, now that Iowa is past, Northwestern becomes the immediate worry. Scouts reported again today that the Wildcat rushing attack has steadily improved and that it threatens to score from its own merit.

P. G. A. WARMS UP FOR ELECTION OF NEW OFFICERS

Committee Names Ten for Ryder Cup Team.

BY CHARLES BARTLETT.

The 23d annual meeting of the Professional Golfers' Association of America, which will get down to serious business in one joint session, beginning at 10 o'clock this morning, opened yesterday in the Morrison hotel with a couple of practice rounds.

The shadow of the European war fell across last night's session when the selection committee's team of ten players for the 1939 Ryder Cup team was approved by the executive committee. It was strictly an honorary gesture toward those named, since there will be no Ryder Cup competition this year. The matches, scheduled for Nov. 18 and 19 at Ponte Vedra club in Jacksonville, Fla., have been canceled by England.

Metz, Smith Selected.

The selections, however, representing as they do the ten professionals deemed outstanding, carried interest. Four newcomers broke into the list, these being Dick Metz of Chicago, Victor Ghezzi of Deal, N. J.; Jimmy Hines of Lakeville, L. I., and Harold McSpaden of Winchester, Mass. The other six are Ralph Guldahl of Madison, N. J.; Byron Nelson of Reading, Pa.; Henry Picard of Hershey, Pa.; Paul Runyan of White Plains, N. Y.; Horton Smith of Chicago, and Sam Snead of White Sulphur Springs, W. Va.

Walter Hagen was announced as the captain last spring. He is one of the members of the selection committee, the others being George Jacobus, president of the P. G. A.; Ed Dudley, Leo Diegel, and Olin Dutra.

Ordinarily the opening of this gathering of those who make their bread and butter from golf has been confined to one session consisting of the members of the executive committee. Yesterday, however, there were two prior meetings, one of the executive group of 10 members and another of the 56 delegates who will represent the 28 member sections of the organization.

Proposes Meeting of Delegates.

These latter never have congregated in a separate official meeting before, but last year's convention saw Matt Matteson of the Ridge Country club, secretary and treasurer of the Illinois section, propose a measure whereby all delegates also would meet before the big show, which includes the election of officers for the following year, is called to order.

John Budd of Tallahassee, Fla., a delegate of the southeastern section of the P. G. A., was named president to represent the delegates for the duration of the convention proper, which will extend thru Thursday, with Matteson being named secretary. The delegates bore down on one point in particular. That was to have the election, which probably will be held tomorrow, decided by a majority vote rather than a plurality.

Jacobus, who has been president of the P. G. A. since his election in Peoria, Ill., on Nov. 23, 1932, is not expected to be a candidate for reëlection. Jacobus, the first American born professional to hold the office, has been one of the storm centers of golf in the last four years. On Nov. 9, however, he said he would not run for office again.

Tom Walsh on Committee.

The meeting promises to be one of the most spirited in the history of the organization. Jacobus upheld the tournament players of the game last summer when they struck during the national P. G. A. event in Pomonok, N. Y., in behalf of Denny Shute, declared ineligible for failure to pay his association dues on time.

One of the members of the executive committee was Tom Walsh of Chicago's Westgate Valley club, who has been national secretary for the last three years. Walsh ran against Jacobus in last year's election, collecting 26 votes to Jacobus' 40, the strongest opposition the latter had faced during his six year tenure of office. Walsh is expected to be a candidate for the presidency, as is Ed Dudley of Philadelphia, one of the game's leading tournament players and an incumbent vice president.

EDDIE Anderson's University of Iowa eleven may not win the Big Ten title, but it can claim the championship of Indiana, at any rate. . . . Have you heard about my find?
He's a fellow almost blind,
And he bears the classy name of Van de Venter;
He's a football boy, by gosh!
From a college in Oshkosh,
And he tells me he's a sort of roving center.

You might wonder how he played
Being blind, but I'm afraid
You know little about rovers in the field;
If they really saw the play
They would run the other way,
But the foot that kicks their teeth out is concealed.

They don't see the rolling pin
That makes contact with their chin,
Nor the concrete knee that rifts them from their mooring;
But with countenance benign
They attack the Siegfried line,
And their sacrifice is thorough and enduring.

That is why my Van's a star,
He can't see the railroad car
That is just about to cut off his career;
And it's providential he Cannot get a look at me
Or my girlish girth would worry him,
I fear. —T. E. B.

CITY TITLE FEVER AGAIN IS RAGING AT AUSTIN HIGH

Rotunno and Peifer Stir Memories of 1937.

BY JAMES SEGRETI.

Happy days have returned to Chicago's west side. Austin High school's football team is a strong candidate to represent the Public School league in Mayor Kelly's all-city game on Dec. 2, the turnstiles are clicking a merry tune at Mills stadium, where the team plays all its home games, and college scouts are buzzing around the schoolgrounds and practice field.

"It's like old times," said William C. Heiland, Austin's coach. "When Bill De Correvont and Alfie Bauman were leading the team to the 1937 championship there were at least a dozen scouts around all the time and the boys were beginning to use them as tackling dummies. Some of those scouts would be glad to scrimmage with our big boys just to talk with Tony Rotunno, our full back, and Casey Peifer, our left half back."

Austin Yields Only 7 Points.

Austin's record in winning the west section championship this season approaches the mark set by the 1937 team. Austin has won seven straight games, rolling up 187 points against seven for the opposition, Seymour Roth of Marshall scoring a touchdown last Saturday. In the semi-final round Saturday afternoon Austin will meet Schurz, north section champion, probably in Mills stadium.

William G. Harley, director of Mills stadium, who two years ago spent many hours in the counting room after De Correvont had lured thousands into the park, smiled as he watched Rotunno and Peifer each score two touchdowns in Austin's final sectional game Saturday.

De Correvont Days Return.

"The old De Correvont days are back again," said Harley. "A few years ago the park used to be jammed, goal posts would be torn up and the fences needed repair work all the time. We're setting up new posts again, every seat is occupied, and those Austin students still are the pole vault champions of the city. They climb over the fence as easily as Rotunno and Peifer go for touchdowns."

Rotunno has been the team's leading scorer. In addition, he does all the champions' passing and kicking. Heiland believes the young man will have more success in college than De Correvont because of his tremendous driving power. Rotunno is 18 years old, weighs 170 pounds and is 6 feet tall.

Peifer, who was regular full back on the 1937 squad, hasn't played as much as Rotunno, but against Marshall he appeared completely recovered from a leg injury suffered when he fell off a fence while watching the College All-Stars practice for the game against the New York Giants.

Austin Stars Confident.

Peifer and Rotunno are confident they will regain the Public School league championship, now held by Fenger. Fenger, south section representative for the second straight year, will oppose Tilden Tech, central zone titleholder, in the other semi-final game Saturday afternoon in Soldiers' field.

The Catholic league's representative in Mayor Kelly's game will be Mount Carmel or St. Ignatius. The site of their title contest Sunday will be announced this afternoon. Mount Carmel is the defending champion. It lost to Fenger in last year's All-City contest, 13 to 0.

Barnet Hodes, corporation counsel and secretary of Chicago's Own Christmas Benefit fund, announced yesterday that more than 50,000 tickets have been sold for the prep classic, and that the interest indicates another crowd of 80,000 will attend. Receipts, which last year totaled $100,000, are used to purchase clothing and shoes for Chicago's underprivileged children.

Godoy Reaches New York to Train for Louis Bout

New York, Nov. 13 (AP).—Arturo Godoy, Chilean heavyweight who has designs on Joe Louis' title, arrived in New York today to start training for his bout with the champion.

17 PITCHERS TO REPORT; LIST 2 NEW CATCHERS

Steve Mesner to Get Another Chance.

BY IRVING VAUGHAN.

Gabby Hartnett, the Cub chief, will have to hire a few baseball field traffic cops for the 1940 spring training school or he might be run over by pitchers. There are 17 of this variety on the club's reserve list of 38 players announced yesterday. But as pitching threatens to be a weakness as it was during the recent season, the club's ivory hunters can be pardoned for deluging the manager with possible specialists for this particular department.

Nine of the members of the 1939 staff are present for the time being and the eight others either are simon pure freshmen or coming up for the second or third fling. The choicest of the incoming crop, so far as the scouts can figure, are Vern Olsen, southpaw purchased this fall from Tulsa, Okla., and Julio Bonetti, the former St. Louis Brown, who pitched himself into a big season at Los Angeles.

Two Catching Prospects.

Hartnett, who appreciates that he can't carry quite as much of the catching load as he handled in his palmier days, will have two new kids to consider for the position. One of them is Clyde McCullough, purchased from the Kansas City spoke of the New York Yankees' baseball wheel. The other who will try to prove himself better than Gus Mancuso or Bob Garbark, both of the surviving 1939 class, is Bob Collins, taken from the Cubs' cousins at Los Angeles.

Only two new outfielders have their names on the 1940 roster, but one of them is expected to step right into a regular job and prove good enough to keep the assignment. He's Dominic Dallessandro, the midget who once had a sip of coffee with the Boston Red Sox, subsequently being shipped to San Diego, Cal., where he did a high class job of hitting last season. The other fly chaser is Bernard Olsen, taken from Moline, Ill., merely on the chance that he might develop after one or two seasons of schooling.

Short on New Infielders.

All the Cubs were able to dig up as a possibility for the utility infield rôle is Steve Mesner, recalled from Milwaukee. For this honor Steve will have to battle it out with Dick Bartell, who lost the shortstop job to Bob Mattick late in the season. It is possible, of course, that Bartell may figure in a deal either for an infielder or some other kind of a performer. The complete roster follows:

Optional players recalled—Steve Mesner, from Milwaukee; Julian Tubb, from Birmingham; Newel Kimball, from Milwaukee; Albert Epperly, from Los Angeles; Claire Bertram, from Knoxville; Edwin Carnett, from Milwaukee.

Players purchased—Vern Olsen, from Tulsa; Dominic Dallessandro, from San Diego; Julio Bonetti, from Los Angeles; Robert Collins, from Los Angeles; Clyde McCullough, from Kansas City; Raymond Campbell, from Moline; Bernard Olsen, from Moline; Edward Waitkus, from Moline; Jake T. Mooty, drafted from Syracuse.

The National league 1940 promotional movie, titled "Play Ball America," was given a private showing in Chicago yesterday by Ethan Allen. The 30 minute show was witnessed by the Cubs' official family as well as by President Will Harridge of the American league and Lew Fonseca, who authors the junior major's annual picture. The National league film will not be ready for distribution until late in December.

BOXER KNOCKED OUT TWICE TO GIVE FANS 'RUN'

Columbus, O., Nov. 13 (AP).—Georgie Pace, N. B. A. bantamweight champion, added two knockouts to his string tonight because a boxing commission chairman said his fight with Bobby Docherty of Toronto "ended too quickly."

Pace, Cleveland negro, connected with a left to Docherty's ribs and a right to the belt for a knockout after one minute and 34 seconds of the opening round. Then Col. Alfred Ballin, boxing commission chairman, and Dr. John B. Eckstorm conferred while Docherty was being revived and decided the fight should go on to give "the customers a run for their money."

In went Docherty again. He stayed for the remainder of the first round, and came out for the second. Pace knocked him out in 34 seconds of this round.

TONY ZALE STOPS EDDIE MELESKI IN FIRST ROUND

1,767 Watch Marigold Boxing Show.

Tony Zale, Gary middleweight, scored his fourth straight knockout by stopping Eddie Meleski of the Catholic Youth organization in the first round of a scheduled 10 round bout in Marigold Gardens last night.

Meleski, a hard puncher in his own right, never received a chance to show his punching prowess. He met Meleski with a terrific left hook to the jaw before Eddie was out of his corner, the blow sending him to the canvas for a one count.

Down Six Times.

Meleski went down five more times, but only three of these knockdowns were legal. After the second and fourth knockdown Eddie dropped to his knees to take advantage of the count.

After Meleski's last visit to the canvas, Zale rained lefts and rights on his helpless foe and Referee Tommy Gilmore called a halt. The time was 1 minute, 45 seconds.

A capacity crowd of 1,767 paid a gross gate of $2,202.

Ferrand and Agnes Draw.

Pete Ferrand, South Chicago 138 pound boxer, and Frankie Agnes went five rounds to a draw in the semifinal. Luther Brent and Charley Banks, local middleweights, also battled to a standstill in four rounds.

In other fights of four rounds Joey Spiegel, Milwaukee junior welterweight, pounded out a decision over George Kontopolis, and Annunzio Ferraro, 139½ pounds, also of Milwaukee, conquered Bill Parsons.

Altus Allen, 1939 international Golden Gloves heavyweight champion who upset Eddie Wenstob recently, and George Sutka of Wyandotte, Mich., were matched yesterday to meet in an eight round bout in Marigold Gardens Monday. Additional matches of eight rounds will bring together Lee Oma, Detroit light heavyweight, and Ralph Chong, New Orleans, and Tommy Pallatin, South Bend welterweight, and Tony Motisi of the Catholic Youth organization. . . . Lem Franklin, Cleveland heavyweight, will arrive today for an eight round encounter in White City Friday against Perk Daniels. Everett Rightmire, veteran Sioux City, Ia., junior lightweight, sparred several rounds in Trafton's gymnasium yesterday with Billy Seward and Joe Law for an eight round co-feature against Gene Spencer. . . . Al Oddo, former C. Y. O. champion, will oppose Anthony Jones in a five round amateur contest tonight in Savoy arena, 47th street and South Park avenue.

Sparrow Wins Two Fights and C.Y.O. Sectional Title

BY HOWARD BARRY.

Harry Sparrow, veteran of many amateur bouts, won the Catholic Youth Organization's south sectional welterweight championship by scoring two technical knockouts in last night's matches in the C. Y. O. center. These victories carried him into the tournament semi-finals which will bring together the south, west, north, and suburban titleholders next Monday evening.

Sparrow's first opponent, Mike Trlak, managed to keep going until the third round, but he failed to last to the finish. The referee interfered when a heavy barrage of blows had Trlak in obvious distress.

A Repeat Performance.

Not the least bit weary after this bout, Sparrow came back later in the evening to demonstrate his puzzling southpaw stance against Stanley Kwit. This bout was stopped in the second round, tho Stanley scored some solid punches before he was overpowered.

Another one of the Sparrow boys, Teddy, won the 118 pound championship, scoring a three round decision over Henry Vera. Teddy was too much interested in his older brother's performance to go to the showers after his victory. Wrapped in his bathrobe he remained at the ringside to give Harry a few cheers. Last year Harry went to the 135 pound finals, where he was beaten by Willie Goldsmith. He's stepping up one weight division this season.

Dade Takes Title.

Harold Dade took the flyweight championship by outpointing Peter Sperando in another of last night's bouts. The south side's other open division titleholders are Jack Ballangee, 126 pounds; Hiner Thomas, 160 pounds; Ed Kaminski, 175 pounds, and John Relles, heavyweight. Ed O'Connell and Ed Miller will meet tonight for the 135 pound title.

A pair of giants fought for the novice heavyweight championship, John Breland, who is six feet three inches tall, beating Joe Dasch, who is six feet four. Other novice champions are Salvador Melendez, 112 pounds; Bertrand White, 118 pounds; Al Reasoner, 126 pounds; James Hunt, 135 pounds; John Johnson, 147 pounds; Jesse Hoskins, 160 pounds, and Fred Ross, 175 pounds.

The west sectional championships will be settled tonight and the north on Wednesday. The suburban area boxers will meet on Thursday and Friday in Joliet. Last night's results:

BEARS' VICTORY OVER LIONS PUTS TITLE RACE IN AIR

Three Way Tie Possible in Western Division.

BY GEORGE STRICKLER.

National Football league owners rushed to their private files yesterday, seeking copies of the bylaws and enlightenment on what follows a triple tie for a division championship. The search was fruitless. A few owners found their copies of the bylaws, but the little booklet contained no provision for what appears to be developing in the western division. All were willing to guess tho that a two game play-off would be in order, in which case the league championship would be decided the day before Christmas!

Fred Vanzo.

Packers Have the Edge.

All the excitement was brewed over the week-end in Detroit and Philadelphia, where the Bears whipped the Lions, 23 to 13, and the Green Bay Packers clambered back into a tie for the lead by whipping the Eagles, 23 to 16. The Bears now are in a good position to share in the title, provided Washington, Cleveland, and Brooklyn can bring themselves up sufficiently to manhandle the Lions and Packers. Green Bay appears to have the best chance of winning an undisputed championship, but such an achievement would entail conquering the Lions in the last regularly scheduled game on Dec. 3. This is the engagement which holds the key to the Bears' hopes and also to most of those of the Lions.

There were times Sunday when the Lions appeared to have lost the spark that had sent them galloping over the Bears and Giants. They began the game without Monk Moscrip and Chuck Hanneman, regular ends, and Jack Johnson, veteran left tackle.

The Lions go to Cleveland Sunday, where Coach Dutch Clark and his Rams have been making special arrangements for their welcome for two weeks.

Lions' Path Rocky.

After Cleveland, the Lions meet the Packers and Washington. Washington continued to show surprising strength Sunday by rolling over Brooklyn, 42 to 0. The Redskins are always at their best in Washington. Detroit must win two of these games to wind up in a tie. Victory in all three, of course, or Packer defeats in Brooklyn and Cleveland, both of which are highly improbable, would end all talk of a playoff.

The Bears' chances of getting into a final showdown with the two leaders depend upon Detroit and Green Bay doing no better than winning two of their remaining games while they themselves conquer Philadelphia and the Cardinals. Philadelphia comes to Wrigley Field Sunday.

Entry List for Dog Show Will Close Saturday

BY BOB BECKER.

This is the last week for Chicagoland dog fanciers to enter their [illegible] in the Western Specialty Clubs Association annual fall dog show which opens Saturday morning, Nov. 2[illegible] in the Coliseum. Wilson Bow, superintendent of the show, said yesterday that the final entry date is Nov. [illegible] since all entries must be mailed that night to the American Kennel club. Mr. Bow has opened headquarters in the Atlantic hotel.

The show, which continues thru Sunday, Nov. 26, is the largest specialty show in the country. No other city brings so many breed clubs together. There will be 24 of these midwest dog clubs, each interested in one breed, in the coming show. Included among the breeds to be shown are some of the most popular ones in America.

A record entry of 75 chows is the objective of the Mid States Chow Chow club, one of the organizations which is taking part in this year's show. Ten new breeders have joined the club, according to Mrs. [illegible] Schmidt, secretary. A canvass indicates that members alone will enter 35 chows in the show. Another [illegible] at least will be brought here by exhibitors from all parts of the country. Mrs. Ethel Eichman, chairman of the trophy committee, said yesterday that 40 trophies will be awarded.

Two new clubs and one new breed will be represented this year when the judging begins. The Mid-West Schipperke club and the Great Lakes Bull Terrier club are the newcomers.

Many beautiful trophies will be awarded by THE TRIBUNE to boys and girls winning in the children's handling classes which again are sponsored by this newspaper.

MAROON STUDENT BODY VOTES FOR A WINNING ELEVEN

University of Chicago students want a winning football team and they are in favor of subsidizing athletes as long as the athletes are up to Chicago's scholastic standard, a poll of 1,200 Midway students has revealed.

The poll, conducted by Pulse, students' monthly magazine, was released last night. Ninety per cent of the students want better football players to be induced to attend the university, although only 80 per cent are in favor of outright subsidization, the poll indicated. The largest majority in favor of any one point in the poll voted to continue football as an intercollegiate sport on the Midway, but 90 per cent placed themselves on record as dissatisfied with present conditions.

VICTORY STARVED BADGERS HOPE TO DEFEAT PURDUE

Five Game Losing Streak May End Saturday.

Johnny Doyle.

Madison, Wis., Nov. 13 [Special].—With most of the Wisconsin players who participated in the Illinois game given the day off, Coach Harry Stuhldreher this afternoon began preparations for Purdue, which will play the homecoming game here Saturday.

Stuhldreher announced tonight that Johnny Doyle, senior center from Erie, Pa., will be acting captain in the Purdue game and that Bob Wilding, sophomore left half back from Des Moines, Ia., and Ralph Capp, reserve guard from Chicago, are out for the remainder of the season because of injuries.

Today's drill was devoted to a study of the Boilermakers' attack, which will be illustrated by the freshmen in a scrimmage with the regulars tomorrow. Stuhldreher praised the remarkable spirit of the Badgers, who now have lost five games in a row and still are looking for their first conference victory. The general opinion at Camp Randall is that the spell of misfortune will end against Purdue.

PURDUE GETS HOLIDAY.

Lafayette, Ind., Nov. 13 [Special].—Purdue's football squad, which defeated Northwestern, 3 to 0, was given a well earned rest from drill today as the coaching staf considered ways and means of combatting Wisconsin's desperate Badgers at Madison Saturday.

No injuries of consequence were reported as a result of last Saturday's game, and Coach Mal Elward is hopeful of having the squad in good physical condition for the Wisconsin trip.

Although the Badgers have fared none too well as far as victories are concerned, the Boilermakers are fully aware of the fact that they will be definitly on the spot as they attempt to chalk up their second Big Ten victory before a Wisconsin homecoming throng.

MICHIGAN LOSES FRUTIG.

Ann Arbor, Mich., Nov. 13 [Special].—Ed Frutig, star Michigan end, today was declared definitely out for the remainder of the season due to a dislocated tendon in his right ankle and heel developed in the Minnesota game. His loss deprives the Wolverines of their best pass receiver for games with Pennsylvania on Saturday and Ohio State Nov. 25.

Four other Michigan regulars received minor injuries at the hands of the Gophers. Half Backs Tom Harmon and Paul Kromer each suffered sprains which may hamper further the passing attack. Harmon sprained a finger and Kromer a thumb, both on the right hand. Tackle Bill Smith strained a knee, but was released from the hospital today, while End John Nicholson suffered a charley horse.

Those who played a quarter or more against Minnesota were excused from practice today, but as they walked out of the dressing room a large sign was placed on the door reading "A good team is one that can come back."

EXPECT PENN SHAKEUP.

Philadelphia, Pa., Nov. 13 [Special].—After last Saturday's unexpected setback by Penn State, Coach George Munger started to rebuild the Pensylvania team today for the intersectional battle with Michigan. The entire coaching staff was dissatisfied with the offense and tackling of the squad in the State game. Several changes are likely, but after an hour and a half's practice Munger would not indicate just who would be demoted.

PANTHERS LOSE 4 PLAYERS FOR NEBRASKA GAME

Pittsburgh, Pa., Nov. 13 (AP).—Two veteran Pitt players who were injured in the Carnegie Tech game will be out for the remainder of the season. Ben Kish of Tonawanda, N. Y., playing his first season as regular quarter back, broke a small bone in his right leg and John Dickinson of Pittsburgh, regular right end, suffered a torn cartilage in his knee.

Two other players, Full Back Ernest Bonelli of Aspinwall, Pa., and Ted Konetsky, junior letter man from German township, Pa., also were badly hurt and will not play against Nebraska here Saturday. Bonelli has two cracked ribs.

CHICAGO INDOOR TENNIS MEET SET FOR DEC. 2 TO 10

The Chicago city annual indoor tennis meet will be held in the 108th Engineers Armory from Dec. 2 to 10, it was announced yesterday by George J. O'Connell, director of the tournament.

Frank Froehling of Northwestern university is the defending champion in the singles division. Bobby Riggs, No. 1 amateur in the United States will head the list of entries.

I.A.C. Water Poloists to Play Northwestern Friday

Plans were completed yesterday for a match between the Illinois Athletic club water polo team, national champion, and the Northwestern university team to feature the Olympic fund water carnival in the Shawnee Country club next Friday.

BOMBERS MEET ARROWS.

Bernie Jefferson and the Chicago Brown Bombers return to Spencer field Thursday night for the fifth and last time this fall to play the Silver Arrows of Cicero.

ILLINI CONCOCT UPSET POISON FOR OHIO STATE

Champaign, Ill., Nov. 13 [Special].—Hoping to upset the titlebound Ohio State football team Saturday, Illinois was back at work today learning new plays and correcting faults evident in the victory over Wisconsin.

Coach Bob Zuppke's respect for the Buckeyes was substantiated by scouts' reports that credit Ohio State possibly the best balanced backfield in the Big Ten. The Illini have particulor regard for Don Scott's running and passing.

The Illinois squad came thru the Wisconsin game with only a few minor injuries and expect to be in good physical condition by Saturday. The first eleven took it easy today while players who didn't oppose the Badgers scrimmaged. Freshmen armed with Ohio State formations will oppose the varsity tomorrow.

RESERVES PLEASE SCHMIDT.

Columbus, O., Nov. 13 [Special.]—Coach Francis Schmidt was pleased today with the showing of Ohio State reserves in Saturday's game against Chicago, especially with the work of Johnny Hallabrin, full back; Frank Howe, half back, and Stuart Whitehead, a guard transplanted from his usual end position.

All of the Buckeyes came thru the game in good physical condition with the exception of Vic Marino, first string guard whose leg again was injured. Marino, however, probably will be ready to oppose Illinois here Saturday. Don Scott received a bruised leg but will be calling signals when the Illini battle starts.

If Ohio State can defeat Illinois, the Buckeyes will clinch a share of the Big Ten title, regardless of the outcome of the Ohio-Michigan game Nov. 25.

The usual Monday holiday for regulars was denied today. Work on offense especially designed for the Illini was started. Later defense was the topic under discussion as the reserve team gave the regulars a demonstration of Illinois plays.

MARQUETTE IN GOOD SHAPE.

Milwaukee, Wis., Nov. 13 [Special].—A checkup today indicated the Marquette university football team had pulled thru its 21 to 2 victory over Iowa State Saturday without mishap and that it will be at full strength for Saturday's final game with Texas Tech in Lubbock. A victory in Lubbock would give the Hilltoppers an even break for the season for the first time since the performances of the Marquette Cotton Bowl team of 1936.

Dr. Anderson Makes a Front Porch Speech

the business district, stopping trafic, as they paused every few hundred feet for another series of yells.

They sighted Al Couppee, sophomore quarter back, watching the demonstration from a third floor window of a building. He was cheered for several minutes, but when a Minnesota banner appeared from the window, it met with long boos, jeers and cries of "bring 'em on."

Squad Gets Day's Vacation.

The town was littered with torn paper and confetti, but there was no sign of disorder or property destruction.

The entire football squad was given the day off from practice by Anderson. "I hate to lose the day of practice," he said, "but I believe the rest will pay us bigger dividends next Saturday than another day of drill."

Most of the players were bruised and weary from the game with the Irish, but Bruno Andruska was the only casualty. He suffered a sprained wrist. Anderson praised the courage of the Chicago junior who played thruout the entire second half despite the injury.

Expect Sellout Saturday.

Andruska will be ready for practice tomorrow, Dr. W. W. Hayne, team physician, said. Captain Erwin Prasse was suffering from a charley horse, which is not expected to keep him from practice.

The squad looked at pictures of the Notre Dame game tonight following its dinner meeting, where plans for Saturday's homecoming game against Minnesota were discussed.

Prospects for another sellout crowd for the game were in evidence as additional orders piled up in the athletic department ticket office.

Reading Nine Admitted to Interstate League

Trenton, N. J., Nov. 13 (AP).—Reading [Pa.] was admitted to the Interstate Baseball league today, Executive Vice President Andrew K. Dutch announced. The franchise, he said, had been granted to J. R. Eddington of Federalsburg, Md.

FRANCK SHAKES OFF LEG INJURY; HE'LL FACE IOWA

Minnesota Also Hails the Return of Smith.

Minneapolis, Minn., Nov. 13 [Special].—George Franck, Minnesota half back who sparked the Gophers to a 20 to 7 victory over Michigan in Ann Arbor Saturday, then was carried off the field in the third quarter, will be in the lineup against Iowa in Iowa City Saturday.

This appeared certain today when the Davenport, Ia., speedster appeared in the training room, limping only slightly. Trainer Lloyd Stein was certain Franck would be ready for the surprising Hawkeyes.

The Gophers also were cheered by the report Bob Smith, star sophomore guard who was out of the Michigan game, would play against Iowa.

Minnesota regulars who figured in Saturday's upset, with the odds 14 to 5 against the Gophers, were given a day off. But Coach Bernie Bierman gave the reserves a hard drill.

Distributors Group, Inc., will offer 87,500 shares of Finch Telecommunications, Inc. common stock at $5 a share. The offering will mark the first new capital financing in the field of facsimile communication, it was said. Proceeds of the financing are to be used for the purchase of additional machinery and for general expansion. Facsimile communication, according to the prospectus, is the transmission over radio, telephone or wire circuits of any material which can be recorded on paper.

Canadian Colonial Airways, Inc., filed a registration statement with the Securities and Exchange commission covering 50,000 shares of $1 par capital stock. The offering price will be stated in an amendment.

Plan New Service.

The company, which operates a passenger and express air line between New York, Montreal and other points in Canada, plans to expand its service. It recently placed an order for two Douglas DC-3 planes, calling for delivery next June. The balance of the proceeds will be used for general corporate purposes, including debt retirement, according to the statement.

Stockholders of the Hydraulic Press Manufacturing company at a special meeting authorized creation of a new issue of 6 per cent convertible preferred stock and a split-up of the present common shares on a 10 for 1 basis. An underwriting agreement covering both the preferred and common stock was also approved.

The financing will provide funds for an expansion program, according to Howard F. MacMillin, president.

INTEREST CHARGES.

I have looked into the method used by my stock broker to figure the interest on the balance I owe him each month in my account—what he calls my debit balance. I find that on the basis of a year I am paying five days' interest too much. He tells me that the interest is figured on a 360 day year. What does he mean? What is the method used commonly? Is interest paid on credit balances?—G. D.

Answer: Interest on short-term [less than a year] loans is customarily computed on the actual number of days the loan is outstanding on the basis of 360 days to the year. In an actively traded account the debit balance [the amount owed to the brokerage house] varies daily. The interest for one day would be 1-360th of the annual interest on the amount owed that day.

Taking a specific instance, assume that a debit balance of $1,000 in October remained unchanged thru the month. The annual interest at 5 per cent would be $50. Divided by 360, the interest for each day would be about 14 cents. For the 31 days of October the charge would be $4.34.

This method of computing interest on a 360 day year does leave five days for which additional interest is paid during a full year of 365 days. On the 360 day basis the interest rate for the entire year of 365 days is actually 5.06 per cent instead of 5 per cent.

We have been unable to trace the historical precedent for this procedure, which is followed by brokerage houses as well as by banks in making brokers' loans. The usual reason given is that the method is convenient and adaptable to rapid calculating systems.

No interest is usually paid on credit balances because they are similar to demand deposits, upon which the banks pay no interest.

LESS THAN TEN.

I notice the trading unit for some stocks is 10 shares. I own six shares of one stock and two of another in which the round lot is 10 shares. If I wanted to sell them would I be barred or penalized?—L. S.

Answer: You are not prevented from disposing of your stock because the trading unit is 10 shares. Your broker can arrange to sell them. You pay an extra charge, however, ranging from ⅛ to as much as 2 points, depending on the market price of the stock. This charge goes to the odd lot dealer for his service in handling small lots and is in addition to the usual brokers' commission and the taxes on the sale.

CHICAGO LIVE STOCK

The largest hog receipts of the year broke the markets for pork and hogs yesterday. The Chicago stockyards received 34,000 head, including 14,100 direct to packers. This was the second largest total for any day since January, 1938, and equal to the largest November run in three years.

A break of mostly 20 to 25 cents in hogs carried prices to the lowest point since the middle of last August and to the lowest November level in five years.

Competition of relatively low priced pork and poultry restricted buying of cattle at weak to lower prices. A big share of the supply sold 25 to 35 cents under last week's close.

A few top lots of native and fed western lambs sold steady, but the bulk ruled weak to 25 cents lower.

DRY GOODS.

NEW YORK, Nov. 13 (AP).—There was a broader inquiry for print cloths in the Worth street gray goods market today but actual bookings were mostly for fill-in requirements. Prices were steady and unchanged. Demand for rayon goods was slow but mills were kept well covered on yarn deliveries. Silk fabrics sales fell off because of the high raw silk price. In the woolen market demand for fabrics has lessened considerably although mills are operating at a good pace. Domestic consumption of burlap during October was placed by trade sources at 73,000,000 yards which is 5 million yards above October a year ago, but 18 million under September this year.

FEDERAL JURORS HEAR STORY OF A. P. SLOAN'S RISE

General Motors Chairman Traces His Career.

South Bend, Ind., Nov. 13 (AP).—Federal court jurors today heard a real life "Horatio Alger" story from Alfred P. Sloan Jr. of New York City, chairman of the General Motors corporation board of directors, as the G. M. antitrust trial entered its sixth week.

Alfred P. Sloan Jr.

Sloan, one of 17 officials of G. M. and three affiliates charged with violating the Sherman act thru coercing dealers to use General Motors Acceptance corporation in financing automobile time sales, was on the witness stand thruout the afternoon.

On direct examination conducted by John Thomas Smith, G. M. vice president and chief of defense counsel, Sloan related the story of his rise from a $12 a week draftsman to chairman of the General Motors board.

Near Insolvency Then.

When he took the draftsman job with the Hyatt Roller Bearing company, Sloan told the jury, the concern was approaching insolvency. Later he became manager of the company, which employed 25 workers, at $175 a month. In 1916, Sloan testified, the bearing company was sold for $13,500,000.

Tracing his long years in the automotive industry, Sloan recalled that he was president of United Motors company, which consolidated with General Motors in 1918. Then he became a vice president of G. M.; five years later he was advanced to the presidency, and in 1937 assumed his present position.

Questioned on Meeting.

Questioned concerning a meeting of G. M. executives in Los Angeles in 1925, Sloan replied that the conference was called to solve financing problems on the Pacific coast. He recalled that G. M. officials decided at that time to order all Chevrolet dealers to limit their financing charges to the rates charged by G. M. A. C.

V. A. Chalmers, Oldsmobile zone manager at Houston, Tex., denied ever having told Fred G. Bergen, St. Joseph, Mo., dealer that Bergen did not give enough business to G. M. A. C. Bergan previously had testified for the government.

DAY by DAY on the FARM by HOMER CNEISZ

Chestnuts Stored

November 13, 1939.

A BUSHEL of horse chestnuts recently was stored at the Du Page county farm for planting next spring. They were picked up under trees at the farm. During winter they will be kept in a damp place in a well house.

Men at the farm have had better success planting these nuts in the spring than by following nature's plan of planting them in the fall. Two years ago some of the nuts were kept in the well house during winter and planted in April. All sprouted. Last fall some horse chestnuts were planted in the garden. None came up last spring. In each case the nuts were planted in well prepared garden soil.

Rabbits chewed off some of the horse chestnut seedlings last winter, but new sprouts grew out from the stumps during summer. Most of them are expected to live. The others are about a foot tall.

Best of Flowering Trees.

The horse chestnut is considered the best of the flowering trees that grow at the farm. It is closely related to the buckeye tree, but has much larger and more beautiful flowers. Horse chestnuts often are planted along streets for the beauty of their blossoms, especially in European cities.

These trees are hardy and usually are easy to grow, but sometimes they are affected by a disease called chestnut leaf blotch and by a blight that injures the wood. Those at the farm were injured slightly by the leaf disease last summer for the first time in many years. The foliage will be dusted with sulphur next spring in an attempt to avoid further trouble.

A dwarf buckeye set out last spring made a good showing. It bloomed in August and the blossoms stayed on nearly a month. Few other shrubs were in bloom at that time. Some thought the dwarf buckeye was as pretty as a lilac bush. More of these shrubs are to be started from seeds next spring if the seeds can be obtained.

Oak Seedlings Thrive.

Acorns from four varieties of European oaks that were planted in the garden last fall have done well. All sprouted last spring and the seedlings grew 10 to 12 inches tall during summer. They will be left in the garden three or four more years and then will be set in permanent locations.

While the oak seedlings are growing in the garden the tap roots will be cut off a few inches below the surface each spring. This will encourage fibrous roots to grow near the surface and will make it easier to transplant the trees later on. The tap roots will develop normally after the trees are set out.

Oak seedlings develop such long tap roots if allowed to grow naturally that is difficult to dig them up for transplanting without leaving much of the tap root in the ground. A two inch oak sapling usually will have a tap root four or five feet long and only a few of the smaller lateral or fibrous roots.

OIL MEN URGED TO AID NATIONAL HIGHWAY PLAN

Bureau Chief Tells Need of Program.

BY HAL FOUST.

Thomas H. MacDonald, chief of the United States bureau of public roads, yesterday solicited the support of America's oil industry in getting congress to adopt a nationwide superhighway construction program on which 35 or 40 billion dollars would be spent in the next 20 years.

Thomas H. MacDonald

He spoke before a committee at an initial session of the American Petroleum Institute's 20th annual meeting, which will be attended by 3,000 delegates this week in the Stevens hotel.

"Unless future road building follows a well conceived program," said MacDonald, "there will be further increases in the gasoline tax rate. Heavy expenditures must be directed to projects carrying large volumes of traffic warranting the costs.

Termed Greatest Need.

"Surveys during the last few years have proved that America's greatest need from the standpoints of traffic safety and economics is superhighways, which must be built outward from the centers of metropolitan areas. In these cities is your industry's greatest opportunity for expending its market. Improved facilities will stimulate automobile usage, reduce accidents, and increase gasoline tax revenue without increasing the tax rate.

"Our surveys indicate a need for 28,000 miles of superhighways in this country, in comparatively short stretches, from centers of the cities outward. There also is a need for modernization of 60,000 miles of interregional routes which have been antiquated by the advance in travel speeds during the last 15 or 20 years.

"The total cost is huge. But the desired results can be obtained by concentrating our construction upon this objective in our year to year construction with revenue at its present rate."

Adjusted Tax Rate Urged.

To MacDonald's theme that construction should be dictated by traffic requirements, Maj. Roy F. Britton, president of the Automobile Club of Missouri, added that the tax rate, too, must be adjusted to expand rather than to restrict motor car usage.

"Most motor vehicle owners," said Britton, "earn less than $30 a week. The average motorist uses 700 gallons of gasoline a year. With a federal and state gasoline tax of around 5 cents a gallon, his gas tax bill amounts to $30 a year—a week's wages.

"A diminishing stream of revenue will flow from exorbitant rates. The same result from a revenue producing standpoint, in many cases, may be obtained from lower rates which will tend to expand use."

Dr. Roswell Magill, Columbia university law professor, said the motor fuel excise should not be used for general governmental expenses, because, "unlike the income tax, the gasoline tax is not a particularly good measure of ability to pay."

Federal Debt Cited.

He said the federal government, which collects a penny a gallon from motorists, could reduce its annual expenses 7 to 7½ billion dollars annually. He declared that if America entered the European war it would be in a weak financial condition compared with conditions at the opening of the world war in 1914.

"In 1914," he said, "our debt was low and our tax sources almost untapped. Today our debt is great, our peace time budget heavily unbalanced, and our taxes imposed on a basis which yielded more in 1938 than our greatest collections during the first world war."

Other group meetings heard technical discussions on oil production, refining and marketing, and other subjects. The meetings will continue thru Friday.

STEEL OUTPUT RISES TO 93.5%; BEST SINCE 1933

Steel plant operations this week are scheduled at the highest rate since 1933, the American Iron and Steel institute reported yesterday. The rate, 93.5 per cent of capacity, is 1 point, or 1.1 per cent, higher than the 92.5 per cent of last week, and compares with 90.3 per cent a month ago, and 62.6 in the comparable 1938 period.

The Chicago district rate this week is scheduled to start at 91.2 per cent of theoretical capacity, compared with 90.3 per cent last week. The Chicago rate is also a new high mark.

October Building Permits Top 1938 by 21.4 Per Cent

New York, Nov. 13 (AP).—October building permits for 215 cities in the United States totaled $117,878,159, an increase of 14.2 per cent over the $103,203,666 for the preceding month and a gain of 21.4 per cent over the $97,111,919 for October, 1938, Dun & Bradstreet reported today. The October total, with the exception of March and June of this year, was the largest for any month since July, 1938, the credit agency said.

Garment Men May Test Wage Act in Courts

Washington, D. C., Nov. 13 (AP).—Southern garment manufacturers threatened court action tonight to block wage-hour administration proceedings aimed at establishing minimum wages for 650,000 workers.

On the first day of a public hearing conducted by a trial examiner, spokesmen for the Southern Garment Manufacturers' association demanded discontinuance until an administrator for the wage-hour division had been appointed by Roosevelt.

Albert F. Beasley of Washington, counsel for the southerners, contended the law required an administrator to conduct the hearing. He remarked that Elmer F. Andrews' resignation on Oct. 16 left the post vacant.

"The power and duty of the administrator is one requiring judgment and discretion, and may not be delegated," he argued.

Doubts Validity of Hearing.

Terming the hearing of "doubtful validity," he asked discontinuance. His motion was taken under consideration by Examiner Thomas Holland, who said he would decide the question tomorrow.

Legal advisers of the labor department disputed Beasley's contention the post was vacant, asserting Andrews' resignation was without legal effect until his accumulated leave expired. Gerard D. Reilly, solicitor, said that would be Nov. 30.

Meanwhile, Secretary Perkins' appointment of an acting administrator, Harold D. Jacobs, was "valid," he said, in view of Andrews' "absence."

Disclosing he was considering court action to restrain Holland from continuing the proceedings, Beasley added he might withhold a court appeal until after issuance of a wage order, as a basis for testing its validity in the Supreme court.

Second Threat to Test Act.

The legal threat was the second aimed at the wage-hour administration. Another group of southerners, textile manufacturers, have appealed a wage order of 32½ cents an hour for their industry to a federal Circuit Court of Appeals.

The apparel hearing itself involves recommendations for minimum wages ranging from 32½ cents to 40 cents an hour, which would result in wage increases for 200,000 of the 650,000 employés of apparel plants. The recommendation involves 12,500 establishments which were covered by 30 different codes under NRA.

N. A. Tolles, chief economist for the wage-hour division, estimated a proposed 35 cent minimun for the dress industry would raise its wage bill 1.4 per cent, but would not substantially curtail employment.

RESERVE STOCKS OF BUTTER FALL DURING OCTOBER

The nation's reserve holdings of creamery butter declined 26,447,000 pounds during October to a total of 128,147,000 on Nov. 17 the department of agriculture's monthly warehouse inventory disclosed yesterday. The reduction was the third largest for any October on record.

The total in storage as of Nov. 1 was 67,116,000 pounds less than of the corresponding date in 1938. Approximately 16 per cent of the total was under federal control, according to the report. Stocks of the federally financed Dairy Products Marketing association were reduced 2,270,000 pounds during the month by transfers to the Federal Surplus Commodities corporation.

A total of 1,902,000 of shell eggs moved out of storage during October, the heaviest movement since 1934. On Nov. 1 holdings were 3,528,000 cases, 284,000 more than on the corresponding date a year earlier.

American cheese stocks decreased 3,523,000 pounds during the month to 94,007,000 on Nov. 1.

Ald. Arthur G. Lindell, chairman of the committee on housing of the city council, yesterday urged a comprehensive housing plan under supervision of the Chicago plan commission whereby private capital would be safeguarded in reclaiming blighted areas. Lindell spoke at a luncheon of the Metropolitan housing council at the Hotel Sherman. He recommended that study be given to modern methods of construction so that building costs may be reduced.

C. I. O. TO CHARGE BETHLEHEM WITH BARGAIN REBUFF

New York, Nov. 13 (AP).—Representatives of the Steel Workers Organizing Committee [C. I. O.] today announced they would charge the Bethlehem Steel corporation with refusal to bargain collectively and with anti-union discrimination.

Announcement that charges would be filed with the National Labor Relations board was made after a union delegation claiming to represent 75 per cent of the company's 60,000 workers was unable to obtain an audience with Eugene G. Grace, company president. At the company's office it was said Grace was out of town and no other officials were available.

The union group, headed by E. J. Lever, Bethlehem director of the S. W. O. C., came prepared to ask a $5 minimum daily wage in all of the company's plants. The union also seeks an 8 hour day and 40 hour week, with time and a half for overtime, one week vacations with pay, seniority rights, and more adequate safety measures in the plants.

AWARD STEEL CONTRACTS ON 2 LARGE PROJECTS

Two Chicago projects figured prominently in reports of steel sales made yesterday. American Bridge company, a subsidiary of United States Steel corporation reported booking orders for 2,000 tons of steel for the superstructure of the $1,800,000 bridge at Western avenue and 31st street. Bethlehem Steel coroporation announced orders for 1,800 tons of reinforcing steel for the new $2,000,000 General Electric company office building on the near west side.

Increased ship construction was credited for an all-time employment record at the Philadelphia Navy yard. Employment has reached 10,076 men, the world war peak of 9,600 having been passed several weeks ago.

Unfilled orders totaling in excess of $31,000,000, compared with $2,475,000 last May 1, were reported by the American Car & Foundry company as of Oct. 31.

ADDRESS P G 119, TRIBUNE

ARRANGE $14,400,000 PURCHASE OF TIMBER FELLED BY HURRICANE

Boston, Mass., Nov. 13 (AP).—A $14,400,000 transaction—believed the largest of its kind in the nation's history—effecting the sale of 600 million board feet of New England lumber felled in last year's hurricane, was announced today by the Northeastern Timber Salvage administration.

The purchase was made by a newly formed coöperative of wholesalers, according to Leslie S. Bean, salvage administrator. Bean reported timber owners would receive $24 per thousand feet, a price he termed "considerably higher" than they usually receive. He added this price may be adjusted semi-annually.

The contract, operative for four and a half years, provides for quarterly payments of $800,000 and allows dealers a return of 20 per cent on their investment.

Bean credited Herman I. Hymans, Detroit wholesaler, with originating the idea of the big transaction. He said the association, incorporated in Delaware, is known as the Northeastern Timber and Marketing association. The organization probably would insure distribution of the lumber south of the Potomac and west to the Mississippi, Bean said.

PERKINS WARNS JOBS WILL LAG BEHIND UPTURN

Washington, D. C., Nov. 13 (AP).—Secretary of Labor Perkins, citing the increased efficiency of mechanized production in the last 10 years, told state labor officials today that employment gains would lag behind the present upturn in industrial production.

In an address before the national conference on labor legislation, the secretary said that "a healthy recovery" which began last summer in manufacturing and business had sent fall industrial production to the peak level of 1929.

"That does not mean," she said, "that employment will be correspondingly quite as high, since machine processes are increasingly efficient and the amount of goods produced by each worker averages more than it did 10 years ago."

The secretary said that 1,250,000 more persons were employed now in nonagricultural industries than a year ago.

NEBRASKA'S OIL BOOM SPREADS TO NEW SECTIONS

Omaha, Neb. Nov. 13 (AP).—Nebraska's new oil boom, fathered by the first producing well near Falls City in the four state forest basin, spread to other parts of the state today.

A 15 man seismograph crew of a major oil company began a survey near Hastings. The crew will utilize a test well previously drilled to 4,200 feet. Drilling also is being pushed on wells near Murray and Chadron, Neb.

Test New Illinois Field.

Centralia, Ill., Nov. 13 (AP).—The possibility of a second oil field in Washington county became apparent today when Shell Oil Company, Inc., set casing to test Benoist saturation at No. 1 Mary Dix near Dubois. The test is near two dry holes drilled several months ago.

SUPREME COURT VOIDS FIGHT ON NEW COAL LAW

Atlanta's Attack on Pricing Dismissed.

Washington, D. C., Nov. 13 (AP).—The Supreme court dismissed today an attack by Atlanta on constitutionality of the 1937 bituminous coal act. In a brief order, the tribunal held that Atlanta "has no standing to maintain the suit." It affirmed a judgment against the city by the federal District court for the District of Columbia.

Atlanta had contended that price fixing provisions of the legislation, to be placed in effect soon, would require it to pay a higher price for coal and that this would be an unconstitutional interference with the performance of "essential governmental functions."

Court Doubts Jurisdiction.

When the case came before the court on Nov. 7, Chief Justice Hughes stopped argument after he and his associates had expressed doubt that the tribunal would have jurisdiction until the city was actually damaged by the legislation.

The law, intended to stabilize the bituminous coal industry, was passed as a substitute for the 1935 Guffey act declared unconstitutional by the Supreme court.

The court took under advisement today the question of whether the Union Stockyards and Transit company of Chicago is under the jurisdiction of the interstate commerce commission.

Frederick H. Wood, company counsel, told the court the stockyards firm performed no services within the meaning of the common carrier provision of the I. C. C. He said that if the court found his contention correct, the company would go under provisions of the packer and stockyards act, giving the secretary of agriculture jurisdiction.

Opposing Arguments Offered.

Daniel Knowleon, general counsel of the I. C. C., told the court the company, "performed an indispensable transportation service and is a common carrier under the act."

Last year the I. C. C. ordered the firm to cancel schedules abolishing its published charges for loading and unloading live stock in Chicago.

The firm appealed to the high court from a ruling of a three judge federal court in the northern Illinois district, holding that the company was a common carrier.

The National Live Stock Marketing association, asserting it represented 300,000 farmers and ranchers, filed a brief in support of the I. C. C.

United Plans Expanding Air Route in East

United Air Lines yesterday notified the Civil Aeronautics authority at Washington that it planned to file an application for a certificate of convenience and necessity to operate planes carrying mail, passengers, and express between Boston, Hartford, Conn., and Cleveland to provide thru service between New England and Chicago and Pacific points.

The proposed route would give Boston, Hartford, and other New England points their first thru transcontinental air service directly west.

Provide Thru Service.

Such a route would enable air travelers from New England to fly across the country thru the Chicago gateway on a thru service. Coast to coast air travelers to and from New England are now routed via New York as there is no direct thru service west from New England.

W. A. Patterson, president of United, asserted the proposed service thru the Chicago gateway follows numerous requests by civic and business interests not only in New England but in the Great Lakes area as well.

Order More Planes.

United will operate the latest type of Douglas equipment on the route, Patterson said. United now has a fleet of 53 twin engined transport planes and last week placed an order for ten four engined 40 passenger Douglas DC-4 transports. The order, totaling $3,400,000, calls for delivery in 1941, these planes to be capable of flying from coast to coast in 13 hours.

In addition, in anticipation of increased travel next year, United recently placed an order for seven more twin engine Douglases with delivery to be made in the spring of 1940. This order totaled $870,000.

MEAT RESERVES SINK TO LOWEST LEVEL IN YEAR

COPPER MINES, AIRCRAFT FIRM BOOST PROFITS

Anaconda, Douglas Show Big Gains.

Anaconda Copper Mining company and Douglas Aircraft Company, Inc., two of the nation's leading industrial enterprises, yesterday reported improved earnings. Several other companies also joined the growing list of concerns reflecting the higher tempo of business in recent months.

Donald W. Douglas reports big order backlog.

Earnings of $11,613,344 during the nine months ended Sept. 30 were reported in a preliminary statement of Anaconda Copper and subsidiaries. Net income was equivalent to $1.34 a share. The company said estimated earnings of subsidiaries not consolidated and not included in the statement totaled $253,735.

In the corresponding period last year net income, exclusive of earnings of subsidiaries not consolidated, amounted to $5,657,998, or 65 cents a share. The world's largest producer of copper, the company has mines in several western states, in Mexico, and in Chile.

Douglas Aircraft's net earnings for the nine months ended Aug. 31 rose to $2,382,159, equal to $3.97 a share on 600,000 shares of outstanding stock, according to a report by Donald W. Douglas, president. For the corresponding period of 1938 net profit was $1,821,964, or $3.19 a share on 570,683 shares then outstanding.

Indicated earnings for the quarter ended Aug. 31 totaled $985,368, equivalent to $1.64 a share, against $728,815, or $1.28 a share, in the similar period last year. The company is one of the principal manufacturers of commercial and military aircraft. Its principal plant and general offices are at Santa Monica, Cal.

Stocks, Bonds

New York Stocks.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

New York, Nov. 13.—The stock market drifted irregularly lower today in the dullest trading since Oct. 30. Only 651,750 shares changed hands and prices kept within a narrow range. Most of the business was reported to have come from professional traders.

Failure of anything to transpire over the holiday week-end that might have resulted in sponsoring a definite trend was said by a majority of observers to account for the market's listless performance.

The list opened slightly higher, with low priced "war babies" receiving better attention. Prices held their gains for a while, then sought lower levels when further buying failed to appear.

Most motors improved fractionally, notably General Motors, Yellow Truck, and Greyhound. Continental Motors was active and higher in early dealings, but closed unchanged. Chrysler lost a fraction.

Electric Boat was all over the tape for a time and moved into new high ground for the year with a small gain. Curtiss-Wright was another active stock, but slipped back to Friday's final quotation after pointing higher. Eastern Air Lines and Aviation corporation worked higher on good buying.

United States Steel met a flurry of early selling, but steadied later to close just below Friday's final price.

New York Bonds.

New York, Nov. 13 (AP).—Bond prices advanced slightly today in steady but small trading. Fractional gains were scattered thruout the list, with low yield and low price bonds sharing about evenly in the benefits.

Among the corporate issues which registered gains of fractions to a point were Chesapeake and Ohio 3½s, Milwaukee 5s, International Paper 5s, Studebaker 6s, Pacific Gas 3¾s, and Southern Pacific 4½s.

United States treasuries varied at the close from 4-32 point up to 7-32 lower, with plus signs preponderant.

Chicago Stocks.

Commonwealth Edison shares advanced ¼ point on the Chicago Stock exchange yesterday, closing at 31. Turnover in the issue, most active stock, totaled 2,000 shares.

Several other volume leaders, including General Motors, Aro Equipment, Chicago corporation, and Bliss & Laughlin, advanced fractionally also. Middle West, Marshall Field, and Wahl company lost ⅛ to ¼. Berghoff and Aviation and Transportation held steady.

Bank Stocks.

The bid price of First National and Continental Illinois rose one point each yesterday. Most other issues were steady to a point lower.

Commodities

The price of cocoa soared yesterday on reports from London that the British government proposes to buy the entire cocoa crop of British West Africa, principal supplier of cocoa used in the United States. New York futures closed about ⅜ to ½ cent a pound higher.

The report said the government will take all of the African Gold Coast's 1939-1940 production "as a war measure." The Gold Coast produces about one-third of the world crop. Annual United States imports run around 225,000 long tons, slightly less than the Gold Coast's production.

Britain usually buys only about [illegible],000 tons of cocoa yearly. Some trade interests believed Britain might be planning to sell the surplus to obtain foreign exchange.

Brazil is the second largest cocoa producer, turning out some [illegible] tons annually, with Nigeria, a French mandated territory, running a close third.

The trend in other commodities was mostly upward. Wool tops advanced .3 to 1.9 cents a pound, tin was up ½ to 1½ cents, and rubber futures finished unchanged to .13 cent a pound higher. Rio coffee made fractional gains, while the cash commodity was marked up ⅛ cent at [illegible] cents a pound. Santos coffee was irregular.

Demand for egg futures dropped sharply on the Chicago mercantile exchange yesterday as buyers awaited the department of agriculture's monthly inventory, released later in the day. The December delivery closed at 17.75 cents per dozen, its low for the season. Cash prices were steady. Butter futures closed unchanged to 0.15 cent higher with the November delivery showing relative strength at 27.80 cents a pound.

STEEL LEADER CREDITS UPTURN TO CONFIDENCE

Cites Roosevelt Policies Rebuffed or Changed.

Washington, D. C., Nov. 13 (AP).—Charles R. Hook, president of the American Rolling Mill company, credited "a new attitude" of greater public confidence today with having contributed materially to improved business conditions this year.

Among other factors inspiring business confidence, Hook told the monopoly committee, was defeat of President Roosevelt's lending bill last summer, action of the treasury in inviting industry to make suggestions for improving the tax structure, and appointment of a house committee to investigate the Wagner labor act.

"War or no war," he said, "we would have had an excellent general business volume this year."

Cites Investors' Hesitancy.

Hook contended that investors had been hesitant for the last several years about risking their money because of certain provisions of the securities and exchange act, "the manner in which the national labor relations act has been administered," and fear of government competition.

The steel executive said he favored giving business the right of "group coöperation with respect to prices."

The steel man's suggestion was contained in a letter to A. A. Berle Jr., assistant secretary of state.

"No sensible industrialist," one paragraph said, "would contend that there must not be certain proper regulation of corporate activities; however, we cannot pay wages or continue to increase wages if management is denied the right of group coöperation with respect to prices."

Commenting on the letter, Hook said he was not advocating giving companies the right to agree on prices, but said he thought it "perfectly proper for corporate management to discuss the relation between cost and price."

Hear of Tube Prices.

The monopoly committee heard testimony that officials of the South Chester Tube company, Chester, Pa., sought in 1938 to dissuade a competitor from reducing prices.

Charles H. Roberts, general sales manager of the company, and Francis H. Gibson, district sales manager at Pittsburgh, testified they had told officials of the Wheeling Steel corporation that they regarded Wheeling's published prices on tube products sold to the oil industry as "out of line" with costs and too low to be profitable.

O. I. Strickland, manager of Wheeling's tubular sales division, confirmed that such conversations were held, but asserted that he gave no assurances as to what the company's price policy would be.

The two companies were the only ones in the industry which made a type of tube known as "lapweld," as distinguished from a higher priced "seamless" tube made by a number of other companies.

Welles Elected President of Mill Supply Association

E. K. Welles, vice president of Charles H. Besly & Co., distributors, was elected president of the Central States Mill Supply association yesterday at the group's convention held at the Palmer House. Approximately 125 industrial distributors and 600 manufacturers attended the meeting.

MEMBER BANK REPORT

The federal reserve board yesterday reported another increase in commercial, industrial, and agricultural loans, with banks in the seventh [Chicago] district leading in the increase. Banks in 101 leading cities increased these types of loans 20 million dollars to a total of 4 billion 330 millions in the week ended Nov. 8. Banks in the Chicago area reported 15 million dollars of the increase.

COPPER MINES, AIRCRAFT FIRM BOOST PROFITS

Anaconda and Douglas Show Big Gains.

"In spite of the substantial increase in the company's backlog," Douglas said, "ample provision has been made for production devoted to needs of the United States army and navy and the commercial air lines in this and foreign countries. More than 50 per cent of the total production capacity of the Santa Monica and El Segundo plants will be devoted to these demands."

The company's peak production, which is expected about June, 1940, will be reached without extensive additions or duplication to existing facilities, according to Douglas. By next summer, he said, the company expects to have about 17,000 persons on its pay roll and about 50 per cent of production will be devoted at that time to foreign business.

GRAINS DECLINE AS WAR TENSION LESSENS ABROAD

Grain markets showed an easy undertone yesterday in sympathy with securities, an advance in foreign exchange, and an apparent lessening of the political tension in Europe.

Clear skies prevailed over the winter wheat belt over the week-end, and the forecast was for fair and warmer. Unfavorable crop reports from the more western parts of the big wheat producing areas in Kansas, Nebraska, Oklahoma, and Texas, however, attracted little attention.

Closing trades on wheat futures on the Chicago Board of Trade were ⅜ to ⅝ cent lower. Corn lost ⅜ to ½ cent on selling induced by the unexpected increase in the department of agriculture's crop estimate late Friday.

Outside interest in the grain markets was small, and professional traders showed a disposition to take the selling side, finding support rather feeble.

Residents of Illinois have benefited by this new "SPECIAL" Loan Plan.

As little as $2.00 to $2.26 a week repays in full, including all charges, a $150 loan over 20 months at America's largest loan company. No salary assignments.

$2.00 a week on the average is all you need to set aside for every $150 borrowed on Personal's new amazing "Special" loan plan of only 1¾% per month on the actual balance owed. This plan is for persons with a steady income or salary sufficient to meet payments promptly without undue credit strain and a good credit record. You don't need co-makers, life insurance, or bankable securities.

For persons without established credit and employment ratings and who wish to carry a loan larger than 8 to 12% of annual salary or income, Personal offers its "Regular" loan plan. On this plan an average of $2.26 set aside per week takes care of everything on a $150 loan—the charge is based on 3% monthly on unpaid balances of $100 and less and 2% monthly on unpaid balances over $100.

Loans up to $300 on either plan on your personal note, or with furniture or auto. Co-maker loans are also available on "Regular" plan. Seize this opportunity to save on loan costs. Come in or telephone today.

Here is another matter,of importance,I would like for you to take care of at once just recently a couple of fellows were returned to this place from Alcatraz,these fellows are friends of mine,they know of my friendship,and connection,with Ohare, and for that reason,they told me,of remarks and threats,that Capone,is making,re garding Ohare,seems that Mr.Dago,is disappointed because Ohare,wont stand to be pushed around by his Majesty.
You know Ohare,and him had many arguments,and disputes,over them Tracks,I think the sore-spot,is something in connection,with Sportsmans Park,but we are not inte rested in his arguments,our interest right now,is for you to immediately contact Ohare,and tell him the Big-Dago,swears,he is going to have Ohare,or will see that some of his friends,score for Eddie.
Now tell Eddie,this information,comes from responsible people,if you cant contact
Eddie,perhaps,Oneil,can reach him.
If and when you,have talked to Ohare,I would like for you to advise me,that you given him my message.

Sincerely Your Friend.

Portions of letter and envelope found in hideout of Edward J. O'Hare, slain race track head. The letter was sent to O'Hare in 1937, apparently by a friend who had received it from a man who signed himself "George." According to the letter, "George" had talked with two convicts released from Alcatraz prison while Al Capone was there. The letter was found by Coroner Walsh's men and made public by State's Attorney Courtney. (Story on page 1.)
